COURT DENOUNCES SCOTT'S ACCUSER

Exonerates Lawyer, Who Was Charged With Unprofessional Conduct

TWO JUDGES DISGUSTED

Finletter Suggests Action for Perjury—Audenried Stops Case and Criticizes Its Promoters

Judge Finletter today urged that the Bar Association proceed against Adolph Smith, 131 Brown street, with an accusation of perjury. Smith is the man responsible for the besting application before Judges Audenried and Finletter for a rule requiring Henry J. Scott, a lawyer, to show cause why he should not be disciplined.

While the court reserved decision in the case, several of the large number of lawyers present predicted that the judges would write an opinion which would completely exonerate Scott. Before the case was laid through both judges exhibited their disgust at the proceedings, and finally Judge Audenried with a wave of his hands and a very angry face, said: "I don't want to hear any more in this case, we have heard enough already."

Both judges were severe in their criticism of the manner in which the Bar Association brought the case against Scott. Addressing himself to George Wentworth and Horace Stern, who were appointed by the board of censors of the Bar Association to prosecute Scott, Judge Finletter said:

"I never would have allowed application for this rule had not the association made such a mystery of this case. The public did not know whether Mr. Scott's honesty was being attacked or what was the matter. No one had any idea that it was such a trivial thing. So because of the mystery which has been made of it I decided that we would hear the application so as to clear up all the things. The hearing has resulted showing up the case in all of its rotten weakness."

COMPLAINT DATES BACK 17 YEARS. Smith's complaint averred that seventeen years ago he retained the lawyer to represent him in a suit against the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company for injuries; that as far as he knew the case was settled, and that he believed the case still was pending, when, upon selling a piece of real estate, he learned that the case had been decided in favor of the company. He then learned that a verdict had been rendered for the Philadelphia Transit Company in January, 1915. Then, according to the petition filed by the Bar Association, Scott told him he had settled the case for $100 in January, 1915, and had agreed that a verdict should be entered for the defendant. Scott informed him that he had received $100 from the company and prepared a settlement, claiming a right to a fee of $25, a doctor's bill of $25 and additional costs of $5, leaving a balance of $20 for Smith, the complainant.

In testimony before the Board of Censors last April, Smith said he visited Scott, and showed him a receipted bill—which represented $25 he paid to the physician who had attended him.

In court today Smith repeated the testimony which was so often given in the past. Scott produced the bill which Smith had left in his office. The bill was not receipted, asked by the court if he had any receipt for the money he alleged he paid the physician, Smith replied:

"No, I have no receipt; Doctor Hare, who treated me after my accident, has been dead for twelve years; I paid him just the same."

SCOTT'S DENIAL. Mr. Scott made denial that he had violated his oath of office as attorney and denied he had been guilty of unprofessional conduct, but on the contrary averred that the Board of Censors was unwarranted in presenting the petition. In the facts there stated showed no grounds for entertaining the complaint.

When the case appeared upon the trial list from time to time, notices were sent, said Scott, "to the only known address of Smith, who had moved and not notified me of his removal. I concluded that Smith, by not giving any notice of change of residence, and never making inquiries concerning his case, had abandoned it. In January, 1915, the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, in an endeavor to clear the docket of these old suits, notified me and other members of the bar that the same had been ordered upon the trial list, and either the cases must be tried or nonsuits entered.

Notice was mailed Smith of the time of the trial, but he did not appear or communicate in any manner whatsoever with me. In order, therefore, to avoid a nonsuit, I asked for and received from the transit company $100 as a compromise settlement, the same being given virtually as a fee to me and to avoid the necessity of bringing the company's witnesses to court. This was more than a fair settlement under the circumstances, as the man's injuries were slight."

In explaining why he had withheld $25 as the physician's fee, Mr. Scott said: "I has always been my custom, as it is of most members of the bar, to protect doctors and other professional men who render service in any litigation by withholding their fees from settlements."

VARE-M'NICHOL PEACE BURSTS LIKE A BUBBLE

Cogs of Republican Machine Grate When Two City Hall Men Are Suspended

Cogs of the Republican machine grated in discord, the doves of peace uttered a piercing shriek and the "armed truce" between the Vares and McNichols burst like a bubble today when two Thirteenth Ward McNichol followers, working in Vares-controlled city offices, were suspended.

The deed was done "for the good of the service," according to official announcements. But, according to City Hall gossip, the suspensions were a warning to the men not to vote McNichol-ward tonight when they gather with the other committeemen of the Thirteenth Ward to choose the members of the Republican City Committee. They are said to have been served with notice that they will be dismissed unless their votes favor the Vares candidate.

The suspended men are Theodore Clay, an $1100-a-year clerk in the office of Receiver of Taxes Kendrick, a Vares chief, and Thomas Hewitt, a $1600-a-year chief of transcribers in the office of Recorder of Deeds Hazlett, also a Vares chief. Both are members of the Thirteenth Ward committee, where a lively fight for the control of the ward is in progress. Both Clay and Hewitt have announced that they will support Select Councilman John F. Filbert, McNichol leader of the ward, in his candidacy as representative of his ward on the city committee.

The Vares candidate, William H. Jones, is leading the fight which the Vares are making for the control of the ward, a conflict in which aid from the Fourth Ward, in the shape of Congressman John R. K. Scott, has been invoked. Congressman Scott has been seen frequently at City Hall in the last few days, having hurried up from Washington.

Officials of both the offices of the Receiver of Taxes and the Recorder of Deeds said that the suspension was for the good of the service.

HOW TRUCE WAS ARRANGED

The "getting together" movement for next fall's election was started some time ago, and the army of organization workers who substantially benefit from a factional fight received their first intimation of the harmonic program at the last meeting of the Republican City Committee. At that meeting, the Vares ward leaders endorsed the entire list of eight judges who will come up for re-election. The list is evenly divided between the Vares and the Penrose-McNichol factions.

There is little possibility of any serious opposition to the re-election of District Attorney Samuel P. Rotan, Receiver of Taxes Kendrick and Register of Wills Sheehan, who will run again, according to their friends. Both are personal friends of Mayor Smith, and he has endorsed them. The City Treasurer cannot succeed himself, and a successor to the William McCoach will have to be selected. The Vares will name the candidate, however, according to the harmony plans.

The arrangements for peace, however, do not go so far as to include the filling of the five vacancies that will occur among the magistrates. The two factions will hotly contest these places, and a swarm of individual candidates are expected to enter the race, especially since the pay of magistrates has just been increased by the Legislature from $2000 to $4000 a year.

The gubernatorial boom for Senator William C. Sprout and Congressman John R. K. Scott are being quietly pushed by their friends through the State in preparation for the battle that will start soon after the votes are counted next fall. This is in spite of indications of harmony that resulted from the dinner given in Harrisburg by Senator Vares in honor of Senator Sprout last week.

DEMOCRATIC PLANS

The Democrats also are quietly laying their plans. Vance C. McCormick, who was defeated by Governor Brumbaugh in 1914, is the most prominently mentioned of the available timbers. Any of the Democratic leaders believe that he could rally the independent vote of the State behind him.

State Senator Charles W. Sones, of Lycoming, has been named forward as a possibility, and a formal announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination is looked for within a few weeks. Senator Sones is at the head of the "old Guard" machine in his section of the State, but in 1914 supported McCormick. He is a wealthy lumber merchant.

WARD FIGHTS

Others who have been mentioned as Democratic possibilities include National Committeeman A. Mitchell Palmer and E. Lowrey Furness, Assistant United States District Attorney at Pittsburgh, who prosecuted the brewers in the "elshuf" probe in Pittsburgh.

Three determined fights for Republican city committee seats, in addition to that in the Thirteenth Ward, which cut Clay's independent vote jobs, have developed, and at least one now promises to go to the committee itself for a decision. The three wards in which the contests are being waged are the Third, the Twenty-fourth and the Thirty-fourth.

The indications are that Harry Trainer, McNichol man in the Third Ward, will elect his man, though the Vares faction is putting up a stiff fight. The contest in the Twenty-fourth is so close that it will probably go to the City Committee. Blakely McCaughey, the McNichol candidate, now a member of the committee, is trying to carry sufficient votes to keep the election away from the committee. Today it is reported that Mayor Smith has thrown his influence against McCaughey and in favor of the Vares candidate. There is also some question as to whether Ernest L. Tustin, member from the Thirty-fourth, will be re-elected. He is a McNichol man.

NO LEGAL BARRIER TO 56TH ST. LINE

Business Men Counsel Shows Transit Company Can Build Extension

OLD CHARTER SUFFICES

Franchise Permits P. R. T. to Construct System Throughout West Philadelphia

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 4. The group of Philadelphia business organizations which are seeking to force the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company to construct a cross-town trolley line directly connecting South and West Philadelphia by way of Passyunk avenue and Fifty-sixth street, scored their first victory before the Public Service Commission here this afternoon.

The transit company, through Boyd Lee Spahr, assistant general counsel, filed a demurrer with the commission, claiming that it could not be held to build the line since its franchise does not grant it any charter rights for the proposed route.

This contention was true of the P. R. T. Company and of the original charters of the underlying companies. Edward B. Martin, counsel for the business men, however, brought out the fact that on April 8, 1858, the State Legislature amended the original charter of the West Philadelphia Passenger Railway Company, now leased and operated by the P. R. T., giving it the right to extend its roads to any part of the Twenty-fourth Ward, which then comprised all of West Philadelphia.

This amendment, which the complainants declare, gives the commission full power to order the transit company to build the requested line, follows:

That said company is hereby authorized to extend their said road to any part of the Twenty-fourth Ward of the City of Philadelphia, along any of the public streets or highways thereof. Provided, however, that said company shall first present to Councils of said city a plan and statement, exhibiting the route of any such proposed extension and if Councils shall not within sixty days hereafter by ordinance disapprove thereof the consent of the said Councils shall be deemed given thereto.

Although both the complainants and the transit company had notified that the case would be heard at 1:30 today, the secretary of the commission had omitted the case from the printed schedule for today. When Chairman Almy of the commission, read today's list, Edward B. Martin, one of the counsel for the business men, hurried to the secretary's desk and had the error corrected. The omission of the case from the printed list, however, delayed the argument until the very last thing this afternoon and caused considerable dissatisfaction among the men.

"This is a type of the petty annoyances we have been suffering from ever since we first tried to force the Transit Company to give us justice," said John K. Scott, one of the delegation from the West Philadelphia associations.

STOTESBURY LETTER AN EXHIBIT. Mr. McGarvey brought with him today a letter written by E. T. Stotesbury, chairman of the P. R. T. board of directors, in 1914, promising that the company would build the line since the company is now claiming earnings of 9 per cent instead of an operating deficit as in 1914.

The letter follows: October 29, 1914. Mr. Irving Dillon, secretary. The Allied Business Men's and Improvement Association of West Philadelphia, 5716 Christian street, Philadelphia.

Dear Sir: As a part of the projected improvement of the Fifty-sixth street line is on the set to be considered. This, however, cannot be taken up at the present time by reason of present financial considerations, but will be taken up and disposed of when the opportunity presents itself under more favorable conditions. We are very desirous of serving this community, and the same will be given favorable consideration when financial conditions make possible.

Yours very truly, E. T. STOTESBURY.

PIE BAKER PROVES REAL FIRE HEROINE

Mrs. McGuigan Leaves Her Oven to Rescue Aged Woman and Two Babies From Flames

There is a wide gap between pie-baker and heroine, but it was bridged easily today by Mrs. Thomas McGuigan, 1211 North Fifty-first street, when she saw flames shooting from the third story of the home of Martin Phillip, a member of the fire department, at 1217 North Fifty-first street.

Abandoning four pies to their fate in a very hot oven, this resourceful housewife dashed out of the house and three seconds later was fighting her way to the third floor of the Phillip home. She found Mrs. Ida Snell, 75 years old, lying on the floor of a front room, partly overcome by smoke, seizing the old woman under the arms, Mrs. McGuigan half carried and half dragged her to the street.

Childish screams and wails warned Mrs. McGuigan that her work was not finished. She dashed to the second floor and a minute later appeared with a baby under each arm. She went back again and brought down Elizabeth Phillip, nine months old. Then, without waiting for congratulations or cheers from the "neighbor bleachers," Mrs. McGuigan went back to her pie, and was much relieved to find they had not burned. The fire was caused by the explosion of an oil stove. Several hundred dollars in bills which Mrs. Snell left on a dresser was burned.

HEPPE PIANOS. Heppe Pianos will teach your children good music. The Pianola actually teaches. Its teaching is simple; so simple that children can easily understand it. The Metrostyle device actually gives you the composer's expression. His melody and accents are played by the Themodist. Every interpretation of the composer is possible on the Pianola. Many world-prominent music teachers are using the Pianola in the education of their pupils, and even their own children. Hundreds of schools, universities and conservatories are using these Aeolian-made instruments in connection with their instruction. To hear the Pianola is to know why these great authorities choose it above all others. The Pianola may be secured in Philadelphia at a price no greater than that asked for "imitations." The Aeolian Family of the player-piano world is on sale at Heppe's At Factory Prices as follows: Steinway Pianola$1250. Weber Pianola$1000. Wheelock Pianola $750. Stroud Pianola $600. ADVISES LICENSE CARD FOR LIQUOR DRINKER

David Townsend Tells City Business Club How to Place Responsibility Where It Belongs

Every imbiber of intoxicating drinks should be licensed as such, and should be required by law to exhibit his license to the bartender when he goes into a saloon for a drink of liquor. In case the licensee abuses his drinking privilege, his license should be revoked immediately.

This new and novel handling of the liquor problem was advanced by David Townsend, a consulting engineer, today in an address at the weekly luncheon of the City Business Club at the Hotel Adelphia. His subject was "Personal Responsibility."

"Every man who drinks liquor," said Mr. Townsend,
