

LESSONS OF THE GREAT WAR STUDIED AT FORT MYER
 Copyright Harris & Ewing.
 Young men from Pennsylvania and New Jersey who are training to be officers at the great army school near the nation's capital are shown struggling with the technique of erecting barbed-wire entanglements.

A DASH THROUGH THE SURF ON A HOT SUMMER DAY IS ONE OF THE DELIGHTS AT THE SHORE

Copyright, American Press Association.
FORMER PRINCETON STAR STUDIES AVIATION
 Jack Laird, known to all followers of college baseball as a brilliant member of the Orange and Black team of 1914, is attached to Aerial Coast Patrol Unit No. 3, at Mastic, L. I.

KENSINGTON'S NEW HIGH SCHOOL FOR GIRLS NEARS COMPLETION
 The close of work on this splendid structure at Central and Cumberland streets will mark the fulfillment of a vigorously waged campaign on the part of the Citizens' Association on Public Education, a Kensington organization.

Here and There and Everywhere the Camera Moves in News Portraying

Harris & Ewing Photo.
 Lieutenant J. H. Towers, U. S. N., is one of the foremost aviation experts who has been flying ever since airplanes were known as practicable.

Photo from Pelouse & Campbell.
CAMDEN COUNTY'S VICTORIOUS RED CROSS TEAM
 First photograph of the competent collectors whose zeal carried them $25,000 past the $150,000 goal set up for the county.

SUMMER SEASON IN FULL SWING AT CITY'S PUBLIC BATH HOUSES
 The photograph shows a swimming instructor at the Twelfth and Reed streets bath outlining the early strokes for a beginner in the natorial science.

MEMBERS OF COMPANY C, FIRST REGIMENT, N. G. P., WHO WILL APPEAR IN A MINSTREL SHOW TONIGHT. IN THE CENTER IS MISS ELIZABETH SWANTON, PIANIST