Denouncing some Senators, Congressmen and newspaper editors as "standing where

Twelve Arrests Based on Violation of Liquor Sale Regulation

That the proprietress of an alleged disorderly house boasted to a Federal agent that she had no difficulty obtaining prothat she had he dimently obtaining pro-tecting was the testimony today when the woman had a hearing before United States Commissioner Long in the Federal Building. The hearing followed a raid on three questionable Tenderloin resorts made last night by Government officials.

V. A. Hegek, a Federal agent who was assigned to take a hand in the vice situation, was the chief witness against the woman, and testified that he was invited to visit her house last Tuesday night. "I asked her," said Hegek, "if I could invite other friends. She consented and informed me that I need not fear trouble because she could get all the protection she wanted." The woman was held on $1000 bail for

Other witnesses told how other houses were raided and presented evidence to justify the raids.

At a North Eleventh street address Federal agents arrested James Cody, said to be a Republican organization division leader in the Fourteenth Ward. Cody dashed to the top of the house and at-tempted to squirm through a skylight, but was dragged down and subdued after a struggle by Joseph McDevitt, a special agent for the local bureau of investigation for the United States Department of Jus-

The alleged proprietors of the three places raided were arrested on Federal warrants charging violation of the Federal act of May 18, which stipulates that liquor shall not be sold to men in uniform of the army and navy, and that disreputable houses shall not operate within five miles of an army or naval camp or post. Hearings were held by United States missioner Long.

INSPIRED BY VIGILANTES The raid was made at the instance of the Citizens' Vigilance Committee, of which Horace Gelger is chairman, Mr. Geiger said today that his commit-

HARRY STONE OUT OF COUNTY BOARD

Chief Clerk Has Tilt With Commissioner Kuenzel

PROTEGE OF DURHAM

Resignation Due to Handling of Veterans' Burial Funds

Harry J. Stone, a political heutenant of Mayor Toomas B. Smith, today resigned as chief clerk to the Board of County Comnissioners, following a lively tilt with Comnissioner Harry Kuenzel.

Stone, who was reappointed at the peronal request of the Mayor at the outset of the present administration, was originally appointed through the influence of the late Israel W. Durham. His resignation today caused a political flurry in City Hall. It had been expected for some time, because of the bitter personal feeling between blm and Commis sioner Kuenzel. Stone resigned as a direct result of the procedure in the County Commissioners office, he said, in handling the undertakers fees for burying war veterans.

The last Legislature amended the former law granting to families of deceased Civil and Spanish-American War veterans $50 for funeral expenses to $75 toward the cost of burial. Stone has appeared before the Finance Committee of Councils on several occa-sians, and before the summer recess of Councils induced the Finance Committee to require that the undertakers bring proper affidavits and guarantees of the cost of these funerals before they could collect the $75. Appropriation is made for this pur-Stone complained to the Finance Commit tee that the County Commissioners had per-mitted undertakers to collect for the fu-nerals from the families of the deceased and then collected the $75 from the County Commissioners through a loose system. He did not blame Kuenzel for the system, but did not blame Kuenzel for the system, but alleged today that when George F. Holmes, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, was absent from the city, Kuenzel had placed his O. K. on several of the warrants for paying the undertakers.

As a result of this, Stone said today, he sent his resignation in. Commissioners Holmes and Kuenzel held a long conference with Mayor Smith and Stone's resignation was accepted. demnities or to form a mid-European fede-ration under Germany's agency. What I said was that if Germany was victorious for city revenue.

"The agreement between the city of Philadelphia," he said, "and the United Gas Improvement Company, which is generally known as the gas lease, provides a erally known as the gas lease, provides a well defined program for the modification of the price of gas to the gas consumers of the city in which at stated intervals the price of gas per 1000 cubic feet may upon the decision of City Councils be reduced with the consequent decrease in the revenues of the city obtained from the sale of gas—in other words the city receives all above the amount at which gas could be sold to the consumer under the terms of the agreement—so that the whole subject is very intimately connected with the financial intimately connected with the financial problems with which the city authorities have to do, and it would be an unwarranted problems with which the city autorities have to do, and it would be an unwarranted criticism on my part to express an opinion.

"My sympathies are, however, naturally with the consumer, while our duties involve the determination of the quality of the gas and the accuracy of gas meters.

"At the present time the consumer pays $1 per thousand cubic feet, eighty cents of which is received by the United Gas Improvement Company and twenty cents goes into the city treasury. Obviously, if the consumer paid eighty cents per thousand cubic feet the city treasury would not receive the twenty cents per thousand feet, which amounted in the year 1915 to the considerable sum of $2.023,480.09.

"January 1, 1918, the price may be fixed at seventy-five cents per thousand. Should no change in psice be authorized it will be $1 per thousand cubic feet, twenty-five cents of which will be returned to the city treasury."

cents of which will be returned to the city treasury."

The demand is growing daily on the part of taxpayers that the five-cent reduction go to the consumer in the form of ninety-five-cent gas. There is indignation at the apparent lack of interest on the part of leading politicians in working for ninety-five-cent gas. It is argued that the saving of five cents would mean much to the consumer in this period of wartime prices. There are indications that the question will become a strong political issue next fail. Householders and taxpayers in all parts of the city are urging that no man be elected to Councils unless he places himself on record as being for a maximum price of ninety-five cents for gas.

Draft Mobilization Date May Be Put Off to Sept.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.

MOBILIZATION day for the drafted new national army, set for September 1, may have to be postponed. Provost Marshal General Crowder this afternoon stated that the new date probably would be September 4. Crowder expected to ask Secretary of War Baker tonight for permission to change the dates. The first hint of difficulty over September 1 came from transportation experts, who are in conference here trying to solve mobilization problems. They pointed out to Crowder that September 1 was Saturday and that the following Monday was Labor Day. The intervaning Sunday also is a period of heavy travel on railroads.

Plans for a nation-wide celebration

Plans for a nation-wide celebratic of mobilization day are suspende until a definite date is decided upo Crowder said.

While the War Department was recasting the draft regulations in an effort to prevent the wholesale exemption of married man from the new national army. Philadelphia draft boards smashed all records concern-ing the number of recruits examined, and at o'clock had accepted nearly 1400.

During the day more than 2400 men were examined. Approximately 60 per cent of that number proved to be physically fit to shoulder the responsibilities of active fighting men in the army of Uncle Sam.

Although no official tabulation of the total number of men accepted by the Philadelphia draft boards has been made, officials agree that since the machinery of the selective army act has been in operation about 7000 men have faced the physicians. Of this number approximately 4600 have been accepted.
