

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAY'S INTERESTING HAPPENINGS

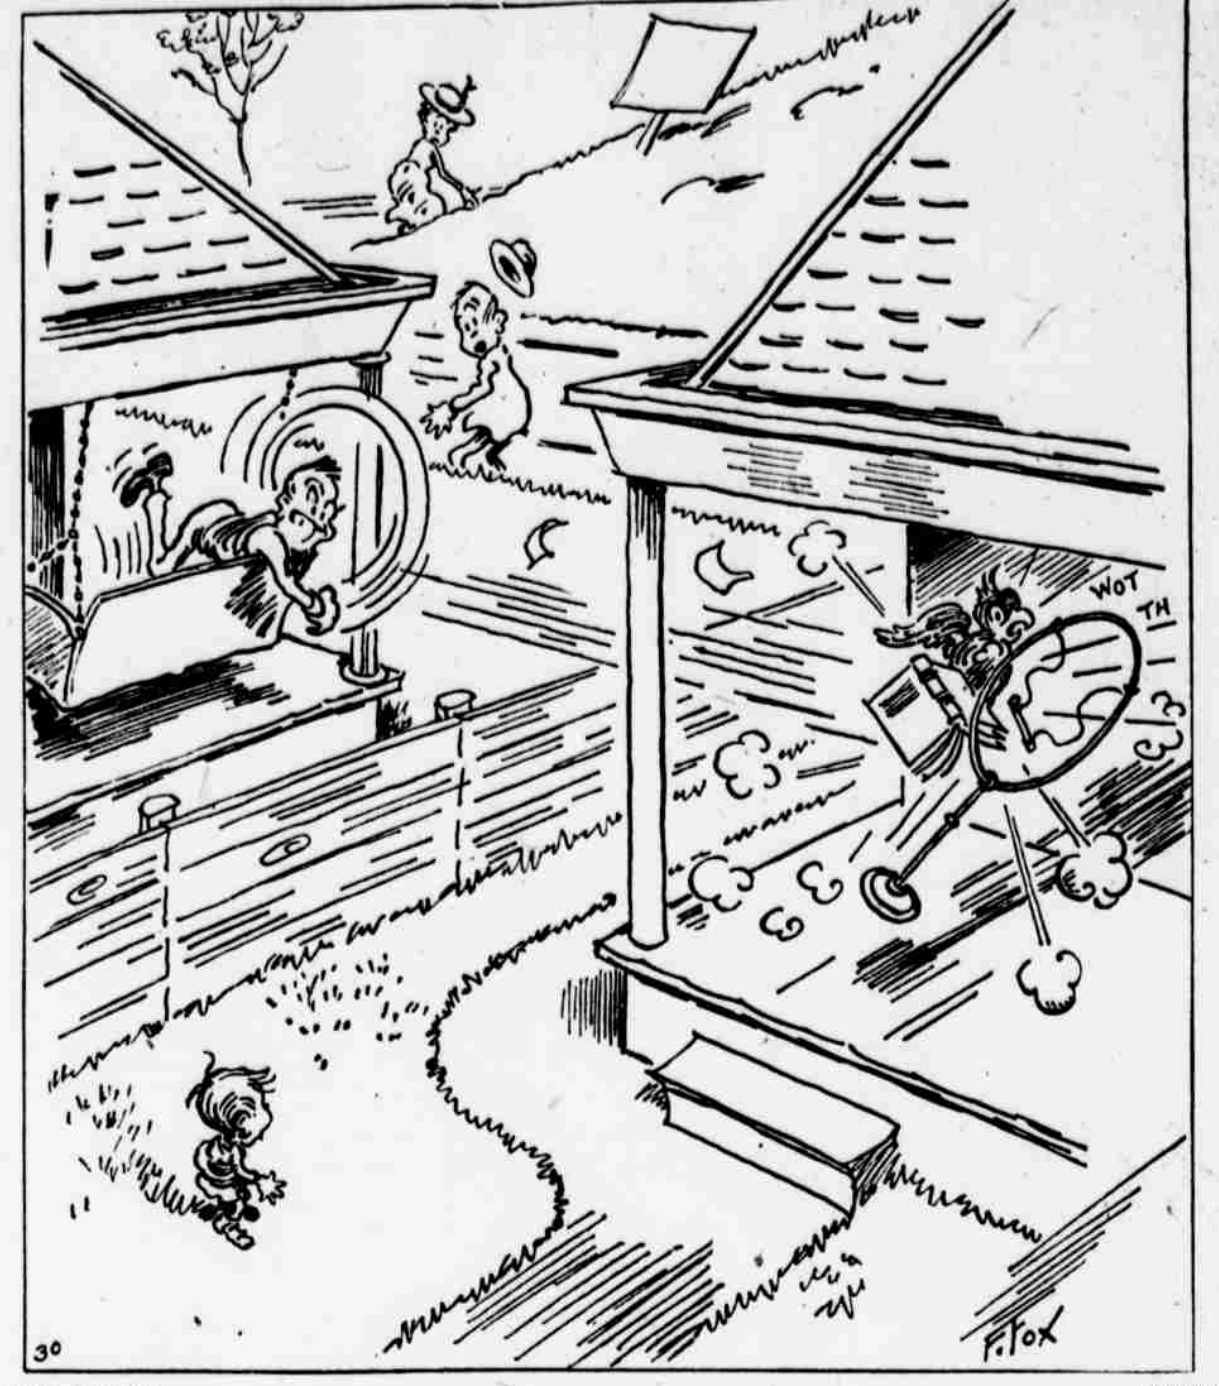

THE TERRIBLE TEMPERED MR. BANG RETURNS THE BOOK BORROWED FROM THE NEIGHBOR WHO OWNS THE TALKATIVE PARROT

CIVILIAN MEMBER OF WAR INDUSTRIES BOARD. Robert S. Brookings, a St. Louis merchant, holds this position in connection with the Council of National Defense. He has won pre-eminence in the educational world as well as in business, having been instrumental in developing Washington University. Mr. Brookings is unmarried.

ORGANIZES "GODMOTHERS' LEAGUE" FOR SAMMEES. The general plan of similar British and French organizations was availed of by Mrs. William Leonard Davis in forming this wartime society. Members will supply necessary comforts for the boys in the trenches and will maintain a regular correspondence with their "godchildren."

By FONTAINE FOX.

(Copyright.)

SWIMMER STILL FOLLOWS THE WATER. William D. Sullivan, well known in Philadelphia nautical circles, is a petty officer in the navy stationed for the present at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital.

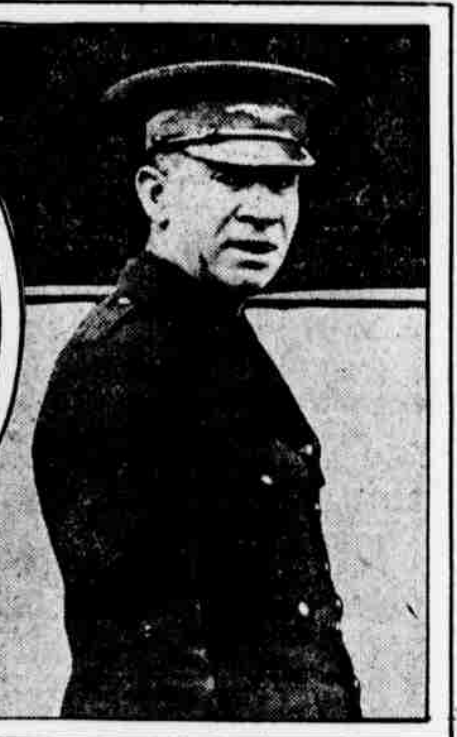

Photo from Kadel & Herbert. SPEEDS UP AMBULANCE SUPPLIES. G. W. Leppa has been called on a number of times by the American Ambulance Committee in France to expedite needed shipments and has never failed "to get the goods there" when wanted.

Copyright, Underwood & Underwood. COMMANDS NEW JERSEY REGIMENT. Colonel Thomas Landon is directing the training of the "Fighting Third" stationed somewhere in the Garden State.

NOTED SWIMMER STATIONED HERE. J. A. Zimnoch, of the New York Athletic Club, won second place in the national 500-yard indoor championship race in 1915. He is now on duty at League Island.

SWAM 1300 MILES IN SEVEN SEASONS. Oscar Schief, a member of the Philadelphia Swimming Club, is still to be reckoned with at the age of forty-six years.

Photo from Kadel & Herbert. PERFORMED NOBLE WORK AT NEULLY. Mrs. Laurence V. Benet, wife of the president of the American Ambulance Committee.

THE PADDED CELL

The Young Lady Across the Way

Premonition

Disease Under Control

The young lady across the way says that since she learned how important it is to economize on gasoline on account of the war she takes everything down to the dry cleaner's and it isn't so much trouble when one has one's own car.

Spike Tuff—Me fodder knew a month before his death when he would die. Jim—Who told him? Spike Tuff—The judge.—Lamb.

We are right sorry to hear that the ex-Czar of Russia is to be isolated, as we do not believe that czarism is contagious any more.—Grand Rapids Press.

SCHOOL DAYS

By DWIG

The Bill Kept Lent. Mr. Tucker had unexpectedly come face to face with Mr. Cutting, from whom he had frequently borrowed money. "Er—aw—what was the denomination of the bill you loaned me?" he asked nervously. "Episcopalian, I guess," said Mr. Cutting. "At any rate, it keeps Lent very well."—New York American.

A Big Fall

"We have a great big fall before us," say all the business men in chorus. "Our mills and factories are busy; the whirling wheels would make you dizzy. Such crops upon the farms are growing the barns will soon be overflowing. There's lots of coin in circulation; we're shipping goods to all creation. The oil-well owners and refiners are conning fortunes, so are miners. The dinner pail we're richly filling for every worker skilled and willing. And so," say business men in chorus, "we've got a great big fall before us." Now let me tell you, as a poet, that some one else who doesn't know it, has got a great big fall before him, and something heavy hanging o'er him. I mean a fellow called the Kaiser, who doesn't seem the least bit wiser than when he started in to gamble with Fate and made the World a shamble. Although the Kaiser's far from humble some day his house of cards will tumble. His generals should say in chorus, "We've got a great big fall before us." WILL MOORE.

How Reckless!

The waiter—And what would monsieur like to drink? She—Oh, let's have something fizzy, old dear. He—Certainly. Two ginger-ales, please, waiter! —The Passing Show.