

PHILADELPHIA MARKETS

DUBLIN MEETING TO SOLVE HOME RULE

IMPORTANT DATES AND DATA THE HISTORIANS OVERLOOKED

By P. E. SUMNER

FIGHT ON FOOD BILL

But House Declines to Accept Any of Senate Amendments

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Parliamentary tactics to delay sending the Administration food bill to conference were abandoned by House Republicans this afternoon. By a vote of 193 to 101 the plan of Chairman Lamer of the House Agriculture Committee prevailed.

LANGHORNE GIRLS' FATHER APPORTIONS HIS ESTATE

RICHMOND, Va., July 25.—Unwilling to chance difficulties in the settlement of his estate after his death, C. D. Langhorne, of Greenwood, Albemarle County, Va., father of the well-known "Langhorne sisters," has filed a deed of conveyance in the Chancery Court here, in which the estate, valued at more than $1,000,000, is placed with a trust company to be administered according to the provisions of the deed.

ROOKIE, AS HUMAN ROPE, MAKES GOOD IN HERO ROLE

NEW YORK, July 25.—Joseph Byrne, a recruit of the Sixty-ninth Regiment, earned the hero class last night feet first. Margaret Gentry, four years old, helped him by toppling into a sewer manhole in front of her home.

Representatives of Varied Interests Discuss Situation Behind Closed Doors

ULSTER "THERE," AS USUAL

Delegate Insists That Six Counties Be Excluded From Any Scheme to Be Considered

DUBLIN, July 25.—Ninety-odd Irishmen met behind closed doors here today to undertake settlement of the Irish question. The meeting represented the most striking effort ever made to dispose of that 700-year-old issue and is believed to offer greater hope than any previous one, since it is in the hands of the Irish themselves.

NEW YORK BUTTER AND EGGS

CLOSING LIVE STOCK PRICES

NEW YORK COFFEE MARKET

TO FACE U-BOAT PERIL AGAIN

Chester Man, in Three Sinkings, Will Resume Seafaring Life

3 NEGROES LYNCHED IN SOUTH

Two Hanged by Mob for Threatening White Employer

REACTORS OVERCOME TENDENCY TO ADVANCE AND PRICES GO STILL LOWER

COTTON BELT WEATHER CONDITIONS

COTTON CLOSURES WEAK AFTER IRREGULAR DAY

NEW YORK, July 25.—The cotton market today was quiet, 20 points lower, at 25.15c. No sales.

REACTORS OVERCOME TENDENCY TO ADVANCE AND PRICES GO STILL LOWER

NEW YORK, July 25.—The cotton market today was quiet, 20 points lower, at 25.15c. No sales.

REACTORS OVERCOME TENDENCY TO ADVANCE AND PRICES GO STILL LOWER

NEW YORK, July 25.—The cotton market today was quiet, 20 points lower, at 25.15c. No sales.

REACTORS OVERCOME TENDENCY TO ADVANCE AND PRICES GO STILL LOWER

NEW YORK, July 25.—The cotton market today was quiet, 20 points lower, at 25.15c. No sales.

REACTORS OVERCOME TENDENCY TO ADVANCE AND PRICES GO STILL LOWER

NEW YORK, July 25.—The cotton market today was quiet, 20 points lower, at 25.15c. No sales.

REACTORS OVERCOME TENDENCY TO ADVANCE AND PRICES GO STILL LOWER

NEW YORK, July 25.—The cotton market today was quiet, 20 points lower, at 25.15c. No sales.

REACTORS OVERCOME TENDENCY TO ADVANCE AND PRICES GO STILL LOWER

NEW YORK, July 25.—The cotton market today was quiet, 20 points lower, at 25.15c. No sales.

REACTORS OVERCOME TENDENCY TO ADVANCE AND PRICES GO STILL LOWER

NEW YORK, July 25.—The cotton market today was quiet, 20 points lower, at 25.15c. No sales.

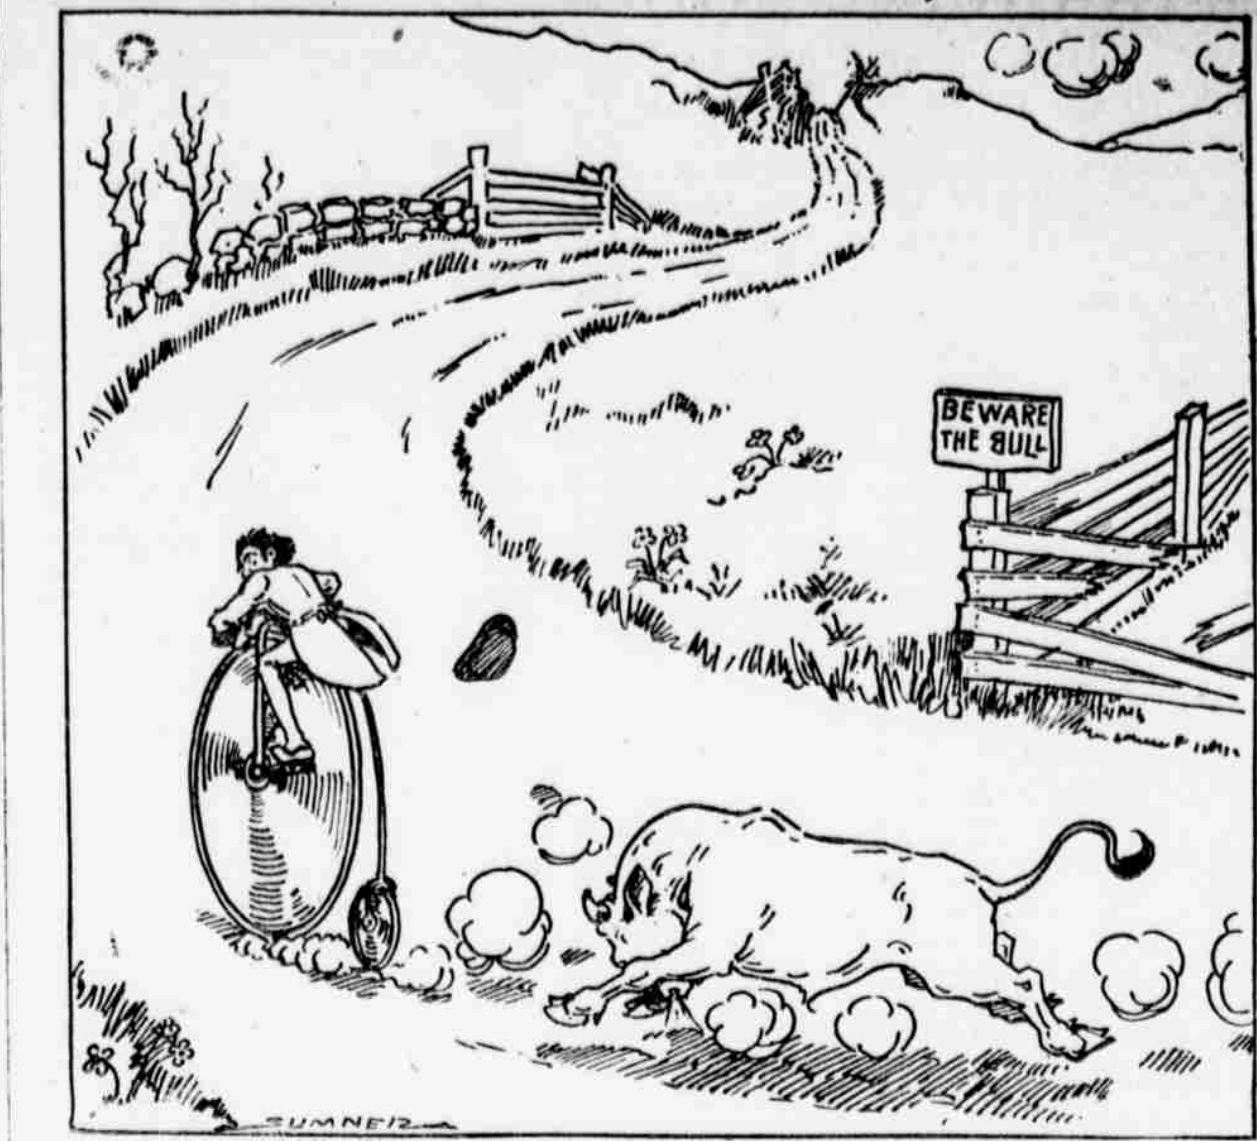

REACTORS OVERCOME TENDENCY TO ADVANCE AND PRICES GO STILL LOWER

NEW YORK, July 25.—The cotton market today was quiet, 20 points lower, at 25.15c. No sales.

REACTORS OVERCOME TENDENCY TO ADVANCE AND PRICES GO STILL LOWER

NEW YORK, July 25.—The cotton market today was quiet, 20 points lower, at 25.15c. No sales.

REACTORS OVERCOME TENDENCY TO ADVANCE AND PRICES GO STILL LOWER

Thomas A. Ford conceives the idea of applying motor power to bicycles.

COLBY'S NAME HELD UP; HURLEY PASSED

Senate Committee Delays Action at Request of New York Senators

H. C. BEATTIE, 3D, INHERITS

Son of Man Electrocuted for Wife Murder Gets $10,000

GOVERNORS OF EIGHT STATES CONDEMN I. W. W.

Send Representative to Ask President's Aid in Squelching Riot Activities

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

ELKTON, Md., July 25.—Walter Croak and Mamie Williams, Philadelphia; George R. Epp and Margaret Magill, Malvern, Pa.; Norman M. Jester, Atlantic City, and Thelma Fagan, Pleasantville, N. J., and Edwin G. Pearson and Besse Denny, Elkton, were granted marriage licenses here this morning.

SCOVILLE COMPANY INCREASES DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, July 25.—The Scoville Manufacturing Company declared a monthly dividend of 15 per cent, payable August 1 to stock of record July 25.

TOO LATE FOR CLASSIFICATION

REAL ESTATE FOR RENT—NEW JERSEY

SEASIDE PARK, N. J.—Furnished cottage, like new, 7 rooms; will rent by week; near ocean.

WICKHAM, 3216 Market st. Baring 2187.

OUR FORMER GERMAN AMBASSADOR, JAMES W. GERARD, SAYS:

"I AM writing what should have been the last chapter as the foreword of this series of articles, because I want to bring home to our people the gravity of the situation; because I want to tell them that the military and naval power of the German Empire is unbroken. Americans do not grasp either the magnitude or the importance of the starvation of our allies than of the starvation of the Germans. . . . We are engaged in a war against the greatest military power the world has ever seen; against a people whose country was for so many centuries a theatre of devastating wars that fear is bred into the very marrow of their souls, making them ready to submit their lives and fortunes to an autocracy which for centuries has ground their faces, but which has promised them as a result of the war not only security, but riches untold and the dominion of the world; a people which, as from a high mountain, has looked upon the cities of the world and the glories of them and has been promised these cities and their glories by the devils of autocracy and of war. . . . We stand in great peril, and only the exercise of ruthless realism can win this war for us. . . . If we had stayed out and the war had been drawn or won by Germany we would have been attacked, and that while Europe stood grinning by. . . . I TELL SOMETHING OF THE REAL GERMANY not only that my readers may understand the events of the last three years, but that they may judge what is likely to happen in our future relations with that country."

For Foreword to "My Four Years in Germany," by former Ambassador James W. Gerard, which will be published as a serial by the Philadelphia Public Ledger, beginning with the issue of Sunday, August 5. Order the Public Ledger from your carrier, or send order with name and address to the Public Ledger Company, Box 1526-C, and carrier will be notified.

OUR FORMER GERMAN AMBASSADOR, JAMES W. GERARD, SAYS:

"I AM writing what should have been the last chapter as the foreword of this series of articles, because I want to bring home to our people the gravity of the situation; because I want to tell them that the military and naval power of the German Empire is unbroken. Americans do not grasp either the magnitude or the importance of the starvation of our allies than of the starvation of the Germans. . . . We are engaged in a war against the greatest military power the world has ever seen; against a people whose country was for so many centuries a theatre of devastating wars that fear is bred into the very marrow of their souls, making them ready to submit their lives and fortunes to an autocracy which for centuries has ground their faces, but which has promised them as a result of the war not only security, but riches untold and the dominion of the world; a people which, as from a high mountain, has looked upon the cities of the world and the glories of them and has been promised these cities and their glories by the devils of autocracy and of war. . . . We stand in great peril, and only the exercise of ruthless realism can win this war for us. . . . If we had stayed out and the war had been drawn or won by Germany we would have been attacked, and that while Europe stood grinning by. . . . I TELL SOMETHING OF THE REAL GERMANY not only that my readers may understand the events of the last three years, but that they may judge what is likely to happen in our future relations with that country."

OUR FORMER GERMAN AMBASSADOR, JAMES W. GERARD, SAYS:

"I AM writing what should have been the last chapter as the foreword of this series of articles, because I want to bring home to our people the gravity of the situation; because I want to tell them that the military and naval power of the German Empire is unbroken. Americans do not grasp either the magnitude or the importance of the starvation of our allies than of the starvation of the Germans. . . . We are engaged in a war against the greatest military power the world has ever seen; against a people whose country was for so many centuries a theatre of devastating wars that fear is bred into the very marrow of their souls, making them ready to submit their lives and fortunes to an autocracy which for centuries has ground their faces, but which has promised them as a result of the war not only security, but riches untold and the dominion of the world; a people which, as from a high mountain, has looked upon the cities of the world and the glories of them and has been promised these cities and their glories by the devils of autocracy and of war. . . . We stand in great peril, and only the exercise of ruthless realism can win this war for us. . . . If we had stayed out and the war had been drawn or won by Germany we would have been attacked, and that while Europe stood grinning by. . . . I TELL SOMETHING OF THE REAL GERMANY not only that my readers may understand the events of the last three years, but that they may judge what is likely to happen in our future relations with that country."

OUR FORMER GERMAN AMBASSADOR, JAMES W. GERARD, SAYS:

"I AM writing what should have been the last chapter as the foreword of this series of articles, because I want to bring home to our people the gravity of the situation; because I want to tell them that the military and naval power of the German Empire is unbroken. Americans do not grasp either the magnitude or the importance of the starvation of our allies than of the starvation of the Germans. . . . We are engaged in a war against the greatest military power the world has ever seen; against a people whose country was for so many centuries a theatre of devastating wars that fear is bred into the very marrow of their souls, making them ready to submit their lives and fortunes to an autocracy which for centuries has ground their faces, but which has promised them as a result of the war not only security, but riches untold and the dominion of the world; a people which, as from a high mountain, has looked upon the cities of the world and the glories of them and has been promised these cities and their glories by the devils of autocracy and of war. . . . We stand in great peril, and only the exercise of ruthless realism can win this war for us. . . . If we had stayed out and the war had been drawn or won by Germany we would have been attacked, and that while Europe stood grinning by. . . . I TELL SOMETHING OF THE REAL GERMANY not only that my readers may understand the events of the last three years, but that they may judge what is likely to happen in our future relations with that country."

OUR FORMER GERMAN AMBASSADOR, JAMES W. GERARD, SAYS:

"I AM writing what should have been the last chapter as the foreword of this series of articles, because I want to bring home to our people the gravity of the situation; because I want to tell them that the military and naval power of the German Empire is unbroken. Americans do not grasp either the magnitude or the importance of the starvation of our allies than of the starvation of the Germans. . . . We are engaged in a war against the greatest military power the world has ever seen; against a people whose country was for so many centuries a theatre of devastating wars that fear is bred into the very marrow of their souls, making them ready to submit their lives and fortunes to an autocracy which for centuries has ground their faces, but which has promised them as a result of the war not only security, but riches untold and the dominion of the world; a people which, as from a high mountain, has looked upon the cities of the world and the glories of them and has been promised these cities and their glories by the devils of autocracy and of war. . . . We stand in great peril, and only the exercise of ruthless realism can win this war for us. . . . If we had stayed out and the war had been drawn or won by Germany we would have been attacked, and that while Europe stood grinning by. . . . I TELL SOMETHING OF THE REAL GERMANY not only that my readers may understand the events of the last three years, but that they may judge what is likely to happen in our future relations with that country."

OUR FORMER GERMAN AMBASSADOR, JAMES W. GERARD, SAYS:

OUR FORMER GERMAN AMBASSADOR, JAMES W. GERARD, SAYS:

"I AM writing what should have been the last chapter as the foreword of this series of articles, because I want to bring home to our people the gravity of the situation; because I want to tell them that the military and naval power of the German Empire is unbroken. Americans do not grasp either the magnitude or the importance of the starvation of our allies than of the starvation of the Germans. . . . We are engaged in a war against the greatest military power the world has ever seen; against a people whose country was for so many centuries a theatre of devastating wars that fear is bred into the very marrow of their souls, making them ready to submit their lives and fortunes to an autocracy which for centuries has ground their faces, but which has promised them as a result of the war not only security, but riches untold and the dominion of the world; a people which, as from a high mountain, has looked upon the cities of the world and the glories of them and has been promised these cities and their glories by the devils of autocracy and of war. . . . We stand in great peril, and only the exercise of ruthless realism can win this war for us. . . . If we had stayed out and the war had been drawn or won by Germany we would have been attacked, and that while Europe stood grinning by. . . . I TELL SOMETHING OF THE REAL GERMANY not only that my readers may understand the events of the last three years, but that they may judge what is likely to happen in our future relations with that country."

OUR FORMER GERMAN AMBASSADOR, JAMES W. GERARD, SAYS:

"I AM writing what should have been the last chapter as the foreword of this series of articles, because I want to bring home to our people the gravity of the situation; because I want to tell them that the military and naval power of the German Empire is unbroken. Americans do not grasp either the magnitude or the importance of the starvation of our allies than of the starvation of the Germans. . . . We are engaged in a war against the greatest military power the world has ever seen; against a people whose country was for so many centuries a theatre of devastating wars that fear is bred into the very marrow of their souls, making them ready to submit their lives and fortunes to an autocracy which for centuries has ground their faces, but which has promised them as a result of the war not only security, but riches untold and the dominion of the world; a people which, as from a high mountain, has looked upon the cities of the world and the glories of them and has been promised these cities and their glories by the devils of autocracy and of war. . . . We stand in great peril, and only the exercise of ruthless realism can win this war for us. . . . If we had stayed out and the war had been drawn or won by Germany we would have been attacked, and that while Europe stood grinning by. . . . I TELL SOMETHING OF THE REAL GERMANY not only that my readers may understand the events of the last three years, but that they may judge what is likely to happen in our future relations with that country."

OUR FORMER GERMAN AMBASSADOR, JAMES W. GERARD, SAYS:

"I AM writing what should have been the last chapter as the foreword of this series of articles, because I want to bring home to our people the gravity of the situation; because I want to tell them that the military and naval power of the German Empire is unbroken. Americans do not grasp either the magnitude or the importance of the starvation of our allies than of the starvation of the Germans. . . . We are engaged in a war against the greatest military power the world has ever seen; against a people whose country was for so many centuries a theatre of devastating wars that fear is bred into the very marrow of their souls, making them ready to submit their lives and fortunes to an autocracy which for centuries has ground their faces, but which has promised them as a result of the war not only security, but riches untold and the dominion of the world; a people which, as from a high mountain, has looked upon the cities of the world and the glories of them and has been promised these cities and their glories by the devils of autocracy and of war. . . . We stand in great peril, and only the exercise of ruthless realism can win this war for us. . . . If we had stayed out and the war had been drawn or won by Germany we would have been attacked, and that while Europe stood grinning by. . . . I TELL SOMETHING OF THE REAL GERMANY not only that my readers may understand the events of the last three years, but that they may judge what is likely to happen in our future relations with that country."

OUR FORMER GERMAN AMBASSADOR, JAMES W. GERARD, SAYS:

"I AM writing what should have been the last chapter as the foreword of this series of articles, because I want to bring home to our people the gravity of the situation; because I want to tell them that the military and naval power of the German Empire is unbroken. Americans do not grasp either the magnitude or the importance of the starvation of our allies than of the starvation of the Germans. . . . We are engaged in a war against the greatest military power the world has ever seen; against a people whose country was for so many centuries a theatre of devastating wars that fear is bred into the very marrow of their souls, making them ready to submit their lives and fortunes to an autocracy which for centuries has ground their faces, but which has promised them as a result of the war not only security, but riches untold and the dominion of the world; a people which, as from a high mountain, has looked upon the cities of the world and the glories of them and has been promised these cities and their glories by the devils of autocracy and of war. . . . We stand in great peril, and only the exercise of ruthless realism can win this war for us. . . . If we had stayed out and the war had been drawn or won by Germany we would have been attacked, and that while Europe stood grinning by. . . . I TELL SOMETHING OF THE REAL GERMANY not only that my readers may understand the events of the last three years, but that they may judge what is likely to happen in our future relations with that country."

OUR FORMER GERMAN AMBASSADOR, JAMES W. GERARD, SAYS:

PUBLIC LEDGER The National Newspaper Published in Philadelphia