AMERICAN GUNNERS SINK GIANT U-BOAT

First of New 400-Foot Type Goes Down After 24-Hour Battle

NAVAJO INJURED IN FIGHT

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Aug. 24. AN ATLANTIC FORT, Aug. 24. The gun crew of the American oil tanker Navajo, who arrived here today on an American liner, announced today that they had sunk the first of the new giant 400-foot German submarines sent out to destroy Allied shipping. The fight, which lasted twenty-four hours, took place off the Irish coast, during which scores of shots were fired. fired.

The conning tower of the submarine was The conning tower of the submarine was shot away and she sank immediately. The Navajo suffered the loss of part of her stern and one lifeboat. She was later destroyed by fire. The Navajo left America the latter part of June for Europe. She entered the danger zone on July 4, when a U-boat came to the zone on July 4, when a U-boat came to the surface a few thousand yards to her star-board and began firing upon the tanker. This Navajo replied with three shells and the U-boat submerged. The tanker then began zig-zagging and saw no more of the U-boat until next morning. The submarine then reappeared a few miles astern. Be-fore she could overtake the Navajo, a sali-ing vessel came into sight and the subing vessel came into sight and the sub-marine stopped the chase and sank the saller. A second salling vessel was sunk, then the U-boat again attacked the Navajo, The Navajo gunners, after firing nineteen times, destroyed the submarine's conning tower with the twentleth shot. After the Navajo reached port and was repaired, she put to sea again and caught repaired, she put to sea again and caught fire when an oil pipe burst, the vessel being destroyed. News of the running fight between an American liner, which escaped, and a U-boat in the Irish Sea, in which eighty-five shots were fired, reached here today with the arrival of a slater ship of the liner. The fight occurred two weaks ago, but

Driving Mabel Trask, He Defeats St. Frisco in Freefor-All Trot

POP GEERS A WINNER

NARBERTH, Pa., Aug. 24. Walter Cox, of Dover, N. H., scored the fifth victory of the week today with Mabel Trask, defeating Pop Geers' St. Frisco and Zonrect, driven by Lon McDonal, in the free-for-all trot. The event went in straight heats to the New England trainer's entry. The time was 2:06 and 2:05 k. A new trotting race record for the Bel-mont track was set by Mabel Trask in the second heat, which was clocked in 2:0514. The free-for-all was a spectacular race, the Peter the Great mare winning by a head in the opening trip from Geers's St. Frisco. The New England trotter defeated St. Frisco by an eyelash in the second

Walter Cox took the stellar honors of the week, being the greatest race winner the week, being the greatest rate winner, his victory in the free-for-all and the 2:23 trot, making him a perfect driver.
