Get after the slackers. This was the new order issued this morning by the Philadelphia Liberty Loan committee.

It was issued to the army of bond salesmen before the big drive in the race to complete the city's allotment of $250,000,000.

That the order will be executed goes without saying, for the salesmen know the slackers and will bombard them with literature and personal visits until they enter the campaign.

The campaign opened its third week with characteristic "pep" this morning and before 10:30 several big subscriptions were recorded. The biggest, one for $1,000,000, came from the Viscose Company at Marcus Hook, and the second for $300,000 came from the Alan Wood Company. The latter announced that besides its individual subscription more than 200 workers in the plant have subscribed.

Division 10, Ancient Order of Hibernians expressed willingness to "do its bit" by subscribing for $250. Scores of smaller subscriptions were received and will be tabulated later in the day.

STIMULATING 'LITTLE FELLOWS'

Included in today's activities will be the work of the various "Liberty Bond Clubs" in the commercial houses and industrial plants. Appreciating that the "little fellows" as the small investors are styled, must enter the campaign in large numbers in order to make the Liberty Loan a success, unusual preparations have been made by the general committee to stimulate and develop the organizations.

Tonight the employees of Gimbel Brothers' store will hold a mass-meeting. Lewis H. Farnese, chairman of the Liberty Loan committee, will make the principal address and urge the clerks to get behind their organization and keep it moving until the end of the campaign.

A similar meeting will be held at the Lit Brothers' store. This establishment has already subscribed for $100,000 and has sent out to its customers more than 50,000 subscription blanks.

To enlist the aid of trade unionists, ex Senator Richard V. Farley, Patrick Conroy and Dr. George Muller visited the Stetson plant this noon. A trade union auto will make daily trips to industrial plants during the remaining days of the campaign.

THEATRES LEND VALIANT AID

Theatres throughout the city are extending zealous service to the campaign. Many of them are presenting Liberty Bond orators to address the audiences, and a majority have inserted the "Buy a Bond" appeal into their programs. This afternoon Judge Eugene C. Bonnell will address the audience in Keith's Theatre and Judge Joseph P. Rogers will speak in that playhouse during the evening.

Stanley V. Mastbaum, managing director of the Stanley Booking Corporation, has issued orders to the theatres in that circuit to co-operate in every way possible. Mr. Mastbaum also subscribed for $20,000.

Mrs. Barbara W. Burdett presided at a meeting held this morning at Emergency Aid headquarters, 1428 Walnut street, and urged women to participate in the campaign.

It is the intention of the committee to raise $50,000,000 in this city through the efforts of 20,000 agents, among whom are 4000 Boy Scouts, 10,000 school children and 6000 trained bond salesmen, heads of industrial plants, business committees and women. Most of the money is to be subscribed in amounts of $50, $100 and $500 through the medium of bond clubs, an idea which is fast gaining favor with the large corporations, based on the success of the plan in England.

LIBERTY BOND PARADE

As an adjunct to the work of the salesmen a great public demonstration will be staged tomorrow in the shape of a Liberty Bond parade as a part of the draft-day program to show the city how well this city is welding its financial resources with the strength of its military arm. A parade of 10,000 persons, representing every class of official and business life, will assemble at Independence Hall, where, after the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," they will move out Market street to Broad, thence south to Spruce street.

Mayer Smith, with detachments of marines and National Guardsmen, will lead the parade, followed by members of the general Liberty Bond committee, business organizations, civic clubs, Boy Scouts and out-of-town organizations. The marchers will meet at 8:30, and within an hour the cavalcade will be in motion. The Boy Scouts received their mobilization orders yesterday, having previously been excused from attendance at school by Superintendent John F. Gierler. The Scouts are planning to get 4000 members in line.

ADVERTISING TAX TO GO IN WAR BILL

Two Per Cent Levy Tentatively Agreed on by Senate Committee

MANY CHANGES MADE

WASHINGTON, June 4. The war revenue bill, backed to pieces and put together again in a manner little resembling the form in which it passed the House several weeks ago, will be taken up by the Senate before the end of the week. The Senate Finance Committee is giving the bill a final retouching today and expects to lay it before the Senate Wednesday or Thursday.

Today the committee tentatively agreed to impose a 2 per cent tax on all advertising in newspapers and periodicals.

As reshaped by the Finance Committee the bill is short of some of the features likely to prove vexatious to the ultimate consumer. Against the Administration's wishes, provisions calculated to raise more than $200,000,000 annually have been stricken out. Some of this will be taken from the poor man's share, but most of it will come out of the rich man's burden.

When the bill gets into the Senate, efforts will be made to transfer more of the poor man's load to the rich man's shoulders. The bill will be recommended to the Senate by a virtually unanimous vote of the Finance Committee. Many of the Republican members are opposed to the principle of direct taxation applied in the bill, but, appreciating the immediate need of funds, they are going to bury their differences of opinion temporarily and give their support wholeheartedly to the measure.

SENATE COMMITTEE'S WORK

Here are some of the ways in which the Finance Committee has redrafted the bill: Beginning with the income tax, the committee cut out the Lenroot amendment placing an additional surtax on big incomes, calculated to yield $60,000,000 annually, and the retroactive tax on 1916 incomes, estimated to yield $108,000,000 yearly. By changing the basis of the excess-profits tax, the committee has boosted the estimated revenue from this source from $200,000,000 to $350,000,000 annually, in addition to the revenues from excess profits under the existing law.

No change has been made in the House taxes on liquor, and although the committee has cut down the levy on tobacco, no material reduction in the revenue from this source is expected.

The committee has left the 3 per cent freight tax, certain to be passed on to the ultimate consumer, untouched, but it has reduced the 10 per cent tax on passenger fares to 5 per cent, thereby taking an annual increased load of $5,000,000 from the traveling public. The burdensome 5 per cent tax on electric light, gas and telephone bills, calculated to produce $30,000,000 annually, has been cut from the bill, but the 5-cent tax on all long-distance or night messages over 15 cents has been left in.

The committee has been slightly more lenient with simple pleasures, cutting out the tax on chewing gum and movies. Stamp taxes of various kinds, and the substituted tax for the manufacturers' tax on such things as candy, sporting goods, perfumes, cosmetics, talking machines and records, and proprietary medicines, while automobile owners will be required to pay taxes ranging from $7.50 to $20 annually.

TARIFF BOOST CUT OUT

The horizontal increase of 10 per cent in tariff rates has been knocked out, but the plain citizen is going to pay his share in this connection by an excise tax of half a cent a pound on sugar, two cents on coffee and five cents on tea, which is expected to produce $60,000,000 annually.

The committee has cut the proposed increased inheritance tax, expected to raise $20,000,000 annually. An effort probably will be made in the Senate to restore this tax, along with the Lenroot levy on big incomes.

Latest Figures Show 635 Officers and 12,504 Men in Service

HARRISBURG, June 4.—Pennsylvania National Guard regiments, exclusive of those already in the Federal service, contained 635 officers and 12,504 enlisted men on May 31, according to figures compiled at the Adjutant General's Department today. The last compilation, made on May 28, showed 624 officers and 11,525 enlisted men.

Factions to Elect Committeemen

New Republic city committeemen will be elected by the Forty-eighth Ward executive committees tonight. Hundreds of political workers in more than 1300 election divisions with their chiefs are lined up for the fray. It is said the fight between the Vane and McNichol factions will be unusually bitter in several wards. Senator Vane hopes to increase his power in the city through the election, while Senator McNichol said he did not expect much change.

Stetson Hospital to Continue

The Stetson Hospital will not be closed. The board of directors of the institution has decided to keep the hospital open following many pleas which have been received. The hospital was scheduled to close next Saturday, but the board has withdrawn notices to that effect sent to the police department and others. The hospital was founded by the late John B. Stetson. It was his gift to the people of Kensington and was started in 1857.

LIVELY FIGHT STIRS B'NAI BRITH ORDER

Philadelphians in Session Aligned With "Insurgents" at Grand Lodge Convention

ATLANTIC CITY, June 4.

Philadelphians among the 1300 delegates to the annual convention of the United States Grand Lodge, Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, today lined up with insurgents who nominated Solomon Schellinsky, of New York, to fight Judge Leon Sanders, of the same city, for the office of grand master. Sanders has held the place for eight years at a salary of $4000. Administration leaders said the insurgents would be overwhelmed in the election on Wednesday.

The convention closed for five minutes this morning after adopting a resolution offered by Judge Asher, of New York, congratulating the provisional Government of Russia upon the overthrow of autocracy in that country and extending the heartfelt appreciation of the Jews in America for the extension of liberty and equal rights to their brethren in the Russian Empire. Another resolution pledged renewed allegiance of the Jews in the United States to the movement for the creation of a Jewish nation in Palestine, to be recognized by all the great Powers of earth after the war.

The convention ordered the immediate dispatch to President Wilson of a protest against the un-American and inhuman isolation of Jewish refugees at Ellis Island without means of communicating with their relatives or Jewish aid societies willing to take charge of them.

Doylestown Boosts School Tax

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., June 4.—The school tax at Doylestown has been advanced from eight to ten mills. This is the highest rate in the history of the school. The board of education says the advance is necessary because of increased expenses; that there is already a deficit of $4000.

WEEDING OUT PROCESS NOW NIAGARA PROBLEM

Much Speculation on Who Among Rookie Officers Will Be Sent Home

FOUNT NIAGARA, N. Y., June 4.

There is much speculation in camp today following the medical examinations Saturday and yesterday as to the identity of the men who will be dismissed from further service, because of physical defects found by the surgeons. But 15 per cent of the men have been examined and now that it has been shown that there are some men here who are unable to stand the rigorous life of a soldier all want to know whether they are physically able to continue.

Under the provisions of the schedule these examinations can only be made on Saturday afternoons and Sunday. It requires about twenty minutes for the surgeons to pass on a man.

There are five surgeons in camp, which means but fifteen men an hour can be examined and there are 2377 men in camp. Therefore it will take the present staff 124 hours to complete the examinations.

It is probable that this staff will be augmented during the present week and a large number will be passed upon next Saturday and Sunday.

The confidential board, too, is busily engaged in compiling its list of the mentally unfit, those slow to learn and these men will be weeded out as quickly as possible.

Written examinations are being held in the several companies, the men being quizzed in infantry drill and guard mount work.

Some twenty or more men have already left camp for various reasons and will not return. Others are expected to leave during the present week. Today the men were given some hard work in musketry practice, but it will be several weeks before they get any actual target practice.

EX-CAPTAIN EDGAR'S FUNERAL

Many Attend Services for Veteran Policeman

Many policemen, city officials and business men attended the funeral services for ex-Police Captain Charles H. Edgar this afternoon at his home, 1019 Callowhill street.

For forty-one years Edgar was attached to the Philadelphia police force, and for years was known as the "Terror of the Tenderloin." He retired from active duty thirteen years ago and continued to live in the Callowhill street home, where he was born eighty-three years ago.

Edgar was a type of the old school of policemen and gained an enviable reputation for physical courage and honesty. He is survived by two nieces, Misses Hattie and Pauline Ridgeway, with whom he lived. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. J. G. Gault, of Chester. Jacob W. Neff, Charles Reynolds, Arthur Chambers and James G. Dickson acted as bearers.

RECREATION ROOMS WANTED

WILL A PROPERTY OWNER of Franklin or Spruce street, Spruce, Walnut or Chestnut, donate for duration of war use of property for recreation rooms for SAVY BOYS while they are at liberty in our city? To assure proper care and welfare of the building and boys, I agree personally to devote entire time and attention to supervision immediately.

$388,000 BLOCKLEY ITEM APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

Bill Authorizing Erection of Power House and Outbuilding Acted Upon Quickly

An important step in the plan to create a new Blockley was taken this morning when Council's Finance Committee approved a bill which provides for the expenditure of $388,000 for the erection of a power house and other outbuildings.

In the fall of 1915 the people voted to expend $1,000,000 on Blockley improvements. The power house and other outbuildings, according to Director Krusen, must be erected immediately and to make that possible Council's Finance Committee acted quickly on the bill introduced by the Health Director.

The committee also approved a bill which provides that heads of city departments must either accept or reject contracts within sixty days after receiving estimates.
