

COLLINGSWOOD'S JUVENILE RED CROSS WORKERS

On sewing days many of them can be found at headquarters aiding their mothers. In the picture are Constance Ohl, Gladys Sanville, Dorothy Rogers, Geraldine Langrell, Elizabeth Rosenthal, Marian Lapp, Katherine Lapp, Marian Lagerman, Edna Griffenberg, Dorothy Sheppard, Catherine Baseler, Dorothy Greenfield, Gretchen Cory, Katherine Crouch, Mervel Smith, Bettie Miller, Ethel Oliver, Rosemary Stanley and Eloine Carr.

COLLECT TOLL FROM WESTMONT BASEBALL FANS

These girls are raising funds for the Red Cross through their attendance at all baseball games on the grounds of the Field Club in the New Jersey town. Front row, left to right, are Anna McLaughlin, Katherine Anthony and Ruth Taylor. Back row—Marie Traynor, Anna Bingham, Harriet Alburger, Clara Anthony, Katherine Kelner, Helen Bentley and Mary Moore.

A "reg'lar feller" is Master Daniel Clearfield, of 522 West Venango street. His age is six months, his weight twenty pounds and his disposition of the best.

THE OPEN SEASON FOR WADING IS HERE

Scenes such as this at Starr Garden are enacted nearly every day in summer at the various recreation centers throughout the city.

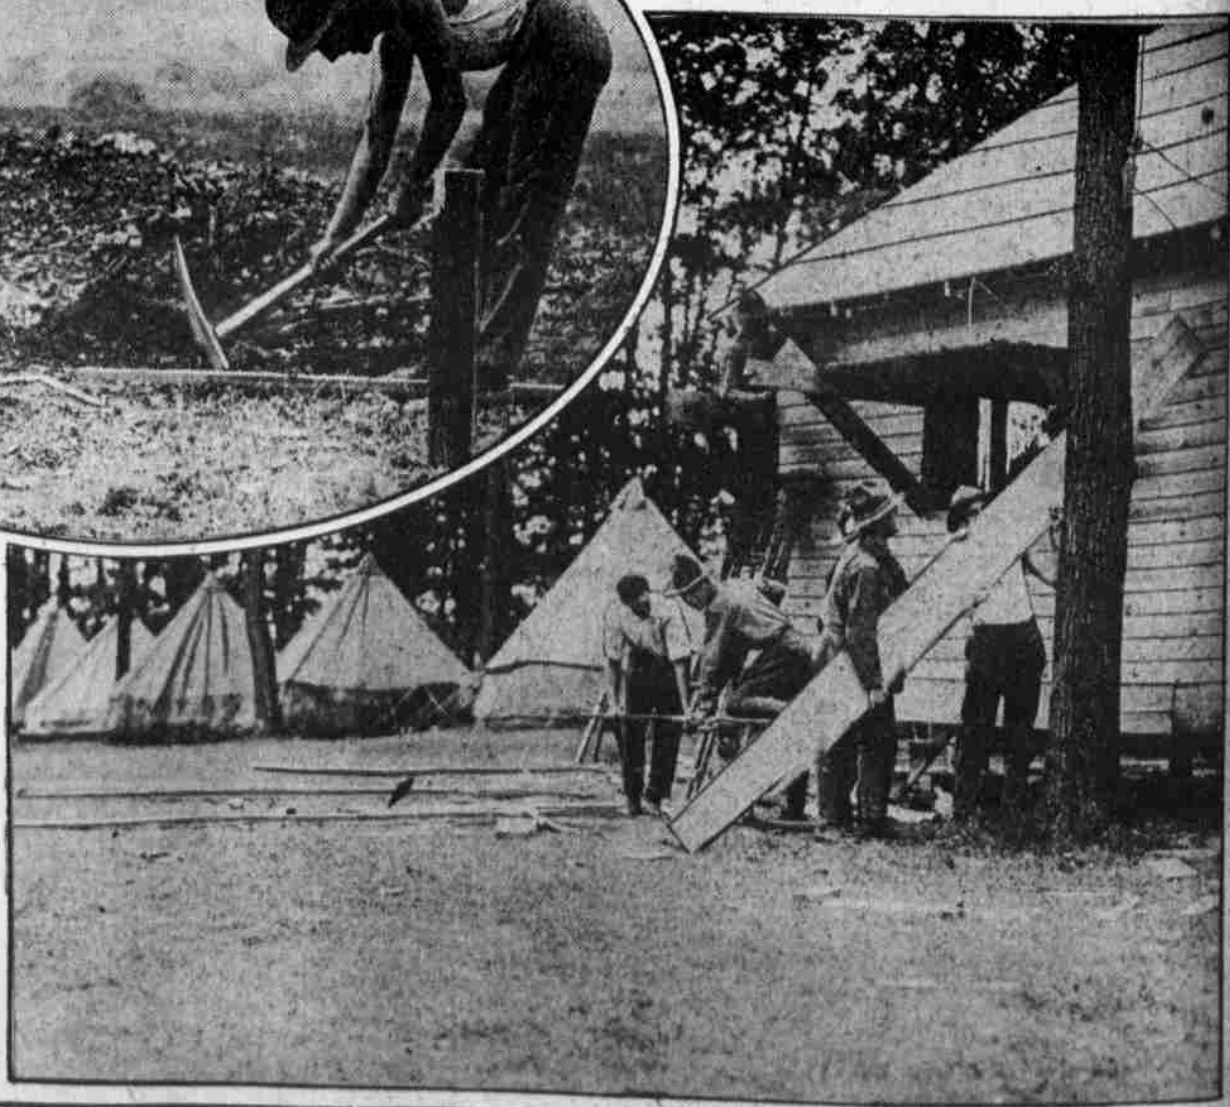

Photo from International Film Service.
ITALIANS CROSSING THE ISONZO

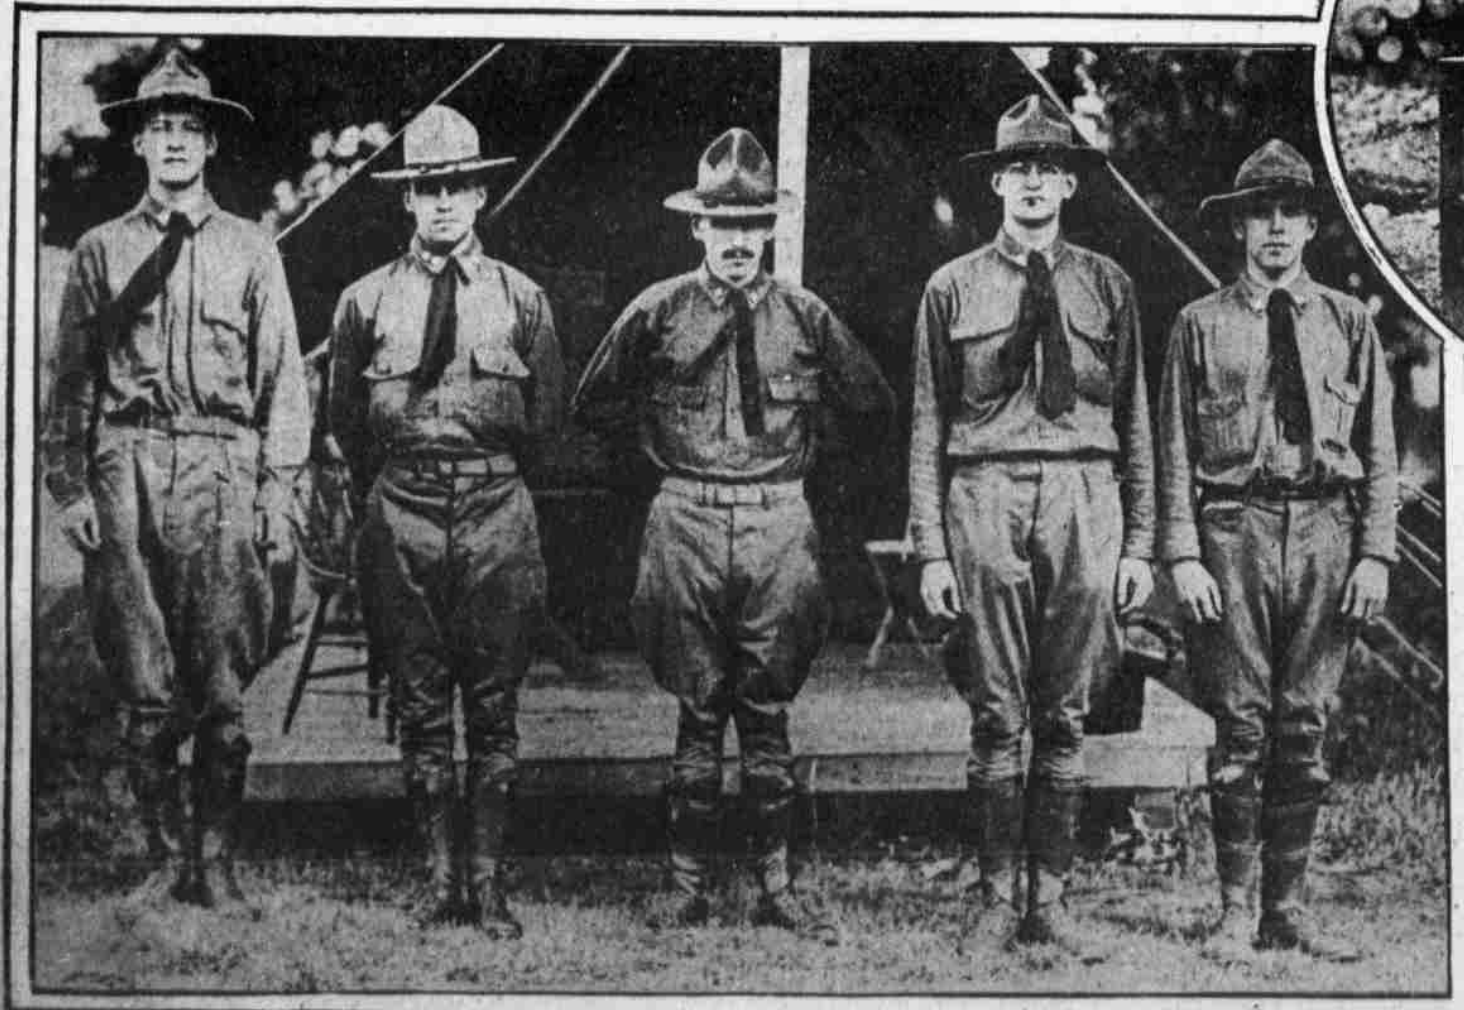

The photograph well illustrates the difficulties that beset General Cadorna in his operations against the Austrians. In this case he was forced to resort to a swinging bridge to pass the river.

Cadets of the Hill School at Pottstown laying a drain on the outskirts of their encampment.

CADETS BUILDING BARRACKS FOR OFFICERS OF THE HILL SCHOOL BATTALION
That the summer vacation months might not be lost in this period of the nation's need for young men trained in military tactics, the Pottstown institution is continuing its military instruction by means of an encampment on the school farm.

OFFICERS IN COMMAND OF THE HILL SCHOOL ENCAMPMENT AT POTTSTOWN
Left to right are Lieutenant of Cadets H. R. Drowne, Jr., of the Princeton battalion; Lieutenant J. A. Weeks, from the United States Military Academy; Captain E. W. Macy, commandant at the Hill School; Lieutenant of Cadets L. E. Wilson, of the Yale battery, and Lieutenant of Cadets S. Abbott, of the Princeton battery.