"Our quota," said Mr. Cattell, "is too high and this is due to the methods employed by the War Department in ascertaining the city's population. Our population cestimates were based upon the registration for the National Army and an inquiry into the reports submitted by many draft boards discloses that allens were counted twice. This error swelled our registration from 176,000 to approximately 191,000, and using the latter figure as a basis the War Department estimated the city's population. Then the city's quota was based upon that fictitious or infated population, which gives us a quota that is unfair to the city. It means that about 2000 young men, in addition to what the National Army is entitled to from this city, must be contributed to the service." The causes which led Mayor Smith and Governor Brumbaugh to take this action are the haste of the War Department to general's office from sending out the district quotas for the State. Although this work is important, the bigger issue concerns the elimination of ap-proximately 2000 men from Philadelphia's draft list. How this number was tacked to the city's total by the War Department was explained today by E. J. Cattell, City

Stat'stician, who is gathering information from draft boards to substantiate the May-must be contributed to the service."

Mr. Cattell explained the discrepancy by illustrating how certain draft boards counted aliens twice. As an example one board, following instructions from the War Department, took its $100 registration cards and made an analysis to learn how many men were unfit for duty, how many men had dependents and also to determine the number of aliens. Then the board classified the conscripts under the following designations; white, colored and aliens.

The board referred to took the totals at the foot of three columns, namely, the total number of registered, the number of negroes and the number of aliens, and got a grand total of 4760. The 1600 aliens had been counted in the first analysis, so that the total sent to the war Department was 1600 to the counted to the war Department was 1600 to the counted to the same to the

LONG BATTLE WITH DEATH WON BY PLUCKY DOCTOR FOR BURNED GIRL

Victim of Eddystone Eplosion, Horribly Injured and Given Up by Experts, Owes Life to Woman Interne at Chester Hospital

Victory has at last attended the efforts of the forces which have been fighting threessly for weeks to save the life of Edna Bauske, twenty-two years old, 445 North Ninth street, Philadelphia, who was terribly burned in the explosion at the plant of the Eddystone Munitions Company on April 8.

Literally snatched from the laws of death.

Literally snatched from the jaws of death. Edna will be discarged next week from the Chester Hospital. She is the only remaining victim of the explosion in the hospital Much credit is given to a woman phy-sician—Dr. Marika Lambichi—for the saving of Edna's life. Doctor Lambichi, an interne at the hospital, and an energetic little woman with kindly eyes peering through heavy-rimmed spectacles, took an interest in the case when the charred, moaning little body of Edna was brought to the hospital. Everybody said there was no hope for Edna-half of the skin surface of her body was burned, and even in cases where a third of the skin surface is burned little hope is entertained by physicians of preserving life. But when Doctor Lambichi heard several leading medical experts say:
"The girl cannot live." She thrust out weapons of modern medical science to win her fight. Captain Walter Wilhelm, vice president and general manager of the Eddystone Company, and several other men employed at the plant contributed sections of their skin to the cause. These sections were grafted about the joints of the giri's arms so that she could regain the use of those members.

During the last month Edna improved so rapidly that her recovery no longer became a matter of doubt. She will carry many hideous scars to the grave, but Doctor Lambichi says she will soon become a healthy, vigorous girl. There will be no scars on her face. Edna was one of the most terribly injured in the explosion. She was in t middle of the awful "flash" in building of the munition plant.

Men, women and children by the thousands crowded the streets and front door steps despite the rain, all apparently eager to get relief from the torrid heat. Many were heard to say that they were cool for the first time in several days.

that she fizzes with it.

Departure of many physicians, nurses and nternes to the western battle front in Europe has greatly reduced the personnels of Philadelphia hospitals. Every effort is being made to remedy conditions so that Philadelphia would not be helpless if sudenly confronted with a disease epidemic.

Superintendent Daniel D. Test, of the Pennsylvania Hospital, estimated today that there was a 60 per cent loss in medical personnel in the Pennsylvania Hospital. "All who have remained," he said, "and Major J. B. Carnett, chief surgeon of the University Hospital and director of the University Hospital unit, now awaiting orders to sail for France, said: "We are suffering from a dearth of doctors at the University Hospital, just as they are elsewhere, but we expect to make that up by intense work on the part of those who remain. The specialists who have been accustomed to traveling to various points in the East for consultation work on big cases have given up this practice and are ap-plying their time to the hospital."

Licensed at Elkton to Wed ELKTON, Md., Aug. 3.—John Beliak and Elizabeth Gallagher, Joseph Merk and Mamie Ems and Winfield Sommers and Esther Snyder, all of Philadelphia, and Howard W. Barker and Alice E. Moss. Lynchburg. Va., were granted marriage licenses here this morning. Elmer A. Naigle and Jessie Tait, Philadelphia, were refused due to the prospective bridegroom being ship is a part of His plan.

There are three very poor reasons for man courting a girl—because she is pratty, because she is rich, or because she has acial position. If these things are incidental very well, but if they are the basis of the courtship, it is all wrong to start with.

There's nothing wrong in itself in courtship, if it is the innocent, spontaneous, natural courtship that is not afraid either of itself or of the world. But when the girl who is being courted finds that the young man is continuously growing more familiar in the words and actions, that he is losing sight both of the sanctity of the physical temple and the sacredness of the marriage relation, then she had better throw him over at once and be done with the marriage relation, then she had better throw him over at once and be done with it. She will save herself years of trouble and heartaches. That kind of a man will spend a lovely honeymoon with his bridebut he would do the same with any other attractive woman he might marry. And, as soon as the novelty has worn off, he will go hunting for another pratty from go hunting for another pretty face, with-out any regard for the young wife at home. You cannot expect to be happy and have a successful married life if you disregard the Bible injunction, "Be not unequally yoked together with unbelievers." In other words, Christian girls marry Christian young men.

Real love and mutual respect and a clear relative and motual respect and are the content of a true courtship and the greatest blessing of a long and perfect married life.

FLAG RAISING AND CARNIVAL

But They Do It at Expense of Housewives, Who Suffer Shortage of Water

The Parkside Republican Club, Fortieth and Poplar streets, will do its "bit" for the Red Cross tonight by staging a flag raising and street carnival on Mantua avenue, between Thirty-seventh and Thirtyeighth streets. An interesting program has been arranged for the evening and among its fatures will be a drill by a company of National Guardsmen and singing by Rational Guardsmen and singing by a neighborhood chorus.

Residents of the district are co-operating and from the tastily decorated verandas icc cream, candles, fancy goods and a variety of useful articles will be sold. The proceeds will be given to the Red Cross.

Will Russia Make Good?

Isaac F. Marcosson Discusses This Important Subject in Sunday's Public Ledger

66DUSSIA is today the world's puzzle. This does not mean that her future is uncertain. Politically, the nation has found itself. The difficulty lies with the Extremists now in control, who do not know what they want,' says Isaac F. Marcosson in answer to the much-discussed question, "Will Russia make good?"

Mr. Marcosson was fortunate enough to reach Russia immediately after the revolution. Therefore, he had a wonderful opportunity to study conditions as they existed in that new democracy.

In Sunday's Public Ledger he gives an intensely interesting story regarding Russia's internal condition. In closing he says that the future of Russia is in the hands of Kerensky because he knows the Russian and can sway him as no other. Read this

IN EFFORT TO CUT CITY'S QUOTA many boards, and as a result the city's population has been greatly expanded and its quota raised accordingly.

Aside from this, many districts in th city have not been given full credits for the number of men already in the service. Such credits would reduce quotas in dis-tricts where enlisting has been brisk and in many instances virtually eliminate them. Governor Brumbaugh has promised to rectify this error, and the Adjutant General's activity would indicate that this is to be done immediately.

The necessity of revising the quotas is obvious, according to City Statistician Cattell. "Let us take a district containing 4000 eligibles." he says. "Now, under the selective draft each man is subject to service and takes his chance in the army lottery. If that rule applied to every district in the country nobody cauld voice an objection, but it does not. For instance, in Philadelphia we have districts having a registration of 4000, and out of that number 2000 are aliens and not subject to service. Now, for the purpose of illustration, let us assume that this district must furnish 400 men for the army. If only 2000 men are eligible it means that each man has one chance in five to be drawn. Now, in districts throughout the South and other sections where there are few allens, a young man has one chance in ten, for virtually every man in the 4000 registered is subject to the draft.

"In Philadelphia we have 37,000 aliens

"In Philadelphia we have 37,000 aliens who are registered, so one can understand why Philadelphia must send a bigger percentage of its youth to the front than s centage of its youth to the front than scores of other cities. Couple that with the fact that more than 15,000 of our aliens have been counted twice and one can appreciate the necessity of having a revision of the Quaturn strikes at the heart of fauce trouble and reduces repair bills to a mini-mum. All wearing parts are renewable insuring service from the body of the fauce itself as long as the building stands. Write for booklet today.

Make sure of the number!

These days, when time never before meant so much to the business man, the temptation is to "cut corners."

In the use of the telephone, the tendency to trust to memory-to ask for Filbert 2971 when Filbert 2791 is wanted or to call Market 7000 when Lombard 7000 is the desired connection-has a particularly disturbing effect on the service of both the person calling and the person called in error.

The memory method is no "short cut." It is a time waster and is something which the public, in its own interest, should strive to avoid, especially in these abnormal times.
