None of the five other members of the police force, scheduled for trial before the police board as the result of the recent gambling raid in South Philadelphia, has been suspended today.

The suspension order was reported and videly circulated following another "cleanp" promise given out by Mayor Smith an interview last night.

"I mean business and I want the police to know it." Mayor Smith said at that time, after threatening further "action" gainst the police.

Director Wilson today said that any po lice lieutenant or policeman who fails to rid the city of vice would have to suffer the consequences. He also added that Lieutenant Echtermeyer and the five police-men would come up for trial before the police board next Thursday.

SHIFT OF POLICEMEN On the night that the Young Men's Rewas raided, two policemen from the district commanded by Lieutenant Echtermeyer were shifted for three hours to the central part of the city. It was learned from a police official that this was done because the two policemen were known to be friendly with gamblers who frequented the club. After the raid the two policemen were ordered back to their station.

The best suit and new panama of James Adams, 1046 South Fifty-eighth street, to-day adorn a burglar who entered the Adams nome last night and outfitted himself from head to foot. Adams discovered the rob-bery when he got home early today. The burglar left his own clothes in a heap on the floor. There was one old suit, a pair of worn shoes, a battered soft hat and some other things.

Before dressing in Adams's clothing the burglar filled the bathtub and bathed luxuriously. Then he took one suit, a Panama nat, a pair of shoes, silk underwear, a re-rolver and $10 and left the house. District Detectives Printz and Quigley, of the Sixty-fifth street and Woodland avenue station, are searching for the burglar.

FOR 4TH OF JULY FETE COUNCILS TO GET NEW TRANSIT PACT SPEEDILY

Mayor and Political Leaders to Study Terms at Shore Conference

The new draft of the transit lease which the city will offer the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company will be put into the form of a city ordinance by City Connelly within the next two weeks and be ready then for immediate presentation to Councils in special session, according to the present plans of Mayor Smith and his transit advisers.

The Mayor remained in the city last night in order to study the lease draft and discuss it with a few of his close associates. This afternoon he will take the draft to Atlantic City with him, where he will remain until Tuesday.

Virtually all of the city's political leaders will be in Atlantic City over the week-endd, and it is expected that the Mayor will confer with these and discuss the terms of the new lease proposal. The Mayor, however, insists that no details of the agreement will be made public until the lease is in shape to present to Councils for action.

Discussing the situation, the Mayor said. "The draft of the agreement which be mes the basis of the consideration which is to be given by Councils to an agreement between the city and the transit company, has been placed in my hands. It is virtually complete so far as the work of Director Twining and A. L. Drum, of the transit company, who have been in conference for weeks, can make it. It is a voluminous document, and I shall require some time to give it a thorough study. I feel confident, however, that the agreement is now in such shape that within a short while it will be ready for submission to Councils.

"A meeting next week is improbable, but I feel confident that by the following week a meeting can be called I do not believe it advisable to delay consideration until the regular sessions of Councils begin in mid-September. Until the draft has been thoroughly studied I shall not be in a position to discuss it. In any event Councils first will be apprised of the tentative agreement which has been reached and the recom-mendations which I shall have to make. Thereafter there should be the fullest and freest public discussion of the agreement."

That the new draft will be acceptable to the transit company is definitely understood since it was worked out jointly by Transit Director Twining and A. L. Drum, con-sulting engineer for the company. The draft as it now is written embodies the harmon ized differences over which the company and the city split several months ago when the company's offer was analyzed by the Di-

STEEL COMPANY SUED FOR $100,000 ROYALTIES

Continuous Metal Refining Files Heavy Claim Against Lackawanna

The Continuous Metal Refininfi Company today brought suit in the United States District Court against the Lackawanna Steel Company, a New York corporation, for royalties in excess of $100,000, for the use royalties in excess of $100,000, for the use of private processes in the manufacture and treatment of steel and iron. In return for being permitted to use the private steel and iron processes the Lackawanna Steel Company, according to the bill filed in the suit, agreed to pay the Con-tinuous Company a royalty of ten cents a ton on all steel ingots manufactured under the inventions. It is alleged that the Lackawanna has not rendered a full ac-counting and refuses to do so. It is further alleged that the Lackawanna Company has been using some of the processes of the Continuous Company without paying any royalties. The defendant company maintains that it has made proper returns.

May or May Not Appear at Hearing of "Red Cross Class" First-Aid Instructor

The puzzle that "Dr." Edward Franklin Smith presents to Federal sleuths, in his peculiar vocation as first aid in war work instruction, that ended with his arrest, is no deeper than the equivocal attitude of Smith's wife, who was found today at 2127 North Eighth street. Smith was arrested yesterday on complaint of several respectable young women that he had injected drugs into their arms. They met him while he was organizing a "Red Cross class" in first aid work and posing as a graduate physi-cian and instructor. The girls will appear against Smith at a further hearing before United States Commissioner Long next Friday. Mrs. Smith, a pleasant-faced woman not more than twenty-five years old, is living at 2127 North Eighth street, a boarding house. "I didn't know a thing about this until saw it in the papers," she said. "I can't ay whether it is true or not, except that never knew my husband to drugs or even have any with him. Daniels Warns Against Unofficial Examinations of Vessels

Considerable trouble has been caused shipowners on the eastern and western coasts by self-styled agents and brokers posing as representatives of the Government and examining vessels of all kinds.

In many instances owners have gone considerable trouble and expense to allow such persons to inspect their vessels, haul-ing fires to allow the boilers to be examined and putting ships on the ways to per mit inspection of the hulls.

The activities of these bogus represen-tatives has been brought to the attention of Secretary of the Navy Daniels. Today he issued an order to the commandants of all naval districts calling attention to the practice of the impostors and announcing that the Government will not deal with any but the actual owners of ships and their regularly designated agents.

Citizens' Vigilance Committee Promises Arrests Soon-25 Bootleggers Held for Court

The Citizens' Vigilance Committee prom ises arrests in the near future of the pro-prietors of several small restaurants for selling intoxicants to sailors and soldiers Horace Geiger, chairman of the committee, says some of the restaurants send waiters out after drinks for sailors and soldiers and allow them to drink in their places while eating their meals. Investigators have been working on such cases for some time.

Twenty-five "bootleggers" are already being held for the September term of Fed-eral Court and arrests are being made every day. The indications are that the September term will be the busiest the Federal Court has had since the wholesale dope raids of several years ago.

WAR RELIEF AGENCIES TO COMBINE IN RED CROSS

Plans for Consolidation Being Considered by Emergency Aid and Other Organizations

The question of combining the independent organizations now working for war relief in Europe with the Red Cross is being seriously discussed.

After the first of September the Red Cross will be the only organization that can ship supplies to the war zones with-out a high charge. For this reason it will be more feasible for independent organizations to work through the Red Cross.

At the Emergency Aid it was said today that plans were under consideration, but nothing had been decided upon definitely. The Emergency Aid hopes to make some arrangement whereby the various branches under its supervision, such as the Escape. inder its supervision, such as the French ee, the British committee and will be permitted to send supplies committee. to their particular interests, as they have been doing up to this time.

The question will be settled some next week.

Counsel for the Birdseyes notified the court that his clients were out of town, but would return next week and surrender. The indictment charges the men with withdrawing $1,300,000 assets from the life and trust company, substituting bonds of un-certain value, and obtaining the Wash-ington Life Building under false pretenses. The Birdseyes and Montgomery are now under $10,000 bond on indictments returned substituting bonds against them in Pittsburgh.

U. S. "AGENTS" TO NAME GLASGOW ON BOTH TICKETS

Nomination Papers to Be Circulated for Both Republicans and Democrats

COMMITTEE IS ORGANIZED

Escape From Organization-Controlled Candidates for All Offices Is Aimed At

Nomination papers were circulated tolay with a view to place the name of Willlam A. Glasgow, Jr., upon both the Republican and the Democratic tickets as a candidate for the district attorneyship for the primary election of September 19. This action was taken in order to forestall any effort of the Republican Organization leaders to steal the Democratic nomination by diverting fake Republican votes into that olumn.

A nonpartisan committee of twenty-five ndependent citizens has prepared plans for bringing the desirability of Mr. Glasgow's election as District Attorney to the attention of the voters. After waiting a week for the Democratic city committee to take official action and initiate steps to nominate Mr. Glasgow, the committee decided that t we wise to place his candidacy upon a broader basis.

Roland S. Morris, newly chosen Ambaeador to Japan and former Democratic State chairman, said today that the choice of Mr. Glasgow as District Attorney was a public service of the first magnitude and an opportunity that citizens were not likely Thomas T. Nelson, a life-long friend of Mr. Glasgow, said that several members of the Democratic city committee had urged him to assure Mr. Glasgow of their heartiest support and to obtain, if possible, his acceptance of the nomination. It was said that it was recognized that Mr. Glasgow could only take the office at considerable financial sacrifice, but Mr. Nelson was of the opinion that Mr. Glasgow would of the opinion that Mr. Glasgow would weigh carefully the important questions incolved and if assured that it was the desire of the public as well as of his friends would not decline to make the fight. A meeting of the committee of twentyive was held today at the office of Robert Bright, in the Stephen Girard Building, r. Bright was chosen vice chairman and the chairmanship was left open for the present. Dr. Charles F. Taylor was chosen secretary of the committee. Most of the important reform movements of recent years are represented in this committee. which will include both Republicans and Democrate. Its purpose is to maintain a complete nonpartisan attitude on local matters, and after submitting good names at the primaries to them, leave the free choice entirely to the people, irrespective of what self-constituted leaders may or Among others interested in the organiza-tion of this committee are John J.
