SCORE WILSON'S WAR ACTS

Republicans Rap Alien Exemption, Coal Price Fixing and Food Gouging

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Aug. 25.

Jamestown E. Watson, United States Senator from Indiana, was the principal speaker at the Lehigh County Republican meeting held today at Levan's, ten miles north of this city, which marked the opening of the campaign in Pennsylvania.

The other speakers were Lieutenant Gove-

The other speakers were Lieutenant Gov-nor Frank B. McClain, of Lancaster; aditor General Charles A. Snyder, of staville, and Ralph H. Schatz, candidate Pottaville, and Ralph H. Schatz, candidate for District Attorney. There was a large crowd, attracted by the fame of the orators, and an old-fashioned Lehigh County Turkey dinner. Colonel Harry C. Trexler, quartermaster general of Pennsylvania, was head of the reception committee.

There was considerable grievance voiced at President Wilson because he jumped intend of decreased the wires of anthracity.

stead of decreased the price of anthracite coal, and because the draft exempts foreigners. There was also a rap for Congressman Dewalt for failure to get proper credit for Lehigh's volunteer enlistments. An expression was voiced that the President for the vigorous prosecution of the war, ought to avail himself of the services of men likek Roosevelt and Goethals, and quit relying on men of mediocre ability appointed for political purposes during nted for political purposes during times. A hope was recorded that the dent would embargo cotton as well other goods to neutrals, so it would not into the hands of Germany to be made

As a campaign opener, there was lots of im to the meeting, which marked the com-lete reunion of the Republicans and Bull rs since the split of 1912. Fred E. twice Mayor of Allentown, who with Colonel Roosevelt and was ined with Colonel Roosever.

ected Congressman-at-large from Pennman of the committee on resolutions, while Claude T. Reno, former Assemblyman from Allentown, who was the Progressive county chairman, was chairman of the gathering.

Wisconsin Lawyer Joins "Dollar-a-Year" Colony in U. S. Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.— The "dollars-year" colony in Washington is growing. It is made up of business men, lawyers and It is made up of business men, lawyers and experts in many lines, who, enjoying independent incomes, want to "sit in" on the war game and pay their own expenses.

The latest addition is Arthur W. Fairchild, leader at the Wisconsin bar and a member of the firm of Miller, Mack & Fairchild. He has been commissioned to act as confidential adviser of Commissioner Joseph E. Davies, of the Federal Trade Commission, and chief assistant to Francis J. Hency, of San Francisco, general counsel for the commission, in its probe of food costs and distribution prices.
