RELIEVE WE CAN'T FIGHT

Kaiser Has Taught Teutons to Hate Us and Think Us Only Money-Grabbers

Men of America Despised by Germans

JAMES AV. GERARD, who was United States Ambassador to Germany at the outbreak of the war, to Philadelphians what ermans think of American manood. He said:

"Germans think of us as nothing people of money, and for everal years have hated us and have no respect for our power,"
"Germans think our young men annot and will not fight; that they are either fat, lazy and timid, or tango lizards and male manicures."

"Repeatedly the Kniser has alwed insults to be made by organzed forces in Berlin to our President and the nation. For years he has sown among his subjects the seeds of hatred of Americans."

"Germans realize that the war with us will be a long one, as their naval and military power is by no means broken. They look upon us with a mixture of ridicule and con-

The task of delivering the knockent blow Germany probably will be left to the United States alone, for the war will be bog and the gollitary power of Germany has not been broken.

This warning came from the "man who defied the Katser," James W. Gerard, for Ambassador to Germany, who ad and a patriotic Red Cross benefit meet at the Academy of Mukie had night, many years, he said, hatred for Amerke had been encouraged in Germany, where Americans are held with contempt as "money gleaters" "taugo lizards" and "male manistres" who cannot fight.
