Hollweg Will Address the Reichstag Today

Chancellor for any act of his. Power of appointment of the Chancellor and of his dismissal was retained, as always, by the Kaiser.

The committee, however, did recommend a complete restructuring and reappointment plan for representation in the Reichstag. Exactly how this is to be achieved is decided at meetings of the committee, which are to be held this month.

Germany's present system of representation in the Reichstag is that which was adopted in 1871. It does not permit of minority representation. The present constitution has announced it will change this system on the basis of equal suffrage for all men.

Prussia holds the balance of power in Germany and neither the Reichstag nor the constitution committee can make reforms there without action by the Prussian Diet. Today a meeting of the Reichstag is scheduled for a sitting of only three or four days, but it is believed that this would be prolonged to a week.

In connection with the talk of peace it was reported from Berlin that the Kaiser is going to Vienna at the end of the week to meet the Emperor of Austria. The meeting will be discussed in the Austrian capital.

BERLIN, July 5.—Coincided with the opening of the Reichstag today a score of the so-called German intellectuals united in a formal demand on the Government for immediate constitutional and electoral reforms...

What made the manifesto of particular significance in the view of reformers here was that among the signers were such men as Delbrück, Von Harnack, Meinkopf, Emil Fischer, Treitschke and others of the purely "intellectual" type who have heretofore opposed the democratization plans announced by the radicals.

Under the terms of the proposed bridge, the main span of the bridge would be 152 feet midway between the piers and 135 feet at the ends.

According to the engineers' estimate, the time required for automobiles and electric cars to cross the bridge proper would be 100 seconds and the time to negotiate each spiral 140 seconds.

THE CLEARANCE, according to the proposal, would be 152 feet midway between the piers and 135 feet at the ends.

THE WORLD-WIDE CRY

Striking Series of Articles in next Sunday's Public Ledger

IN NEXT Sunday's Public Ledger I. F. Marcosson begins a series of eight remarkable articles showing the true conditions in Europe, how they will affect the outcome of the war, and the part the United States is destined to play in it.

Since the European war Mr. Marcosson's work has given him a world-wide reputation, both as an economic authority and as a brilliant descriptive writer. He has just returned after five memorable months in Europe. He was the guest of Field Marshal Haig at British headquarters. He was with the French and Belgian armies in the field. He was the first American to reach Petrograd from the outside world after the great events which overthrew the Czar.

His articles, the result of intimate first-hand investigation, will appear in the Sunday Public Ledger for the next eight weeks. In his first article next Sunday he shows that in the six European countries through which he has traveled this year the first law of National Defense is food control—everywhere the cry is "Give us this day our daily bread."
