SHIPBUILDERS IN FEAR OF LABOR DISTURBANCE

Board, However, Refuses to Stir Up Controversy by Ordering Closed Shops

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Threats of a strike in eastern shipyards unless the closed shop is inaugurated were reported to Chairman Denman and General E. C. Hooper of the United States Shipping Board, at a meeting they held here today with shipbuilders from all parts of the country.

To intimations that the shipyard owners would like the Government to handle the labor unions with the mailed fist of war, Denman replied emphatically: "I think it would be unwise for us to start a labor controversy in Congress at this time."

Denman also made it clear to the forty shipbuilders in attendance that the Government at present had no intention of operating merchant vessels.

"One exception of the Shipping Board," said Denman, "gave his approval to a semi-socialist scheme of Government operation, but it is not the board's plan."

General Hooper asked all shipbuilders to inform him of the number of vessels they have under way, how many more they can undertake to build at once and to give their present basic costs of labor and materials.

Fuel-bound shipyard men declared lack of steam was keeping some of their shipways in limbo. Chairman Denman promised the shipwrights that the Government would do its utmost to see that they obtained the necessary steel at the earliest possible date.

Pacific coast representatives at the meeting, although their yards are being operated under the open shop plan, joined in the recommendation of the easterners for some sort of Government labor control.

EDITOR OF FRIENDS' PAPER RAILS AT WAR

Henry Ferris Aims Anti-Military Views at Central School Commencement

Henry Ferris, editor of the Friends' Intelligence, rallied against war at the Friends' Central School commencement exercises today.

"I hope every student in the class is willing to die for his country, but I hope none of them is willing to kill some one else," he said.

"Democracy cannot be preserved by war, because war is the antithesis of all the principles of democracy. Democracy means self-government. Warfare means that soldiers must blindly obey the orders of officers who say, 'Kill,' when God says, 'Thou shalt not kill.'"

Mr. Ferris's views were expressed as soon as William Byron Forbush, of Swarthmore College, concluded an address in which he told students their duty was to perpetuate an America worthy of the men willing to die for it.

Mr. Ferris was asked later whether he would add something constructive to his anti-warfare views. "I regard them as constructive," he said.

Announcement that the Friends' Central School relief committee has raised sufficient money for the purchase of three ambulances to be sent to France was made at the commencement exercises, which were held this morning at the Friends' Meeting House, Fifteenth and Race streets. It was also announced that the committee would meet for work every Friday during the summer.

The commencement address was made by William B. Forbush, of Swarthmore. The class oration was given by Philip M. Alden and essays were read by Lillian C. Webster and Josephine D. Zartman.

The following prize awards were made: Anna Shumaker scholarship to Swarthmore College, to Josephine D. Zartman, on the basis of high rank.

BOYS' SCHOOL CLOSING MARKED BY PATRIOTISM

New West Philadelphia Catholic Institution Completes First Year

Patriotism was much in evidence at the first closing exercises of the new West Philadelphia Catholic High School for Boys, which were held this morning in the dramatic hall of the Church of the Transfiguration, Fifty-fifth street and Cedar avenue.

The singing of "Columbia" opened the program, which was composed chiefly of recitations by the pupils under the classification of "Our School," "Our Solidarity" and "Our English Circles."

Bishop McCort presided. He was assisted by the Rev. Walter C. Troutner, rector and instructor in English. It is believed that the new school building, now in course of erection at Forty-ninth and Chestnut streets, will be completed before the session next year. SECOND OFFICER CAMP TESTS ARE HELD TODAY

900 Pennsylvanians to Be Picked for Added Training Course. 1200 Apply

TODAY'S ARMY STATEMENT: Philadelphia district was quota 4044. Enlistments since April 1, 3770. Number still needed (including estimated rejections), 654. Yesterday's enlistments, 28. Daily average necessary to June 30, 64. Today's enlistments to noon, 21.

There was a rush of applicants today for examination for admittance to the second officers' training camp to be established. More than 1200 men have applied to Captain A. A. King, U. S. A., at the army recruiting station, 1256 Arch street. Only 900 Pennsylvanians will be chosen for the second camp, examinations for which began today. Older men, experienced in giving orders, are especially wanted for the second training course. The maximum age limit therefore has been raised to forty-four years. Men receiving A and B ratings, who did not go to the first camp at Fort Niagara, N. Y., are being given another opportunity.

The camp will open August 25 and continue three months. Philadelphians applying for commissions probably will be sent to Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., or Fort Sheridan, Ind.

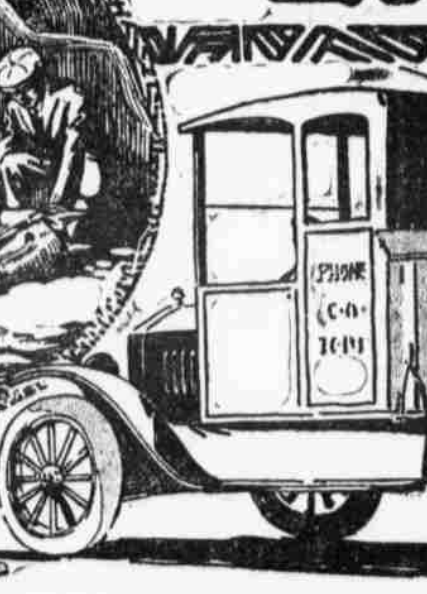

A call for 70,000 recruits—45,000 for infantry and field artillery and 25,000 for all vacancies—was issued today at the army recruiting station, 1256 Arch street, over the signature of Secretary of War Baker. The War Department is waiting for the men, training facilities having been prepared. Single men between eighteen and forty years old, with no dependents, whose business is not vitally necessary to the prosecution of the war, are wanted. The cavalry, engineers, coast artillery, signal corps and quartermaster corps already have been brought to war strength, the statement says.

The plan of William Frehofer, head of the Frehofer Baking Company, to train bakers for the new field bakery companies of Uncle Sam's army met with ready response today on the part of volunteers.

DON'T BE MISLED

THE tang of a strongly "medicated" dentifrice often gives a false sense of security, merely because the mouth feels clean after its use.

The function of a dentifrice is to help the tooth brush clean the teeth and mouth, not merely to give the mouth a temporary feeling of refreshment.

S. S. White Tooth Paste is simply and solely a cleanser—slightly antiseptic, but making no impossible "germicidal" claims.

It is made by the world's best known manufacturer of dental equipment and supplies, on sound therapeutic principles.
