First Secretary of Legation at Washington Resigns Position. Joins Venizelos Party

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Declaring he cannot longer hold allegiance to King Constantine, S. Constantini, first secretary of the Greek Legation, today resigned from that post. Constantini said he would hereafter give his allegiance to the Venizelos forces.

"I believe it is the duty of every man and woman to align himself on the side of America," said Constantini.

"The whole question is one of civilization and humanity. It is a barbaric and bestiality of a type beyond human belief. For a nation calling itself composed of human beings sinks to the level of savagery when it slaughters its own people."

ROWE TO HELP M'ADOO SOLVE WAR PROBLEM

Pennsylvania Professor Will Consider Relations With Other American Nations

Dr. Leo S. Rowe, professor of political economy of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, and president of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, has decided to accept the post of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury offered to him by President Wilson.

The appointment was accepted with the understanding that Doctor Rowe will deal with problems arising out of the war.

Announcement of Doctor Rowe's acceptance was made today in the following statement issued at the University:

"After a prolonged conference with the Secretary of the Treasury and consultation with the University authorities, Doctor Rowe has decided to accept the position of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury offered to him by President Wilson.

"It is understood that this is an emergency appointment, and that Doctor Rowe will have to deal with problems arising out of the war, especially with the questions relating to the financial relations between the United States and other countries of the American Continent.

"The Secretary of the Treasury made it clear to Doctor Rowe that after the plan of this work had been fully organized and put into operation, he would be free to return to his University duties. The authorities of the University of Pennsylvania, following their general plan to place the services of the faculty at the disposal of the National Government, have granted leave of absence to Doctor Rowe. It is understood to be Doctor Rowe's plan to return to the University as soon as the special problem assigned to him has been solved and that it is his hope to return at the end of the first term of the college year, namely, February, 1918.

"By arrangement with the Secretary of the Treasury Doctor Rowe will complete this year's work at the University and will not go to Washington until the college year has been completed."

Doctor Rowe is secretary of the American-Mexican commission.

liance on the submarine, to prevent foodstuffs going to Great Britain and coal and foodstuffs going to Italy. She tried to destroy the manhood of France without success; she tried by intrigue to undermine Russia and bring the Slavs to her side and was unsuccessful. We must conquer the submarine and I believe we can do it and end this war. We must see to it that we do not lose the prize of victory."

The Prince of Udine, who is a cousin to King Victor Emmanuel, with his party, visited the Capitol today and will go there again on Thursday when the Prince will make an address to the Senate.

After leaving the Capitol today the commissioners spent the afternoon in a series of conferences at the mansion of Joseph Leiter, the Chicago millionaire, where the mission is making its headquarters while in the United States.

Though the visit will attend an official dinner at the Italian embassy, at which Secretary Lansing and the other Cabinet members, the full diplomatic corps and other high officials will be guests.

MAYOR WILL SOON NAME COMMITTEE FOR ENVOYS

Philadelphia, a city which has in its borders an Italian city of 150,000, will give to Italy's envoys during their two days' stay here a reception no less notable than that accorded to the mission from France.

Plans of which this is the avowed purpose will go forward rapidly. Mayor Smith will soon name the reception committee that will serve under the chairmanship of William Potter, former Ambassador to Italy, who was decorated by the King of Italy as a commander. Two hundred and fifty citizens are to compose the city's official reception board.

How great are the possibilities for a brilliant festival on June 16 and 17, when the envoys will be here, is shown by the fact that 150 Italian societies are devising means to contribute to its success.

The University of Pennsylvania purposes to hold a monster pageant on Franklin Field and to confer honorary degrees on the Prince of Udine, Guglielmo Marconi and four others of the commission.

In Benfencenzo Hall, 918 South Eighth street, tonight a mass-meeting will be addressed by Chevalier Giovanni Gentile, the Italian orator; C. C. A. Baldi, banker; Emmanuel Nardi, editor of L'Opinione; Joseph Mercurio, president of La Stella D'Italia; John Hamagami, former president; John Di Strydom, president of the Sons of Italy, and Robert Lombardo of the Sons of Italy. Arrangements will be made to complete the $50,000 purse being raised in the Italian community for the Italian Red Cross.

Eugene Alessandrini, attorney; Robert Lombardi, contractor, and John Quoroli, retired realty broker, are aiding in the Italian reception plans.

MARSHALL AND CLARK MEET ITALIAN ENVOYS

WASHINGTON, May 29.—All members of the Italian commission, except Marconi, called at the capitol to pay their respects to Vice President Marshall. After a brief chat in the Vice President's office they accepted an invitation to visit the Senate Thursday noon.

It is expected that at that time the commission will deliver a message to the American people, said to have been written by the King of Italy during one of his rare visits from the front.

The party was taken to the Speaker's office and introduced to Speaker Clark. The members of the mission then took place in the diplomatic gallery and listened to the debate on the bill limiting the sale of securities for the period of the war.

ANTI-CONSCRIPTION PROCLAMATION

PROCLAMATION AND ANTI-CONSCRIPTION PROGRAM

The American Union Opposed to Conscription solemnly affirms its allegiance to the democratic institutions of this country, and proclaims its unalterable opposition to conscription of persons for military purposes.

Conscription is an attempt to exercise the power of forcing men of this nation into the ranks of the army. The question, as Daniel Webster said, is not less than whether it is essential to the safety of the nation.

This statement, issued by the American Union Opposed to Conscription, opposes the Government program for increasing the military forces and calls for organization in antagonism thereto. The circular carries the union label of J. R. McFetridge & Sons, printers, of 927 Arch street. H. W. McFetridge declares that the circulars were not printed at his plant and that the union label was "faked."

DENTIST'S WIFE ASKS $20,000 HEART BALM

Mrs. Leverett W. Strong Sues Lillian Kelleher for Alienation of Affection

Twenty thousand dollars damages for alienation of her husband's affections are sought in court proceedings today by Mrs. Ethel Dutton Strong, wife of Dr. Leverett W. Strong, a dentist with office at 801 Spruce street, and a resident of Allentown.

Mrs. Strong sues Lillian Kelleher, of 5121 Irving street, who was arrested on a capias issued by Judge Monaghan, of Common Pleas Court No. 2, she was released on bail of $500 furnished by Doctor Strong.

According to a deputy sheriff, who served the writ, the bail consisted of $400 cash and a diamond ring.

The suit charges that Lillian Kelleher received secret and affectionate attentions from Doctor Strong for nearly fourteen years, but that Mrs. Strong did not discover the alleged facts until March of the present year. Doctor and Mrs. Strong have been married seventeen years.

The defendant was sued as "Mary Kelleher," with the added explanation that this was not her real Christian name. The capias issued on Mrs. Strong's plea was served on Lillian Kelleher, of the Irving street address. According to Irwin Le Seuer, attorney for the plaintiff, she is a widow.

Mrs. Strong left her husband's home at Manassas nearly a month ago, according to her attorney, who refused to say where she is now. Doctor Strong could not be found at either his office or his residence.

Mrs. Kelleher could not be seen. Mrs. Strong, who was married to her husband on September 29, 1899, declares in the papers that her domestic life was happy until the absence of her alleged friend for the other woman. The wife also charges that the relations between Doctor Strong and the defendant caused him to drink excessively.

It is asserted by Mrs. Strong that the defendant knew Doctor Strong to be a married man, but prevailed upon him to continue their friendship.

After cash bail was furnished by Doctor Strong, a real estate bail bond was substituted. This, according to records of the Sheriff's office, was furnished by James P. Bradley, a saloon owner, of 418 South Eighth street.

Mrs. Strong is said to be a handsome and attractive woman.

Lansing Reveals Two German Plots

while we were neutral, of organizations effected in this country for the sole purpose of creating friction with Great Britain or France.

All of the officials who testified before the committee intimated that German propaganda has exerted a powerful influence on the correspondence between the United States and allied countries regarding seizure of American cargoes, ostensibly consigned to neutral countries, that really were for eventual shipment into Germany.

ADAMSON BILL FAVORED

Both Lansing and Redfield declared that the Adamson act is designed to prevent any commerce between American citizens and Germany in the United States and German firms, or between such citizens and firms of countries allied with Germany.

Lansing, Redfield and Warren said that the Adamson bill—an Administration measure—was modified somewhat after trading with the enemy act of other countries.

Great Britain's acts prevent trading with any subject of Germany or Austria. The American act is designed more to prevent trading with any firm whose products might get into Germany.

LATIN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES

Concerning the German propagandists' campaign to align South and Central American countries against the United States the State Department announced that in three of the southern republics the propaganda has assumed menacing proportions. This is in Argentina, Venezuela and Colombia.

In Brazil the activity of the propagandists has proved a boomerang, culminating in the Chamber of Deputies voting overwhelmingly to revoke the declaration of neutrality and to favor an actual declaration of war on Germany by Brazil.

Argentina has become a hotbed of pro-German and anti-American propaganda, according to State Department information. The aim of these propagandists was an effort by the State Department as "an effort to create irritation against this country."

BERLIN WORKS DIRECT

There is evidence that the propaganda has been conducted directly from Berlin by use of the cable from Spain to Buenos Aires. German firms in Argentina have been the agents of the Berlin Government in stirring up anti-American feeling in that country. It was officially declared.

No official word says that this cable provided the means by which the news of the departure of American destroyers reached Berlin in time to permit mining of the port of arrival, but it was accepted as a clue to the leak.

A recent inquiry by the United States of the Argentine Government to learn the facts concerning the reported embargo on shipment of Argentine wheat to the Allies was distorted by these propagandists into an attempt by the United States to dictate Argentine policies. It was declared. The Government of Argentina has had no part in encouraging this propaganda, and there has been nothing to indicate any disagreement between the Argentine Government and the effect on the people of Argentina of these continued misrepresentations by anti-American influences in France.

ILL-PEBLING IN COLOMBIA

In Colombia the anti-American feeling that has existed since the separation of Panama has been fanned greatly by German propagandists. A consultant effort has been made by German agents since the United States entered the war to keep the Colombian stirred up.

In Venezuela German propagandists have received the bitter feeling that existed in the days of Castro's power. As in Colombia, the insidious work of the German propagandists has been exerted, not on the Government, but on the people, in an effort to make the neutrality of these countries nothing more than a cloak for anti-American-pro-German sentiment.

"Chill has repudiated the German influences. Indications now are that 'Chill will join Brazil in war with Germany.' This, it is believed, will have a sobering influence on South American countries, now both of German propaganda, though this propaganda has been pushed to a point where the State Department felt called upon to expose the facts.

BERGER RAPS LANSING FOR BAN ON PASSPORTS

"A Crime Against Democracy," Says Socialist Chief of Secretary's Action

WASHINGTON, May 29.—"A crime against democracy" was the phrase used by Victor Berger today in a scathing denunciation of Secretary of State Lansing for his refusal to issue passports to the American delegates to the international Socialist peace conference in Stockholm.

"It is a grave mistake from more than one point of view and is absolutely without precedent in our country," Berger said.

"It is absolutely without any precedent in our country," he repeated. "The Logan law of 1798 cited by the State Department concerns only the dealings of private individuals with foreign Governments, and, unless our Secretary of State assumes the Social Democrats of Germany are the German Government or are representatives of the German Government, the Logan act has no bearing in this case.

"The decision of the State Department undoubtedly has made a very bad impression on the democracy in Europe, which is now the Social Democracy, not a democracy of the Morganatic brand, as we have in this country. European social democracy will resent this snub which amounts to an insult, and especially the Russian Social Democracy will naturally feel grieved that our Government has seen fit to snub Elshu Root as a special Ambassador to Russia, but has refused passports to Hill, Lee and Berger to attend the regular international Socialist conference.

"It is, of course, unnecessary for me to repeat that the American delegates do not stand for a separate peace between Russia and Germany. We want to bring about a general and lasting peace to the world. It is, however, yet easily understood by the observer, that the Socialists in every country, including Germany, England and America, are considered traitors to their country by their own government as a rule, while, on the other hand, they are at the same time denounced as the best of patriots and tools of their own government by the foreign governments. The solution to this riddle is easy. We stand for peace and for world peace in every country."

Fewer Sinkings in Last Ten Days, Navy Announces—British Chasers Concentrated

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Destruction of tonnage by German submarines has decreased in the last ten days. This is the official announcement made today at the Navy Department. The belief is that the American destroyers are aiding greatly in this by adding additional vessels to the anti-submarine fleet maintained by England.

It was also announced today that England had been able to withdraw a great number of chasers and destroyers from the Atlantic coast, and these are now working in the North Sea and in the immediate submarine area.

The entire Atlantic coast, except Canada, will eventually be patrolled by the United States, and England and France will withdraw their fleet from these waters and the West Indies.

The report of the lessened sinkings by submarines has encouraged this Government.

CREEL SEES NO TRAITORS AMONG NEWSPAPER MEN

By JAMES M. BENNETT Staff Correspondent of the EVENING LEADER

WASHINGTON, May 29.—"WHY a censorship?" I asked today of George Creel, chairman of the Committee on Public Information of the United States Government. Creel snapped back, and he snapped back in a hurry.

"The only kind of news we wish to keep from the enemy is the kind which would be of tangible help to him in his military operations."

I believe I know George Creel better than any other newspaper man in this country. I worked with him a long time. His work tells the story of his worth. He has his feet among newspaper men. He is strong for the censor.

There is, however, George Creel says, eclipsing all else, the problem of preventing the transmission to the enemy of information. This news should not appear in the public prints. "The enemy's spies," said Mr. Creel, "are ever alert. No nation at any time, in any war, has been able to eliminate the spy."

"I believe one of our chief problems is to stop the source of the spy's information, choke him off, prevent the leaks, interfere with the transmission to his Government of what he has learned."

I also asked Mr. Creel what of the news that may come from the front should our troops become actively engaged in the warfare in France. He replied:

"I understand arrangements have been made for American newspaper men to accompany the expeditions from this country. The news of what those men may do will come from sources abroad. We have to do with internal censorship only."

"What is the attitude of the censor toward opinions and criticisms of the Government?" Mr. Creel was asked.

"Reckless journalism," he replied, "is regrettable enough in times of peace. It is a menace when the nation is at war. The success of our troops rests upon unity and confidence. We have nothing to fear from the newspaper men of the land. In no sense can the word 'traitor' be applied to newspaper owner, newspaper editor, news editor, copywriters or reporters."

"The American nation is fighting for its life. The newspaper men are fighting with their pens, with their pencils, with their honest endeavors to uphold, I hope, what is a fair and sensible censorship."
