Commissioners Make Town Wet Again—Drys Will Appeal

CHARGES UPON CHARGES

Liquor Advocates Say Camp-Meeting Is Simply Scheme to Bar Saloons

THOMAS LEE Mayor of Beverly, N. J., who is heading the forces of prohibition in that place in their crusade against liquor selling.

By a Staff Correspondent BEVERLY, N. J., June 15. Mayor "Tom" Lee says liquor agitation has been a stone around the neck of Beverly's progress for half a century.

The "drys" after a reign of a year, have lost out. The new City Commission has granted three liquor licenses, not without a struggle.

The prohibitionists assert they will win, and say that as soon as they do they'll start proceedings against the head of the city by the "recall" route.

Half of Beverly has morals as black as tar. The other half is as pure as the driven snow. Which is which? It's all according to whom you talk to.

Chief of the legal points on which the dry side is seeking to knock out the groggers is one provided by a New Jersey law of 1896, which prescribes that within a one-mile zone around camp-meeting grounds there shall be no license granted to a new applicant.

Beverly has the camp-meeting grounds, sure enough. They are right in the heart of the city. If the Supreme Court reads the law as the "drys" see it, the license will be annulled. But the Mayor and Edwin Perkins, the out-and-out "wet" commissioner, aver that the applications created by their voters are not "new applications," but renewed applications of former license holders.

Mayor Lee adds the interesting charge that the camp-meeting association is a place of trickery, horns of hatred of nations and not of love for the Lord. Of course, he camp-meeting folk deny this.

Last month, on the night before the election at which the new commissioners were chosen, Beverly was saturated with a brewery of slush, dry leaders allege. Mayor Lee puts in an unequivocal denial. Prohibitionists say the town was filled with drunkenness on election eve. The Mayor knows nothing about it, but he is willing to declare that arrests for drunkenness ran as high as nine in twenty-four hours in the last few months.

Taking it altogether, Beverly's air is highly charged with attacks and counter attacks, vituperation and denials. Liquor, license and licenses are the conversational themes.

Two years ago a referendum vote showed a majority of Beverly's voters favored liquor. Mayor Thomas Lee, then a commissioner, resigned because he would not vote against the will of the majority and could not conscientiously vote for it. A successor was elected. Then Mayor Joseph Habbe moved to Baltimore and resigned his office. Two city commissioners were left—Dr. James V. Roberts and the Rev. William T. Sneed. Doctor Roberts is a former Mayor because in seven years he has been a city leader and frequently an office holder. Mr. Sneed at one time was pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

He resigned his pastorate and went into the hardware business. Of the also runs a grocery, of being "too progressive" to suit his parishioners.

The two commissioners were hopelessly at loggerheads. They could not agree on a successor for Habbe and they couldn't get together on the run question. So the town's three licenses lapsed and the new applications were deferred.

STAFF OF FOUR BATTERERS The only haven of molasses was the Maple Shade Hotel, or "Mount's saloon," south of the railroad tracks and hence beyond the limits of Beverly and out of its jurisdiction. Seventy-five per cent of Mount's trade came from Beverly, according to Mayor Tom. Mrs. Emily V. Street, secretary of the W. C. T. U., says Mount's bar was besieged by hordes; that four bartenders had all they could do to pass out the beer and whisky craved by the thirsty.

Last month brought the chance to break the commission deadlock. Mayor Lee was elected by the majority. He had not declared himself on the liquor question and he got votes from both factions. Of the out-and-out candidates Perkins, the wet, ran with 245 votes, while Morris R. H. Levin, a dry, polled 231. Levin is an official of the Beverly Underwear Company, of which Frank W. Thacher, his brother-in-law, is president. Levin says he takes a drink when he wants to, but saloons are bad for factories. Lee, on the other hand, although he is the man whose vote gave the license, is an abstainer by habit and says he voted to carry out the expressed will of the majority.

Perkins's vote, being higher than Levin's, is interpreted as proof of the majority's wish for licensed saloons. Of the also runs the other pro-liquor candidate led the anti-liquor candidates.

LICENSES GRANTED On Tuesday night the new commission held its first meeting. It sat as a court to pass on license applications. Lawyers for each side argued. The commissioners granted bar licenses to Edward Catterall and Bush & Cantrell and a bottle's license to Robert Adams.

The Rev. Arthur Phillips, Presbyterian

editor, says the meeting was a "well-attended" affair. "Not so," answers the Mayor. "We had looked up the law and had decided there was nothing to prevent granting the applications. What the prohibition lawyers said added nothing new."

Former Judge John G. Horner argued for the anti-liquor element. He is who will carry their case to the Supreme Court for a writ to revoke the three licenses. Several technical points are involved besides the main one that hinges on the camp-meeting grounds.

Blair Ferguson, of Ferguson Brothers, dealers in chemicals, 109 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, is the chief of the dry forces. With Mr. Phillips and the Rev. F. B. Morley, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, as first lieutenants, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson gave to the camp-meeting as-

WAR LOAN OVERSUBSCRIBED; BONDS SOON GO ABOVE PAR

Continued from Page One Many banks and big corporations have "come through" in splendid fashion, the number of small subscriptions passed all other loans. And that is what the administration wanted at all times. The Liberty Loan was designed as a popular loan. The common people were appealed to directly. And they have responded in a manner which has far exceeded the hopes of officials. While it is impossible at the present moment to say just how many persons have subscribed to the bonds officials are hopeful that the total will reach nearly three million persons and corporations. It is considered certain that all small subscribers will get the total amount for which they subscribed. The extra half billion will be cut out of the larger applications. They will be taken care of in the next loan. Secretary McAdoo announced just before the Cabinet meeting, this afternoon that another Liberty Bond issue would not be necessary before fall. That all but two of the Federal reserve districts will exceed their allotment was glad news which the Treasury Department has been waiting to announce. It is still far from certain that these two will not have measured up to the mark when the figures are ready. There was a strongly sustained drive throughout the country for bonds, and to increase totals, and officials here believe that the "last-minute" applicants are even greater than had been expected. Many persons have been waiting until the last minute to make application. While it is certain that the last of these will be very much disappointed, the machinery of the country is working until such high speed that it was considered certain the handicap of time would be overcome. "We are satisfied and gratified," was the only comment obtainable at the Treasury Department as the subscriptions so far as this section was concerned, closed.

FEDERAL RESERVE DISTRICTS REPORT OVERSUBSCRIPTIONS

CHICAGO, June 15. The Chicago Federal Reserve district has subscribed approximately $300,000,000 to the Liberty Loan, according to a statement made by W. A. Deah, chairman of the reserve bank, shortly after noon today. The district's allotment was $250,000,000. It is estimated that Michigan subscribed $60,000,000.

When the issue closed long lines of men, women and children were still standing before the banks in various parts of the city.

BOSTON, Mass., June 15. New England's part of the Liberty Loan reached $247,000,000 at 10 o'clock, $7,500,000 over the minimum allotment for this district. The Federal Reserve Bank employees at that time had nearly five hours' rest. The bank was crowded with people, many of whom were going through to the post office, which indicated the sum would reach the maximum figure of $300,000,000.

DENVER, June 15. Tabulation of figures today showed that when the Denver banks closed last night they had received $12,451,100 in Liberty Loan subscriptions from 12,431 subscribers. The Denver allotment was $9,000,000. The Colorado State allotment was $14,000,000, but reports indicate the total will reach almost $17,000,000.

DETROIT, June 15. The Liberty Loan campaign closed here at noon today with subscriptions close to the quota allotment, 50 per cent more than the quota allotment.

ST. LOUIS, June 15. The Liberty Loan subscriptions for the St. Louis district have passed $80,000,000. It was announced at noon, with reports incomplete. The city's subscriptions have passed $39,000,000. The city allotment was $25,000,000 and the district allotment, $80,000,000.

CLEVELAND, June 15. Shortly before the Liberty Loan campaign closed at noon officials announced Cleveland had subscribed $22,000,000, $17,000,000 more than its maximum quota. Seven millions of bonds was taken in the last three hours.

The Fourth Federal Reserve District has oversubscribed its maximum Liberty Bond quota of $225,000,000 by $20,000,000.

MILWAUKEE, June 15. That Milwaukee probably subscribed three and a half million over its $14,000,000 quota of Liberty Bonds was the belief of bankers at noon today. More than 25,000 persons are said to have participated in the loan here.

RICHMOND, Va., June 15. The Richmond Federal Reserve district, including Virginia, Maryland, District of Columbia, North and South Carolina and West Virginia has oversubscribed its Liberty Loan allotment by $29,000,000. Governor Seay, of the district, estimated this afternoon, after a wild rush shortly before noon had flooded the banks. It will be forty-eight hours before official figures are completed.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 15. Chairman Warlaw, of the Atlanta Federal Reserve Bank stated at noon today that it was impossible to estimate accurately the total Liberty Loan bond sales in this district. A deluge of Liberty Loan subscriptions is rolling in and many rural communities have yet to be heard from. Chairman Warlaw said that personally he believed the bond sales would total $50,000,000.

TRENTON, June 15. Trenton has done her bit and more in subscriptions to the United States Liberty Bonds. Best figures available at noon today show that the total amount of these bonds taken by residents of Trenton is at least $3,875,000. Trenton's allotment for the Liberty Bond issue was $3,000,000.

DALLAS, Tex., June 15. With hundreds of letters and telegrams unopened, Liberty Loan subscriptions from the Dallas district reached approximately $12,000,000 at noon today, $2,000,000 more than the minimum allotment.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15. At 10 a. m., two hours before the close of the sales of Liberty Bonds on the coast, the Federal Reserve Bank officials stated that they thought the $160,000,000 minimum allotment of the district would be subscribed.

WASHINGTON, June 15. Liberty Loan subscriptions in the Canal Zone will total more than a quarter of a million dollars, the American Minister to Panama reported to the State Department today.

PITTSBURGH, June 15. The Pittsburgh subsidiary of the Cleveland Federal Reserve district has greatly oversubscribed its allotment of Liberty Bonds. It was officially announced today. Total subscriptions may exceed $73,500,000, or $12,500,000 more than the allotment.

KANSAS CITY, June 15. A whirlwind close to the Liberty Loan campaign has sent the total close to the $100,000,000 mark. John Miller, Jr., in charge of the campaign, stated at 11 a. m. Eleven millions was subscribed yesterday. Kansas City's total will exceed $10,000,000, slightly below the 6 per cent estimate of the Federal Reserve Bank. The tenth district invariably oversubscribed their allotments. The minimum figure of this district was $100,000,000.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., June 15. Inmates of the Jeffersonville Reformatory have subscribed $200 of Liberty Bonds. The convicts saved the money from compensation given for extra work.

WILSON NOTE ANGRERS RADICALS OF RUSSIA

Dissatisfaction Expressed at Tone of President's Statement of War Aims PETROGRAD, June 15. While members of the two American commissions to Russia were being formally presented to the Provisional Government today, new difficulties were rising about them in form of expressed dissatisfaction with President Wilson's note. "The Russian revolutionary democracy knows very well that the road to the passionately awaited universal peace lies only through the united struggle of the working classes with the imperialists of the world," the bulletin of the council declared. "It is quite easy to understand what feelings will be called forth by the strange pretensions of the Provisional Government of peace and brotherhood in the international Socialist as also a German intrigue."

Socialist newspapers are even more bitter in their attacks on the British note, and though it was entirely conciliatory, and offered revision of the agreements between Russia and the Allies if the provisional Government considered such agreement necessary.

America Now Active in War, Says Baker

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Secretary Baker said in a formal statement that General Pershing's arrival in Paris signified America's active participation in the war "to enforce peace with justice." "The arrival of General Pershing and his staff in Paris," he said, "marks the beginning of America's active participation in the war. The splendid reception given these American officers, as well as the officers of our destroyer squadron in England and France, shows the harmony of spirit with which three great peoples are pursuing a common end. Our combined armies from now on will represent a league to enforce peace with justice."

COMFORT FOR TROOPS

A large hotel has already been tentatively rented. In it the American workers plan to establish what is expected to be the nucleus of a vast system of establishments in French cities at the front, all to give aid and comfort to the Americans. In the Paris branch the plans contemplate comfortable reading and writing rooms, billiard tables, gymnasium, showers, restaurants and sleeping quarters. Some of the best-known Americans in Paris are working to perfect all the details. As American troops arrive and spread themselves over the various army zones, workers of the Paris organizations will follow them, establishing recreation centers as close to the camps as possible. The same scheme is to be worked at ports where American sailors are to be granted liberty leave. The American Y. M. C. A. branch in Paris is deliberately going to fight the business case of snooty reputation. It is trying to make its quarters and its comforts

ROBERTSON IS IMPRESSED BY PERSHING'S ABILITY

LONDON, June 15. "I am expecting great things of the splendid men of the United States army and I have no fear of being disappointed," General Sir William Robertson, chief of staff of the British army, declared today. "I have had the pleasure of meeting General Pershing and several of his officers. I was much impressed by his grasp of essentials and the desire he displayed to have no stone unturned to assure assistance being given in the most rapid and effective manner possible." A Few Facts Concerning Clothes— (Especially Men's and Young Men's)

THE most necessary thing to a man's physical welfare (next to food) is clothing, and a scarcity of all-wool clothing at low prices is at hand!

Are you prepared for the future? Or are you wearing last year's clothing in the hope that prices will come down? Candor compels us to say to you that prices, instead of coming down, are constantly ascending.

Good all-wool clothing is one of the scarcest commodities in the markets of the entire world right now!

Poor clothing (cotton mixed with wool) is more plentiful than ever in history.

Do you know that the world's supply of wool is at low ebb? And, as an increasing world demand will continue to decrease the world's wool supply, cotton will become more plentiful!

Do you know that woollens are commanding the topmost prices ever recorded? Do you know that England today is seriously considering the necessity for rationing out clothing by restrictive cards, just the same as food?

Cotton substitution is being seriously proposed in some quarters and adopted in many. Substitution never has done anything but cost the consumer more! Substitution is the watchword of business parasites. Substitution, therefore, is not for Oak Hall.

Let Us Ask You—

- Where, outside of Oak Hall, can you buy guaranteed all-wool suits of $13.50 quality for $9.50?
Where, outside of Oak Hall, can you buy guaranteed all-wool suits of $15 and $18 quality for $11.50?
Where, outside of Oak Hall, can you buy guaranteed all-wool suits of $18 and $20 quality for $12.50?
Where, outside of Oak Hall, can you buy guaranteed all-wool suits of $20 and $22.50 quality for $15.00?
Where, outside of Oak Hall, can you buy guaranteed all-wool suits of $22.50 and $25 quality for $18.00?
