WILSON, IN MERCILESS ADDRESS. ARRAIGNS KAISER; U. S. WAR AIMS

PRESIDENT IN FLAG DAY ADDRESS CITES WORLD INDICTMENT OF KAISER

DRESIDENT WILSON'S Flag Day address, an amplified explanation of why PRESIDENT WILSON String Day audress, an amplined explanation of why the United States entered the world war, constitutes a double-barrel indictment of the German Government: America's charges and the grievances of the world at large. These are:

AMERICA'S INDICTMENT:

The military masters of Germany denied America the right to be neutral. Insults and aggressions left no choice.

Germany planted sedition in our own country.

American industries were destroyed by violence.

Use of the high seus was denied our commerce.

Japan and Mexico were asked to ally themselves against America. Germany killed Americans in their proper and legal pursuit of life

A world-embracing scheme for German advancement menaces the government and life of America.

THE WORLD'S INDICTMENT:

The sinister power of the German government stretched out across Europe to establish a broad belt of German military rule.

Europe to establish a broad bent of German military rule.

Germany never regarded nations as men, women and children.

Austria-Hungary, Serbia, Bulgaria, Turkey, Rumania were to be the tools of German militarism, regardless of the wishes of their varied peoples for solidarity and independent rule.

Berlin-to-Bagdad to serve German purposes, was the Kaiser's dream.

Germany has "actually carried the greater part of this amazing plan into execution." Austria is at her mercy, so are Serbia, Rumania, Bulgaria, and German warships at Constantinople warn Turkey that Berlin's will is law.

PEACE INTRIGUES:

Berlin wishes to effect a peace now, ere it has nothing left with which to drive a good bargain Socialists and labor bodies are aiding this scheme, to their own undoing, for "If they succeed " " Germany and the world are undone " " "

If they fail " " the world will be at peace."

rejected the idea of solidarity of race entirely. The choice of peoples played no part in it at all. It contemplated binding together racial and political units which could be kept together only by force—Czechs, Magyars, Croats, Serbs, Rumanians, Turks, Armenians—the proud States of Bohemia and Hungary, the stout little common-wealths of the Balkans, the indomitable peoples did not wish to be united. They properly desired to direct their own affairs, would be satisfied only by undisputed independence. They could be kept quiet only by the presence or the constant threat of armed men. They would live under a cur mon power only by sheer compulsion and await the day of revolution. But the Gerthe masters of Germany do not hesitate to use any agency that promises to effect their purpose, the deceit of the nations? They are craploying liberals in their enterprise. They are using men, in Germany and without, as their spokesmen whom they have hitherto despised and oppressed, using them for their own destruction—Socialists, the leaders of labor, the thinkers they have hitherto sought to silence. ours. It floats in majestic slience above the States of the East. Austria-Hungary, in-Bosts that execute those choices, whether In peace or in war. And yet, though silit speaks to us-speaks to us of the of the men and women who went past, of the men and women who went before us and of the records they wrote upon it. We celebrate the day of its birth; and from its birth until now it has witand from its birth until now it has witnessed a great history, has floated on high the symbol of great events, of a great plan of life worked out by a great people. We are about to carry it into battle, to lift it where it will draw the fire of our enemies.

We are about to bid thousands, hundreds of ands, it may be millions, of our men, thousands, it may be millions, of our men, the young, the strong, the capable men of the nation, to go forth and die beneath it on fields of blood far away—for what? For some unaccustomed thing? For some thing for which it has never sought the fire before? American armies were never before sent across the seas. Why are they sent now? For some new purpose for which this great flag has never been carried before, or for some old, familiar, heroic purpose for which it has seen men, its own men, die on every battlefield upon which Americans have borne arms since the Revo-

These are questions which must be answered. We are Americans. We in our turn serve America, and can serve her with ne private purpose. We must use her flag as she has always used it. We are ac-countable at the bar of history and must plead in utter frankness what purpose it is

WHY AMERICA FIGHTS

'It is plain enough how we were forced into the war. The extraordinary insults and aggressions of the Imperial German Government left us no self-respecting choice but to take up arms in defense of our rights as a free people and of our honor as a sovereign Government.

"The military masters of Germany de-nied us the right to be neutral.

nied us the right to be neutral.

They filled our unsuspecting communities with vicious spies and conspirators and sought to corrupt the opinion of our people in their own behalf. When they found that they could not do that, their agents diligently spread sedition among us and sought to draw our own citizens from their elleriance—and some of those avents were allegiance—and some of those agents were men connected with the official embassy of the German Government Itself, here in our own capital. They sought by violance to destroy our industries and arrest our combestions. They tried to incite Mexico to take up arms against us and to draw Japan into hostile alliance with her-and that, not by indirection, but by direct suggestion from the Foreign Office in Berlin. They impu-dently denied us the use of the high seaand repeatedly executed their threat that they would send to death any of our people who ventured to approach the coasts of

"And many of our own people were cor-rupted. Men began to look upon their own, neighbors with suspicion and to wonder in their hot resentment and surprise whether there was any community in which hostile intrigue did not lurk. What great nation in such circumstances would not have taken up arms? Much as we had desired peace, it was denied us and not of our own choice. This flag under which we serve would have been dishonored had we withheld our hand. GERMAN PEOPLE NOT BLAMED

"But that is only part of the story. We know now as clearly as we knew before we were ourselves engaged that we are not the nemies of the German people and that they are not our enemies. They did not originate or desire this hideous war or wish that we should be drawn into it; and we are Yaguely conscious that we are fighting their cause—they will some day see it—as well as our own. They are themselves in the Trip of the same sinister power that has how at last stretched its ugly talons out and drawn blood from us. The whole world is at war because the whole world is in the trip of that power and is trying out the great battle which shall determine whether it is to be brought under its mastery or fling itself free.

"The war was begun by the military masters of Germany, who proved to be also masters of Austria-Hungary. These men have never regarded nations as peoples, men, women and children of like blood and as themselves, for whom governonts existed and in whom governments had their life. They have regarded them merely a serviceable organizations which they d by force or intrigue bend or corrupt their own purpose. They have regarded the smaller States, in particular, and the es who could be overwhelmed by force. their natural tools and instruments of sination. Their purpose has long been

"The States of the other nations, to whom that purpose was incredible, paid little attention; regarded what German prors expounded in their classrooms and German writers set forth to the world as the goal of German policy as rather the dream of minds detached from practical afdrs, as preposterous private conceptions German destiny, than as the actual plans of terman destiny, than as the actual plans of responsible rulers; but the rulers of Sermany themselves knew all the while what concrete plans, what well-advanced intrigues lay back of what the professors and the writers were easying, and were that to go forward unmolested, filling the thrones of Balkan States with German Princes, putting German officers at the servputting German officers at the serv cs of Turkey to drill her armies and make interest with her Government, developing plans of sedition and rebellion in India and ypt, setting their fires in Persia. The nands made by Austria upon Serbia were mere single step in a plan which com-Passed Europe and Asia, from Berlin to Saplad. They hoped those demands might for arouse Europe, but they meant to press them whether they did or not, for they mought themselves ready for the final issue

THE NEW GERMANY Their plan was to throw a broad belt German military power and political trol across the very center of Europe beyond the Mediterranean into the of Asia; and Austrie-Hungary was be as ingent their tool and prive as Ser-se Bulgaria of Turkey or the pondersus

The sinister intrigué is being no less actively conducted in this country than in Russia and in every country in Europe to which the agents and dupes of the Imperial German Government can get access. That Government has many spokesmen here, in places high and low. They have learned discretion. They keep within the law. It is opinion they utter now, not sedition. They proclaim the liberal purposes of their masters; declare this a foreign war which can touch America with no danger to either her lands or her institutions; set England at the center of the stake and talk of her ambition to assert economic dominion throughout the world; appeal to our any clent tradition of isolation in the politics of the nations; and seek to undermine the Government with false professions of loyalty to its principles.

WOE TO THE TRAITOR "But they will make no headway. The false betray themselves always in every accent. It is only friends and partisans of the German Government whom we have already identified who utter these thinly disguissed disjointies. The facts are patent to all the world, and nowhere are they more plainly seen than in the United States, where we are necessarily in deal with the where we are accustomed to deal with fact, and not with sophistries; and the great fact that stands out above all the rest is that this is a people's war, a war for freedom and justice and self-government among all the nations of the world, a war to make the world safe for the peoples who live upon it and have made it their ewn, the German people themselves included; and that with us rests the choice to break through all these hypecrisies and patent cheats and masks of brute force and help set the world free or else stand aside and let it be dominated a long age through by sheer weight of arms and the arbitrary choices of self-constituted masters, by the nation which can maintain the biggest armies and the most irresistible armaments—a power to which the world has afforded this is a people's war, a war for freedom -a power to which the world has afforded no parallel and in the face of which politi-cal freedom must wither and periah.

"For us there is but one choice. We have made it. Wee be to the man or group of men that seeks to stand in our way in this day of high resolution when every principle we hold dearest is to be violicuted and made secure for the salvation of the nations. We are ready to plead at the bar of history, and our flag shall wear a new luster. Once more we shall make good with our lives and fortunes the great deed, was to become part of the central German Empire, absorbed and dominated by the same forces and influences that had originally cemented the German States faith to which we were born, and a nes glory shall shine in the face of our people.
