Great Plans Under Way for Sporting Carnival to Be Held the Latter Part of This Month. Nancy Wynne Chats of Many Things

AS TIME goes on preparations for the big affair to be given on September 28 and 29 out at the Bryn Mawr polo grounds are growing space and every day almost one hears of a new attraction planned or a new feature to be carried out for the evening pageants.

One of the most handsome displays will be made by the Valley Forge branch which will have George Washington's coach. "Mad Anthony" Wayne will be a feature of the Wayne branch's display, and Miss Columbia will also take part. Paoil will be represented by a gigantic Red Cross. Main Line Branch No. 1, at Bryn

The donation department at the bazaar will be under the direction of Mrs. Edward B. Cassatt. Miss Anne Thompson, representing the Valley Forge branch, will have the vaudeville show and Mrs. William S. Wilson will direct the fancy work department, Mrs. Wilson is chairman of the Valley Forge committee and Mrs. Cassatt vice chairman. Mrs. Cassatt's assistants on the donation committee will include Gretchen Clay, Brownie Warburton, Lois Cassatt, Mrs. David Stevenson and Miss Caroline B. Newton.

The Paoli committee, which will have charge of candy and cakes at the bazaar feature of the carnival, will include Mrs. W. W. Hoopes, Mrs. C. Colket Wilson, Mrs. C. S. Kurts, of Malvern, and Mrs. William P. Morris, of Berwyn. Mrs. Edward Roberts is the chairman.

Several Main Line women are preparing to entertain sailors and marines at luncheon and dinner at the carnival. Mrs. B. Franklin Clyde will have twenty five men of the service at lunchcon and dinner both on September 29, the second day of the affair. Mrs. T. De Witt Cuyler will be hostess to twenty-five men from the navy yard and the Villanova committee will entertain a group also.

Many demands are being made for boxes at the horse show, prize lists for which were issued last week. Many entries have already been found out what they mad been doing made for the show, and there is every prospect that for the two days of the exhibition it will compare favorably in every way with the annual Bryn Mawr exhibition, which was abandoned for this year. THEARD all sorts of news yesterday about the Hare family and the Congers, also. I suppose when one person is going to marry another everybody begins to ask where the members of each one's family are and if they are coming on to the wedding, and where they have been for the summer, and you know when the whole ----- family are coming home and where they've been and where they are going in a moment's time.

All of which is brought about by the fact that Katharine Hare and Jack Conger are to take the matrimonial plunge next Saturday, and naturally all the inlaws are hastening home to be present at the ceremony and reception.

Mrs. Hare, the mother of the bride-tobe, came home to Stonyhurst, her Strafford house, on Thursday, while Mr. Hare stopped to visit his son and daughter-inlaw, Emlen Spencer Hare and Ann Waln Hare, at Cedarhurst, L. I., where they have been spending the summer. They will all come on next week.

Kate's other brother, Rene, and his wife, who was Louise Hanson, have been at Cape May for six weeks, but they will come home tomorrow. There is yet another Hare to be accounted for, and that is Katharine's sister Phyllis, who married Kemole Yarrow. She has been visiting Mrs. Jason Waters at Redbank, but has returned to Strafford, so you see that part of the family is all ready for the great event. THEN Jack's sister. Maldie Boggs, and her husband will come on from Norristown, and Katherine and Frank Clark, whose wedding took place in June and who have been spending the Labor Day week-end with the Clarence Clarks at Manchester-by-the-Sea, in Massachusetts, will return to Germantown in time for the marriage. Dick, Arthur and Helen are all at home with their father, the Rev. Arthur B. Conger, and there are no more to gather for the happy event: 1 wish them the greatest happiness, and l think they'll have it. Katharine seems to be a rather exceptional girl and Jack a most attractive fellow. They are going to live with Jack's father, as since Katherine Conger married the household has been quite depleted, and there is Helen to be brought out in the near future and so Katharine will have her job ready made.

TAKE it from me, that play, "The Chirteenth Chair," is some play and you get so excited when all the lights go out and when every one on the stage is holding every one else's hand, you don't realize quite that it's possible there might be a case of "Monkey see, monkey do." And so, what on earth think you happened other night when the lights came on after the thrilling murder; why a whole

South Philadelphians Take Trip Among French Canadians Near Quebec

Have you seen anywhere such beautifu. self-sacrifice as that being practiced right across the border by our Canadian sisters? Three years of war, with its grim horrors, have brought out all "the nobleness that les sleeping, but never dead," in the hearts of all, until today they may take their places with those heroic women of bleeding France and Belgium, idols of an admiring world. Mothers everywhere have cheerfully world Mothers everywhere have cheerfully bidden good-by to one, two and sometimes three sons—all they have—and cac's has trusted with that strange, inexplicable faith of wemen the world over that her boy would come hack. It is a common thing, too, right on the beautiful Muskoka Lakes, where society reigns throughout the summer to find dainty, refined girls working in the munities factories around Torento and turning over their earnings to the fled Cross. A trip to Canada this summer was Cross. A trip to Canada this summer was full of striking examples among all classes, and one returns wondering at the strange, outer manner of these splendid women, charged with the awful seriousness of this momentous period in history. We American women about to enter the "lists" would do well to learn their secret.

Several South Philadelphians who spent natians around Quebec included Miss May McKeever and her sister, Miss Margaret McKeever, 2117 South Thirteenth street, and Miss May Sullivan, of Germantowa. They went through New York State across to Alexander Bay, and from there up the St. Lawrence, through the Thousand Islands, visiting Montreal and the famous shrine of St. Anne de Beauure. HONORS SOLDIERS Attractive Early Autumn Wedding Takes Pla Today in St. Paul's Church in Chestnut Hill. Reception at Bride's Home

JUNE is generally known as a wedding month. As a matter of fact June is no the only month on the calendar, and the fall flowers and clear air of September make the first month of autumn quite as pleasant as any of the earlier ones. brides of this year have seemed to think so, at any rate, and this month has he full quota of weddings. An attractive one will take place this afternoon at 4 o'c in Chestnut Hill, when Miss Docothy E. Foltz, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. Clir Foltz, will become the holde of Dr. Herbert S. Harned. The ceremony will be p formed in St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church by the bride's grandfather, Rev. Samuel Upjohn, D. D., us misted by the Rev. John H. Chap-man. Miss Foltz, who will be given in marriage by her father, will be attended by her sister Miss Margaretta Foltz, as mald of honor, and by her sister, Miss Mary N. Foltz, as bridesmaid. Ductor Harned will have Mr. Hiram Lukens as best man, and the ushers will be Mr. Richard U. Foltz a brother of the bride; Mr. J. Benentt Sill, Mr. John Stewart and Mr. Alan Bensinger.

Miss Foltz will be gowned in white georgette crepe over white satin, with a tulle veil fastened with orange blossoms. She will carry a shower bouquet of sweet heart roses. The maid of honor will wear white net, with a yellow hat, and will carry a variegated bouquet of asters. The bridesmaid will wear a white muslin dress with a pink hat, and will also carry asters.

The ceremony will be followed by a reception for the families and intimate friends at the home of the bride's parents, at Bethlehem pike and Summit avenue. After October 15 Dr. and Mrs. Harned will be at home at 222 Allen lane. Chestnut Hill.
