FOOTBALL TO GO ON AT CORNELL

Plans Are Under Way to Continue Cross-Country Competition Also

STARS ARE IN SERVICE

ITHACA. N. Y., June 7.—Cornell is planning to resume intercollegiate athletics next fall, according to a statement by Graduate Manager Kent. Plans are under way for carrying out the football schedule, and it is also likely that the cross-country practice will be undertaken and a team placed in the field.

Kent said that it was likely that the registration in the university would be below normal, and that a number of the leading athletes identified with the football team would be in the Government service next fall, but be believes there will be enough material to turn out an eleven, and that while Cornell will miss some of her best players, the same thing will be true in the football camps of Cornell will be true in the football camps of Cornell will be true in the football camps of Cornell will be true in the football camps of Cornell will be true in the football camps of Cornell will be true in the football camps of Cornell will be true in the football camps of Cornell will be true in the football camps of Cornell will be true in the football camps of Cornell will be true in the football camps of the content of the con will be true in the football camps of Cor-

It is also possible. Cornell men believe, that an effort may be made to suspend the freshman rule for the time beingthat is, to permit freelmen to play on varsity teams. Now students are com-pelled to be one year in residence he-fore they can go out for a varsity team. Dr. A. H. Sharpe, head couch of the football team, is at a Beserve officers' Training Camp at Madison Barracks, Sacket Harbor. He is neeking a commission in the infantry service. Dan Reed and Ray Van Orman, associate coaches, have not joined the service, and they should be available next fall.

Fritz Shiverick, Cornell's great leader and kicker, is in an officers' reserve training camp at Fort Sheridan, and a number of the other men who would be counted on for variety places next year are also in various branches of the service. A census of the Cornell athletes in the service will soor be taken, and it will show that a large number of the leaders in sports have joined the colors. Cap-tain Windragie, the mile champion, is training at Madison Barracks, while Captain Frank Foss, track leader, will enter the army after the close of the university year.

Henny Leonard has nover smoked or taken a drink, or even sat up late. He has never been swell-headed, with all his overwhelming success—never refused an appeal for belp. Money he has never lowered himself to get, and combined candor and modesty make him charmingly boyish to meet.

IS BARRED IN GERMANY

BERLIN, June 5 (via London, June 6) The big feature of the game was the playing of Amos Strunk. The Flying Putchman has not been in form of late and seemed to be playing listless ball. He awoke, however, and played a regular game, thus silericing his critics who have norms up over night. Speaking of critics, we received the following from a loyal fan who signs himself "Pro Athletics." It is not exactly a knock and the writer evidently is sincere. Here it is: "What has become of Amos Strunk?

After making a fine start that brought him to the top of the list and being chused off the field for the first time in his dispensation to mount Dolman, which promptly became a favorite in the betting. From certain quarters in which the American has been stigmatized as "the evil spirit of German racing," there was launched at the last minute a protest, which resulted in the substitution of a German jockey. Dolman was a poor fourth in the rave, which was won by an outsider with an apprentice on top. Archibald has been a prime favorite with followers of running races, who invariably righted his mounts.

Strunk's work in the last two days inswers the question. Yesterday he ap-peared at the plate five times and got four singles and a double, drove in two runs and scored three himself. On Tuesday he was at but four times, made two hits and scored one run. Thus, in two days he has hit safely seven out of nine times at the plate and scored four runs. That seems to prove that Amos is playing the game and is out of his slump grouch—call it what you will.

They saw the St. Louis Browns buried under an avalanche of base hits of all kinds and witnessed the finishing touches when eleven runs crossed the pan. The Athletics finally won a ball game and Connie Mack's done was correct. Only part of the field has been previously used for local soccer matches, but the popularity of the sport and its growth in this vicinity should warrant the success of the enlarged plans of lovers of the game for the coming season.

There are now stated to be no fewer than 1800 registered scocer players in and about this city, and there is no doubt that an all-Philadelphia team in contest with some It was a regular elam-bang affair and the result was in doubt until Ray Bates lifted one into the leftfield bleachers for a borner in the seventh. We are frequently told (and it is very gratifying to us) that our clothing has a different "look" from that shown in other houses.

Three things are responsible for thisquality of fabrics, superior tailoring, unequaled "style" in design. Each of these is dependent on the other-the combination of all in our clothes is that which makes them not only "look" different, but really does put them in a class of their own. The cost is no greater than for ordinary clothes.
