HOW TO PLAY GOLF By CHARLES "CHICK" EVANS

IN WRITING these articles on golf, I am the event, this however, was not caused sincerely eager to help every reader of this paper who enjoys the great game to play better golf. I shall be glad to answer all questions which any of you may wish to ask me to the best of my ability. If there are any points about any of the articles which are not perfectly dear I shall be glad to explain further through my Question and Answer Department. The editors have asked me to open this series with a brief sketch of my first title.

The Western Interscholastic Golf Champlonship of 1907 was the first important solf event I ever won—it was my first thampionship !

championship:
The summer of 1906 saw my first competitive golf, except jittle caddie events, and played in exactly four tournaments. The last of these was the Calumet tournament in Chicago, where I won the low scire medal over a fine field—two of the competitors being Ned Sawyer, the western champion, and Warren Wood, the runner-up in the extra-hole western final of that year.
I joined the Jackson Park Club in late August, 1906, in order to be able to compete in the Western Championship which was played that year at Glen Echo, in St. Louis. I qualified, but was defeated in the first round by George Clingman, a well-known Chicago golfer.

Play Is Not Exceptional

It can thus be seen that there was noth-ing spectacular about my first year of golf, but it was enough to sting me with the championship bee. That winter I hung up an old mattress in the attic and practiced shots the cold weather through. My objec-tive, as the soldiers say, was the Inter-scholastic in 1907. In those days we held the interscholastic in some the sold was the soldiers as the soldiers say. scholastic in 1907. In those days we held the interschlastic events early in June. Im-mediately after the close of school When the emblems had been given out in chapel and I heard each football. track or baseball hero loudly applaided, for a time I wished I had given more attention to one of these other sports in which I had shown greater promise than in golf. The links still called, however, and I think intuition guided me wisely.

Nowver, and I think intuition guided me wisely. I entered the qualifying rounds of the 1967 Interscholastic champioschip with mis-stvings, but the next mc the spaces have big headlines to the small boy who led the field of youthful golfers with an Bi. I had not then reached my seventeenth birthday, and I was small, thin and shy of clothes and golf equipment. The golf reporters came out and seemed to like me for all the things that I lacked, and to their encouraging attitude at that time I owe much of the snores that has since been mine. In this tournament I played with Albert Seckel for the first time. It was in the semi-mais, and from that day until he em-barked on the wide sea of matrimony, leav-ing me standing desolately on the shore, we managed to meet in about every important tournament in the country.
