JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Other Workers Have Left for France-Nancy Wynne Talks a Bit About Grandfathers and Grandmothers of the Past

REALLY it's remarkable how many are going to France, and so quietly that one scarcely knows they have left till soldenly the news comes John or George and landed, and then it's waiting anxjously for news from the travelers.

Sophie Norris sailed this week, Sophie you know, is the only daughter of Mr and Mrs. G. Heide Norris, the latter of whom was Ressle Borie, a sister of Mrs Arthur Ryerson, Mrs. Arthur Rush, Sophie Borie and Adolph E. Borie, and a saughter of the late John J. Borie, who was a brother of the Adolph E. Borie, who served in Grant's Cabinet.

Her father is a distinguished lawyer, son of the late Henry Norris and a brother of Mrs. Leland Harrison and Mrs. Charles Platt, Jr. Sophle is a seeker after "high" art, and is very, oh! very artistic. She is quite some little actress. let me tell you, and has appeared in a number of affairs at the Plays and Play grs. She was the heroine in that famous movie which made Alberta Brinton Sturant a bride, for 'twas when rehears ing for the Charlotte Cushman Club movie benefit she met Cesare, and the friendship ripened into that "tickling persation about the heart" known as "love"-that is, according to our late lamented Hughey Dougherty of minstrel Sophic played with Reggy Oates, who te now at Fort Niagara, and a stunning looking pair they were. Reggy is very good-leoking, and had apparently far more talent for acting than for war; but he is evidently an all-round person, for he b still weathering the storm of fierce hardship in the officers' camp up there. Well, to return to Sophie, who is the subject of this tale, she sailed this week, and will work in the hospitals in France. She is a proficient French scholar, having studied in Paris for several years before she made her debut. The French blood of the Bories seems to have given an casy twist to her tongue. Not that the Bories have lived in France in her generation, or for that matter, in her mother's.

As a matter of fact, Mr. John J. Borie, who was Sophie's great-grandfather, came here to Philadelphia as quite a young man. He was a well-known importer and lived for some time in this city. He married Miss Sophie Beauveau. the eldest daughter of Monsieur and Madame Pierre Hyacinth Beauveau. Mrs. Beauveau, her husband having died during the insurrection of Martinique, had been obliged to fly with her five daughters from that island, not even saving the one trunk they had managed to pack.

Arrived here, the brave little woman with what money she had been able to bring with her (sewed in her girdle and in those of her elder daughters), opened a small house and served meals to a number of young Frenchmen who were en gaged in business in this city.

Among them was Mr. Borie, who fell in love with Sophie. Captain Rainoldi married her daughter Emilie, a Mr. Guibert married Suzanne and Pierre Louis Laguerenne married the elder of the twins, Eliza. Her sister Maria never mar ried. Mr. Rainoldi and Mr. Guibert were lost at sea, but the Bories and Laguerennes lived in Philadelphia and brought whom are still living in and near the city of Brotherly Love.

It's very interesting to follow up these old families, is it not? For instance, Sophie Norris's grandfather, Mr. John Borie, had a sister Emilie, who married General Henry Bohlen, who was killed here in the Civil War. Their daughter Sophie thow the old name is kept in the family) married Baron Halbach, and their son Adolph, known here as "Taffy," married Bertha Krupp, the elder daughter of the man who owned the famous gun works, and she and her sister are now the joint owners of the works at Essen, which report told us several days ago had been injured by our Allies' air machines.

It's a small world, after all, is it not? And fortunately we are none of us responsible for our relations. Still, Taffy had some head when he married the richest woman in the world, didn't he? And then they did not know they were going to kill so many people, did they? I hope not.

Another sister of Mr. John Borie, Maria. married an Englishman, Mr. Leach, and their children live in England. Emilie Leach married Mr. James Molesworth, of Leamington, and their son, Jimmie Molesworth, is in the English army. So you see, Sophie has relations on both sides in Dis terrible conflict. Would it not be ncidence if she should meet and nurse an English cousin, or one of the five Halbach von Bohlens, for Taffy had four WHAT'S the old saying about "How doth the busy little bee improve each mining hour"? Well, I'll tell you how the Germantown Bees arrange it. Those of the Army and Navy Branch of the American Red Cross, otherwise known as the Commissariat Department, Division No. 7, are not content to fold their hands until "feeding time." Oh, no; they ecided that until their services are steded to fill with coffee, sandwiches, polate and fruit that aching void in the region of the diaphragm-or rather the diaphragms-of the United States on its way through the city, they would get out their needles and thread and sew, sew, sew for dear life-or lives. Fretty good that, n'est-ce-pas?

Mrs. de Mare has organized a sewing flass, which meets on Monday from 9:30 til 1:30 o'clock in the Coulter Street Friends' School Building. Tables are Stafully and quite properly covered with oth, and the women wear their white and headdresses as per usual.

Working on this committee with Mrs. Mare are Mrs. Francis Butler Reeves, George Franklin Brown, Mrs. Sandy Mrs. Albert Hoyt, Mrs. Ned Julia Lavino, Grace Richard-Te Tolburt Richardson, Mrs. do Te that helpurs are needed, und a somen of that department to

MISS SARAH FRANKLIN

Miss Franklin is an attractive member of the younger set. She made her debut last year at a tea given by her parents,

THE "Sammees" who are stationed on

I bridges and railroad tracks "anywhere in America" may be yearning to give their addresses as "Somewhere in France," but their guarding is none the

Some of them stationed on a bridge beween Wrightsville and Columbia, on the Lincoln Highway, bailed a peacefully touring automobile the other day and gave the command to halt, while they travelers and the "hold-up men."

at the navy yard, and rightly, too. However, we have "in our midst" some men

Some of the members of the Huntingdon Valley Club found this out and gave them a jolly time of it last night. There then a rattling good dinner and a gener

this will be a spur to other "gentlemen

of leisure and abundant means" to follow

in the train of the Huntingdon "Valley-

"M GLAD to see that the powers that bathing hour is watching the dogs swim

out after sticks or balls or imaginary things, and then come "laughing" and panting back again to dry in the warm

sun. What harm could they possibly do fresh white skirt with eager, welcoming you expect to get a little sandy. Mrs.

Elliston Perot is down there now, and they tell me her health has improved

very much. Mrs. Glyndon Priestman and Miss Kershaw are also at the city by the sea, and Mrs. George Brown is another Germantowner who is enjoying

AMONG other persons who are going or have gone away are Mr. and Mrs. R.

out in the Wissahickon. Hope McMichael and Mrs. Henry Brown are at Winter

Harbor, and the Jacob Disstons, with all their family, are at their home in Northeast Harbor. The Russell Johnsons have gone to York Harbor for the summer.

and Mr. and Mrs. John Holton, of Chestnut Hill, will go soon to Lake Sunapee.

and are living in Boston. It will seem mighty queer next winter not to see charming young maiden recently whose mother was away, and who regaled him and his chum with accounts of her affairs with men of nineteen. The maiden was about sixteen, and was muchly impressed with the idea of love, as one is John was telling of it afterward to his sister, and remarked, "She told me just how a man of nineteen told her of his emotions." "What," said sister, "emotions!" "Oh! yes, you know he told her

the way he felt, I suppose," said four-

Now the latest wedding date to be announced is Mary Mirkir's. She came engagement to Ned Rogers was announced in June. They are to be married on August 4 at the Milkil's country place in Wyncote. Ned is the son of Mrs. John in the summer and at 2201 St. James

Mary is very pretty and attractive, Sh.

went to Miss Irwin's, as most Philadelphia girls do, and has been having a very good time since her debut. Ned is at the

Rogers. The Rogers live in Wyncote

at sweet sixteen.

teen years.

place in winter.

Isubel at all the parties, won't it?

Isabel Stoughton Foster and her hus-

the freshness of Atlantic City's breezes.

but very sandy paws?

the lambs-beyond, perhaps, solling a ess watchful.

lonely, too.

Small Receptions

The exigencies of war have not lessened the number of marriages, but they have cer-tainly lessened the "pomp and ceremony" of weddings, for midsummer brides are having fewer attendants, and quieter wed-dings than in former years.

A quiet weddings will rake place this evedings than in former years.

A quiet welding will take place this evening at 6 o'clock in the First Methodist Church, in Germantewn, when Miss Edna Clapham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Grant Clapham, of Haines and Morton streets, will become the bride of Mr. Francis A. Sorber, Jr. The ceremony will be performed by the Bev. Edward Nines. Mr. and Mrs. Sofber will be unattended and will be at home after September 1 at will be at home after September 1 at Weldon, Pa.

RANK-PATTON

Announcement is made of the marriage of Ming Violet E. Patton, daughter of Mrs. Milton Bitter, of 1340 North Ninetegrals street, to Mr. Wilbur E. Rank, son of T. and Mrs. Edwin P. Rank, on Monday afterneon at 3 o'clock at the home of the Bev. Daniel E. Weigle, of the Friendly Lutheran Church. Sixteenth and Jefferson atreets, who officenced at the exempty. The bride who officiated at the ceremony. The bride was attended by Miss Helen Pechin, Mr. and Mrs Rank, who are spending their homeymoon in Wildwood, will be at home at 5556 North Eleventh street upon their return.

COYLE-BYRNE

The wedding of Miss Sarah J. Byrne. daughter of Mrs. Margaret Byrne, of 1963 North Twenty-third street, and Mr. James L. Coyle was solomnized in St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic Church, Twenty-third and Berks streets, on Monday afternoon. The eramony was performed by the Rev. Wil-lam M. Killian, and was followed by a exception for the families at the future home the couple, 516 North Twenty-first street. Attending the bride was Miss Mar-guerde Coyle, sister of the bridegroom, while Mr. Francis Coyle was his brother's out man. The bridegroom and bride left in a short visit and will be at home after

SUMMER CARNIVAL FOR THIS AND NEXT WEEK

Out-of-Doors Fete to Be Held for Benefit of Church

Now that the height of summer is here and one feels the call of the outdoors "when the skies are clear and the grass is grow-ing," churches and organizations of various hints are arranging for their annual garden feter. Tanight the members of the Church of the Comus Christi will-give their annual outdoor entertainment and will continue it each afterneon and evening until the close gave the command to halt, while they searched the car. The bewildered occupants obeyed orders and looked on with amused smiles while the soldiers searched and searched and searched and searched and searched and inally emerged in triumph with a pound of—peanuts! The joke—and possibly the

and the nation's standard.

There will be for sale at these booths yery beautiful and artistic needlework, usepeanuts-was heartly enjoyed by the yory beautiful and artistic needlework, useful articles, processies, candies and all sorts of good things to refrosh the inner man. For amisement one will find sliding boards, carrousels and athletic games of many kinds. Of course there will be music and dancing, and a special feature of tonights program will be a drill by the Boy Scouts of the Church of the Most Precious Blood. So MUCH has been done for the enterof the Church of the Most Precious Blood. This year four contestants are rivals for the crown of the queen of beauty, Margaret Ahern, Katherine Burns, Loretta Anderson and Margaret McCusker. Judge John Monaghan, of the Common Pleas Court, will crown the winning beauty the last night of the carnival. The Rev. Edmond Franklin, who is in charge of the fote, has arranged to entertain several hundred guests each evening. Assisting the very competent manager will be Peter J. Hughes, Mary McCloskey, Mrs. Thomas Shortall, Mrs. Patrick Churchville, Christine Mullin, Edward Ward, John Brown, Vincont McClivaine, John Wilson, William Maguire and James Dorsey. Should any day prove too stormy for outdoors the festival on that day will be held in the large amembly hall adjoining the carnival grounds. of the Pennsylvania National Guard who are strangers in the city and they're were motor rides through the beautiful suburbs of which we are all so proud. ally "good time was had by all." I hope be have decided to allow the dogs of Attantic City to play around on the beach with their owners. Half the joy of the RESORTS BECOME POP

adjoining the carnival grounds

RESORTS BECOME POPULAR As July Advances, Many Leave Town for Summer Cottages

The regular stream of seashers cortagers egon and many are leaving their town uburban homes for the Jersey coast, ad Mrs. William Pringle, of Wyncote, have opened their cottage at Ocean City But then when you go to Atlantic City

The Belding Slifers, of Jenkintown, have left for the shore and will remain until late

Dorothy Bacon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Bacon, of York and Wyncote roads, Jenkintown, is going to take a glorious trip with the Charles Clarks, of Germantown. They are going to sail for Panama and take in all the sights down there. Denothy is very popular and has a perfect time is consequence. They are to be away for five weeks, returning late in August.

S. Howard-Smith, who have gone in GERMANTOWN FOLK ARE their car for a trip to Bass Rocks, Mass. GATHERED AT SEASIDE Elise's brother Logan married Amelia Douglas recently, and they are living Longport Has Large Following From

Popular Suburb

Longport is getting quite a lot of Ger-mantown residents again this season, among them Mr. and Mrs. J. Haigh Daingerfield. of 409 West School House lane. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Howard Williams are at the Aberdeen for the summer and Mr. and Mrs. Chuschill Williams are acquiring their con-Thurchill Williams are occupying their cotone and will have for the next few days Williams's sister, Mrs. Baltzar de More band have finished their wedding trip as their guest.

> Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brush are at their some in Ocean City, where they entertain house parties over each week-ond.

Mrs. David T. Young and her small JOHN, aged fourteen, but with much military training to his credit and daughter are spending some time in Cape May Mrs. Young is an ardent bridge player. much chest to the fore, went to call on a

Social Activities

Mrs. Charles H. Howell, of Torresdale announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Cocile Fitter Howell, to Mr. William O. Rowland, son of Mrs. William Overing-ton Rowland, of Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas De Witt Cuyler left this week for Bar Harbor, where they will spend two months at their cottage before returning to their home in Haverford.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Penn Smith and Miss Kitty Penn Smith have been the guests of Mrs. E. H. Harriman, at Arden, N. Y., for Mrs. Walter Clark has returned to her home from a short trip to the shore. One would think she might need a rest, for her days are filled with meetings and flag rais-ings and all sorts of other patriotic doings. out two years ago, you know, and her Mr. and Mrs. William T. Hunter, of > Mr. and Mrs. Powell Evans and Miss Anita Evans have been spending two weeks n Atlantic City.

have returned from a visit to Chi

Mr. and Mrs. Garrett L. Reilly, of Rose-mont, have gone to spend the summer at Gloucester, Mass.

THE MILLENNIUM—A SMALL BOY'S IDEA

THE DAY OF WRATH A STORY OF 1914

By Louis Tracy

CHAPTER XI-(Continued) WHY safer in Huy than here, or any-

"Huy has been occupied by the Germans since the 12th, and is their temporary headquarters. From what I sather, they usually spare such towns. That is why we nover dreamed of Andenne being sacked."

Monsieur Pechard was a Frenchman. He raised his eyebrows "Where can you have been mensieur, not to know what has happened at Liege, Vise. Fiemelle Grande, Blagny Trembleur, and a score of other pose, that nature gives us women strong."

"Vise," broke in the cracked, piping voice Joos "What's that about Vise?" "It is burnt to the ground, and nearly all the inhabitants killed."

"Is anthing said of a fat major named Busch, whom Henri Joos the miller struck with a fork."

"A Prussian, do you mean?" "Ay One of the same breed—a West-phalian" "I bayen't heard."

"He tried to assault my daughter, so I got him. The second one, a Uhlan, killed my wife, and I got him too. I cut his throat down there in the main street. It's easy to kill Germans. They're soft, like

Though Joos's half-demented boasting was highly injudicious. Dalroy did not interfero. He was in a mood to let matters drift. They could not well be worse. He had tried to control the course of events in no far as they affected his own and Irene Bereaford's fortunes, but had failed lament-ably. Now, fate must take charge.

Pochard's comment was to the point, at any rate. "I congratulate you, monsieur." he said. "Til do a bit in that line myself this little one is lodged with his aun n Huy. If every Belgian accounts for two Prussians, you'll hold them till the French nd English Join up.

and English join up.
"Do you know for certain where the English are?" put in Dalroy eagerly.
"Yes, at Charlerol. The French are it Namur. Come with me to Huy. A few Namur. Come with me to Huy. A few days, and the sales Alboches will be pelting back to the Rhine."

For the second time Dalroy heard a

For the second time Daircy heard a siang epithet new to him applied to the Germans. He little guessed how familiar the abbreviated French form of the word would become in his ears. Briton, Frenchman. Slav, and Italian have cordially adopted "Boche" as a suitable term for the common enemy. It has no meaning, yet conveys a sense of contemptuous dislike. Stricken France had no heart for humor in 1870. The morciless foe was then a "Prussian"; in 1914 he became a "Beche," and the change held a comforting signifi-

Dalroy, of course, did not share the Frenchman's opinion as to the speedy dis-comfiture of the invader; but night was fall ing, the offer of shelter was too good to be refused. Nevertheless, he was careful to refused. Nevertheless he was careful to reveal a real difficulty. "Unfortunately, we have a dead woman in the cart," he said. "Madame Stauwaert, too, is ill, but she has recovered from a fainting fit, I see." "Ah poor Stauwaert," murmured the other. "A decent fellow. I saw them kill didn't recognize her before.

Dairoy was relieved to find that the Frenchman and the bereaved woman were friends. He had not forgotten the priest's statement that there would be a spy in every group in that part of Belgium. Later he ascertained that Monsieur Pochard was well-to-do leather merchant in Andehne who, like many others, refused to abandon a long-established business for fear of the Germans; doubtless he was destined to pay a heavy price for his tenacity ere the war ended. He behaved now as a true-Samaritan. Orging an immediate move and promsing even to arrange for Madame Joos's burial. Dairoy helped him to carry the child, a three-year-old boy, who was very sleepy and peevish, and did not understand why he should not be at home and in bed, Joos suffered them to lead him where they listed. He walked by the side of the cart and told "Lise" how he had dealt with the I'lian. Leontine sobbed afresh and He behaved now as a true-Samari-Unian. Leontine sobbed afresh and

And that's his wife, of course, I the Unian Leontine sobbed afresh and tried to stop him, but he grew quite angry. "Why shouldn't she know?" he snapped. "It is her affair and mine. You screamed and turned away, but I hacked at him till his windpipe hissed."

Monsieur Pochard brought them to Huy by a rough road among the hills. "They may be willing to pay double the price for freedom," said Dairoy.
The Frenchman was not offended. He realized that this was not a suggestion of a personal bribs man's ghoulish jabbering, the sobs of the women, the panting of two exhausted dogs and the walling of the child, who wanted his father's arms around him rather than a stranger's, supplied a tragic chorus which ill beguiled that Via Dolorosa along the heights of the Meuse. Irene insisted on taking the boy for lime, and the youngster ceased his plaint Dalroy remembered the aged cure's expo-sition of Kultur as a policy "Is this sort of thing going on generally, then?" he I could bear."

my head that we ought to be going the

Which other way?"
'In precisely the opposite direction. "But what can we do? At what stage our wanderings up to this very moment feeling that we have brought a good deal of avoidable misery on their heads? hadn't gone to the mill-" "They would probably all have been dead by this time, and certainly both homeless and friendless," he interrupted. Then he and friendless." he interrupted. Then he began telling her the fate of Vise, but was brought up short by an imperative whisper from Pochard. They were talking English, without realizing it, and Huy was near.

"And why carry that sword?" added the Frenchman "It is useless, and most dangerous. Thrust it into a ditch."

Dairoy obeyed promptly. He had thought-asly disregarded the sinister outcome if a found him with such a weapon in They came to Huy by a winding road through a suburb, meeting plenty of soldiers atrolling to and from billets. Luck be-friended them at this ticklish moment. None saw a little party turning into a lane which led to the back of the villa tenanted by Monsieur Pochard's married sister. This lady proved both sympathetic and helpful. 'he cart, with its sad freight, was housed in a woodshed at the bottom of the garden and the dogs were stabled in the gar deper's potting shed.

'The ladies can share my bedroom and y daughter's," she said. "You men must sleep in the greenhouse, as every remaining room is filled with Uhlans. Their supper is ready now, but there is plenty. Come and eat before they arrive. They left on patrol luty early this morning."

And that is where the fugitives experienced a stroke of amazing good fortune. That particular batch of Uhlans never re-turned. It was supposed that they were cut off while acouting along the Tirlemont road Apparently their absence only contributed to an evening of quiet talk and a night of un-disturbed rest. In reality, it saved the lives of the whole party, including the hostess tery. Maertz, Madame Stauwaert Leontine attended the funeral. Joos sho signs of collapse. His mind wandered, thought his wife was living, and in Maertz, Madame Stauwaert and They encouraged the delirium and dosed him with a narcotic

Irene helped in the kitchen and Dalroy dug the garden. Thus the confederacy re-mained split up during the morning, and was not noticed by an officer who came to inquire about the missing Uhlans.

About noon Monsieur Pochard drew Dalroy aside. "Monsieur." he said, and his face were anxious lines. "last night the old man implied that he was Henri Joes, of Vise. No, please listen. I don't want to be told. I can only give you certain facts and leave you to draw your own conclusions.

Active inquiries are being made by the authorities for Henri Joos. Elizabeth Joos.

Leontins Joos, their daughter and Jan Maerts, all of Vice. With them are an Macres all of vises with them are an English woman aged twenty and an English officer named Dairoy, both dressed as Belgian peasants. The appended descriptions seem to be remarkably accurate and a reward of 1800 marks is offered for their cart and a dog team in that town three days ago. Unfortunately, some Uhlans, passing through Andenne last night, have reported the presence of just such a party on the main road. Other soldlers believe they saw a similar lot entering Huy after they saw a similar lot entering Huy after dark and the burgomaster is warned that the strictest search must be made among refugees at Huy. To make sure, a German escort will assist. It is estimated that Joos and the others will be caught, because they will probably depend on a laisser passer issued in Argenteau under false names, which are known. Joos figures as Wilhelm Schuliz, for instance. Don't look so sur-Schultz, for Instance. Don't look so sur-prised, monsieur. The burgomaster is my brother-in-law's partner. He will not reach this quarter of Huy till half-past 3 or 4 o'cleck."

"But there is the record of Madome Joos's burial." put in Dairoy instantly.
"No. The poor creature remains a 'woman unknown, found dead. The Germans don't worry about such triffes. But, by a strange coincidence. Madame Stauwaert virtually takes her place for identification purposes. By the mercy of Providence, no German soldier was in this house last night. "You're very much of a man. Arthur," she said quietly. "You don't realize, I suppose. By the mercy of Providence, no German soldier was in this house last night, or he would now be the richer by a thousand marks. The notice is placarded at the worried. I have a doubt at the back the Kommandantur, and is being read by the multitude."

"We shall not bring further trouble on a which has already run grave risk n our behalf," vowed Dalroy warmly "I was more you would say that, ur; but sworn allies carry friendship to reater lengths. Now, let us take cour Madame Stauwaert can remain here. Fifts eople in Huy will answer for her. My ster can hire a servant, Leontine, if Joon i tractable he can lodge in safety with ome cottagers I know. Maerts wishes to join the Belgian army, and you the British; while that charming young lady will want to get to England. Well, we may be able to contrive all these things. I happen to be bit of an antiquary, and Huy owns me ruined castles and monasteries than any other town of similar size in Belgium, or n the world, I imagine. Follow my instrucone to the letter, and you will cheat the Germans yet. They are animals of habit and cast-iron rule. When searching for six people they will never look for one or two. Yet it would be folly if you and madenoiselle wandered off by yourselves in a strange country.

(Copyright, Edward J. Clode) (CONTINUED TOMORROW)

MISS HEDMAN DECLINES TO ACCEPT OLIVE BRANCH

Famous Swedish Actress Declares Court Actions of Mme. Lekinska Must Be Fought Out

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 12 .- Miss Martha Herman, famous Swedish actress. today rejected the olive branch which she says was extended by Mme. Ethel Leginska, pianist, who started a chain of court actions by naming Miss Hedman as co-respondent in a divorce suit filed in Chicago against her hussand, Roy Emerson Withrne, composer, "Mms. Leginska offered so withdraw both and her family.

Early next morning Monsieur Pochard Interviewed an undertaker, and Madame foos was laid to rest in the nearest come. "I refused. She must come to suit against me," said Miss Hedman. "I refused. She must carry both actions into court, as I propose to do with my $50,000 suit against her for damages, and as her husband will do with his counteretion for divorce."

Withorne, in his divorce action filed in

N. J. TEACHERS' SUMMER SCHOOL OPENS SESSIONS

More Than 300 Enrolled for Course of Study at Collingswood-Professor Amos Flake Speaks

COLLINGSWOOD, N. J., July 12 .- The State summer school at Collingswood held its first session this morning. The session was opened with an address by Prof. Amos Fizke, the head principal, and supervising principal of the public achools here, after which a patriotic program was carried out by members of the school and faculty. Miss Sarah A. Dymes, of the Trenton Normal School, spake on "Approaches to

ATLANTIC BOARDWALK ON BIAS IN FUTURE

Famed Wooden Way Overlaid in Manner to Relieve Foot Pressure

BOY SCOUTS AID HOOVER

Card Parties and Varied Social Activities Mark Happenings of Present Week

ATLANTIC CITY, July 12. Atlantic City's Boardwalk in the future will be on the bias. That is the decision reached after visitors have tried out the newly decked block at the foot of St. James Place, where the planks are laid diagonally. This new mode of topping the wooden way promises to be a sure cure for "Boardwalk feet." an aliment with which thousands of pedestrians are annually afflicted. The bias cecking is much smoother than boards laid horizontally and there is no opportunity for heels to be caught in the cracks that were caused by the wide boards becoming rounded at the edges.

edges.

Keeping the Boardwalk in repair is one
Keeping the Boardwalk in Atlantio Keeping the Boardwalk in repair is one of the most expensive items in Atlantic City's budget. For a long time it looked as though some substitute would have to be found for timber, which is becoming scarce, but the new method of decking has in a measure solved the problem, inasmuch as wherever it has been tried the walk has been found to wear nearly a hundred per cent better. The famous esplanade will not be entirely redecked this autumn, but when the Walk needs repairs the work will be done with narrow pine beards placed diagonally.

boards placed diagonally.

Boy Scouts began yesterday to distribute cards devised by Herbert Hoover to enlist housewives in the conservation of food. The municipal market, to be organized by the Atlantic City committee for home defense as a means of helping the farmer to eliminate wants and to lower the prices. eliminate waste and to lower the prices of fruit and vegetables, will be opened the middle of August, according to Mrs. Jacob H. Bothwell, chairman of this branch of the committee.

Among the theatrical folks on the Walk yesterday were George Broadhurst, George Arliss, Max Marcin, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mann, Emmet Corrigan and Samuel Ship-

Chelsea cottagers are holding a series of porch parties to prepare fancy novelties for the seventeenth annual sale to be staged for the benefit of All Saints Church, at Kenton Hall, Wednesday, July 25, from 10 a, m. to 6 p. m. The Rev. John W. Williams is rector of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Clarance Miller are at the Hotel Chelsea for the summer. Miss Gertrude Hollis is visiting Mrs. H. W. Taylor at the same hotel. T. Clayton Strawbridge and Miss Ruth Marshall have ed Mrs. Frederic H. Strawbridge at the Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Quay have taken apartments at the Gladstone for the sum-mer. Miss Mary W. Lincoln, of Ridley Park, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Hause at the Marthorough-Blenheim. Mrs. William Lanahan, of Baltimore, is occupying the Brighton Villa, where sha will entertain a series of house parties. She is accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Nash, and her attractive niece, Miss Kate Carroll Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hardenbrook and Miss Dorothy Hardenbrook are at the Penn-hurst for the summer. Congressman and Mrs. Daniel V. Stephens are spending the week at the Traymore Professor and Mrs. Oscar C. Carter are here for the entire season. Mr. and Mrs. James Bew, 2d, are receiv-

the congratulations on the birth of Mrs. Bew is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

David Fitzsimmons.
Miss Gertrude Miller will entertain at bridge Friday afternoon at her cottage, 5

South Providence avenue.
Dr. and Mrs. Harry Weaver have taken cottage in Chelsea for the summer.
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schulte and their daughters, Mrs. Perrin and Miss Schulte, are spending the summer at their cottage, South Marion avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Percival Johnson, Miss. Margaret Johnson and Joseph Johnson have opened their seashore home.

Municipal Band plays at Rector and Mis-Free heli streets. Philadelphia Band plays at City Hall

Fairmount Park Band plays at Lemon Open-air meeting in Fotterall Square, contucted by Y. M. C. A. and Brotherho he Gaston Presbyterian Church, 8 o'clock

Laws fete on grounds of the Church of orpus Christi, Twenty-ninth street and

Loyal Orange Association outing, Wood-Corner-stone laying at First Christian hurch, Tenth street and Northeast Boule-

The Herribay CONTINUOUS 11:15 A. M. 11:15 P. M.

MARKET Above 16TH MARY PICKFORD "THE LITTLE AMERICAN" COMING—EARLY IN SEPTEMBER GOLDWYN PICTURES THIS MEANS—NEW IDEAS— WORKS OF NOTED ARTISTS PALACE 10 A. M. to 11:15 F. M.
THE TALK OF THE TOWN

"ON TRIAL Adapted from the Biggest Hit in Years ARCADIA CHESTNUT Below 10TH 10:18 A. M., 12, 2, 8:45. 5:45. 7:45 4 9:45 P. M. "AT FIRST SIGHT"

REGENT MARKET Below 11TH 11 A. M. to 11:15 F. M. Dally, 10c; Even., 15c. VIOLA DANA "ALADDING OTHER LAMP" VICTORIA MARKET Above 6TH PRICES 19e, 20e, 20e, Douglas Fairbanks WILD AND WOOLLY WOLLY WILD AND OBST

GLOBE Theatre MARKET A VAUDEVILLE CONTINUOUS 11 A. N. to 11 P. M. "Sunnyside of Broadway

Cross Keys Daily 2:20, 16c 20, 20c "LADY-VILLE MINSTRELS" B. F. KEITH'S Cheetnat and lets are summer engagement extraordinant

NORA BAYES