FRANKFORD NINES WAGE CLOSE RACE

St. John's and Phil Kearney Start the Second Half on Even Terms

WINNER HARD TO PICK

The second half of the season's schedule in the Frankford Suburban League will be inaugurated tomorrow. At the present time there is a deadlock for first place between Phil Kearney and St. John's. Those clubs have played consistent ball since the opening of the season and have won twelve and ten games, respectively. The race has been a real nip and tuck affair, with the pair virtually at a deadlock. Phil Kearney forged to the front last night when Frankford 4-A handed St. John's a big surprise in the morning game. John's going was even for eight rounds with the score, but Frankford 4-A rallied in the ninth and batted out four runs, easily winning and blanking St. John's.

ONE OF JAWN EVERS'S HARD LUCK DAYS

The "most hard luck player in the world" has had many tough breaks on and off the field. In the above picture The Crab is seen being carried from the field by Rabbit Maranville and Fred Mitchell, after Evers had been injured during a game in Boston in 1915.

BINGLES AND BUNGLES

To Bobby Wallace They said you were through, old timer; They alleged you'd lost your money; And they passed you into the discard, As a relic of low times. But I see you've come back, old timer, To show them a thing or two; You've forgotten more inside baseball Than most of them ever knew.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT TODAY—The Battling D's—Bates and Bodie. Their emphatic slugging led the A's to their fourth consecutive victory. Bates walloped safely thrice in five at-bats, and Bodie got one more hit in the same number of chances.

While the Mackmen are pondering the pill proposition, the pitching staff, as a whole, is slipping. Jim Johnson had to be benched yesterday after working the first two batters in the third.

The Macks are not doing so badly. Today's percentage column shows the Conqueror "B" of the entire season for last year. Eighty more games are to be played.

Jim Haby, Indian wiggler, scored his seventh shut-out of the season against Washington.

Sports Editor Evening Ledger: Sit—There is a man on second base and the batter hits the ball to shortstop. The runner on first is thrown out at first and the runner on second starts for second. The first baseman then throws the ball to second. Must the second baseman tag the runner or the base? H. H.

The runner must be tagged because a play had been completed at first base. To cause a forefoot or start a double play, the ball first must be thrown to second and then to first base.

Without the Indians and the Reds; they are trying to make it an Ohio world's series.

Five out of six is the score for the White Elephants on their present western invasion—three out of four from the White Sox and two straight from the Browns.

Walter Johnson has a good idea of what life is like for the Indians. The Cleveland Indians strayed him yesterday.

Jawn Evers has been playing only sixteen years, on his long experience on the diamond should help the Phils. He weighs less than 140 pounds, and they do say that it takes a big man to play ball.

There is nothing wrong with the Yankees except that the can't win ball games. Outside of that, Bill Donovan has a great club.

Howard Ehmke has Jack Barry's coat tied to a goal. Whenever he pitches for Detroit Boston is whipped before she starts.

Johns Dundee made his infield hit count, by bunting 'em, and he was able to win by the slight margin of a run, even though George Chaney eluded out the extra-laggers.

The Cincinnati Reds repudiated the Giants twice in the same place.

Hans Wagner was given a loving cup by Charley Ehmke yesterday, in celebration of Wagner's return to the big show. The cup was a charm for the Pirates and they won a close game.

The Cardinals won two games from Boston, which kept them in third place. Fourth place is not the Cardinal idea.

Sports Editor Evening Ledger: Sit—There is a man on second base and the first baseman plays in for a punt. Batter hits to first baseman, who hits the runner on second, and then waits for the runner to tag him with the ball. The batter runs past way and then turns back toward the plate, making it possible for the man on second to start for third. A states that the runner is out for safe until he is touched with the ball or the ball is thrown to first base. Who wins? T. R.

B wins. The White Sox dealt Bill Donovan two hands off the bottom of the deck and returned to the lead.

Two blows by Neale enabled him to shove out Greb and take his place as fifth National League pitcher.

Caldwell May Go to Sox CHICAGO, July 12.—The White Sox are willing to take Bill Caldwell off the hands of the Yankees. When the Yankees reached town, Manager Rowland approached Donovan regarding Caldwell and offered him the pick of Eddie Murray or John Collins, outfielders, for the erratic pitcher.

You want Taste—why pay for Import Duty?

The Import Duty on foreign-grown tobacco does nothing for cigarettes—except make them cost more than they should.
