Mayor Urges Half Holiday for Envoys' Visit Here

PROCLAMATION

Philadelphia will officially entertain the French mission, headed by Rene Viviani, former Premier of France,

These distinguished foreigners, representing a nation with whom we are now allied in a great war for a great principle, visit Philadelphia in the hope of tightening the bonds which have long held in loving friendship the two republics.

At Independence Hall, in the room where the Declaration of Independence was signed, they will exchange with the representatives of the city of the Declaration renewed pledges of loyalty to the principles of liberty there declared.

It is of great importance that during this visit the great men of France should see Philadelphia at its best, should find in the reception of the people a note of sincerity that will reach their hearts and at the same time renew in them courage for the struggles that lie ahead of the armies of France and the armies of America.

To the end that Philadelphia's welcome may possess the sincerity necessary and assume impressive proportions desired, I ask that a half holiday be granted on Wednesday morning by all employers of labor, and that, as far as possible, our citizenship take positions on the line of march indicated in the official program, that by their presence and their enthusiasm they may give to Philadelphia's welcome every element necessary to make it a message of hope and a message of joy to our dearly loved and highly honored visitors.

THOMAS B. SMITH, Mayor.

TRANSIT BILLS HEARING PUT OFF; DATE NOT SET

Committees Grant Mayor's Plea to Avoid Conflict With Envoy's Visit

Mayor Smith today received word from Harrisburg that the hearing on the pending transit measures, which was to have been held next Tuesday by the Senate Judiciary General Committee and the House Judiciary Special Committee in Harrisburg has been postponed, as requested by the Mayor.

SOLDIERS ON BRIDGES GET "COMFORT BAGS"

Hundreds Sent by Members of Independence Square Red Cross Auxiliary

Soldiers, out guarding bridges, where in Pennsylvania, and many from nowhere, are sending letters of appreciation to the women in the Independence Square Red Cross Auxiliary, Chestnut street, for the comfort bags these women have made and sent to them under the direction of their chairman, Henry Brinton Cox.

There are 900 women in the auxiliary, which is the result of the merging of the Pennsylvania Division and the American Red Cross. Mrs. Cox was chairman of the preparedness chapter before the merging.

The women are aiming to fill hundreds of comfort bags for soldiers who are guarding bridges and doing home duty service. When the boys were at the border these women sent thirty-seven Christmas boxes and 1200 comfort bags in the fall.

One quartermaster wrote the women of the Independence Square Auxiliary, saying that the comfort bags had been a surprise and pleasure. He said that many of the men would not receive any pay until the 15th of the month and that the tobacco in the comfort bags was more than welcome. They have requested that fifty-seven bags be sent for the men who were not fortunate as to receive some on the "first installment."

On the 17th of this month Mrs. Cox and her co-workers will be in charge of a ballet and dance, which will be held at the Bellevue-Stratford. There will be five ballet groups of sixty girls each.
