BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 11.—The Argentine Foreign Office today handed passports to Count Luxburg, German charge.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Argentine's action in summarily dismissing Count Luxburg, following disclosure of his spurlos versenkt correspondence through Swedish channels, is regarded here as a sharp slap at Germany.

By LOWELL MELLETT LONDON, Sept. 12.—A woman's hand today is threatening to push the crown from another royal husband's head.

Far-reaching internal changes in Sweden, which might mean the retirement of the present ruler—King Gustaf and Queen Victoria—are extremely probable as a result of the exposure of Sweden's duplicity in acting as messenger for Germany, according to Swedish authorities here.

SHIBE PARK, Sept. 12.—Zing Johnson gave a splendid exhibition of twirling for the Athletics this afternoon and broke the team's losing streak, when it defeated the Yankees, 7 to 1.

For the first time in a long while the Athletics exhibited a punch, and they trotted it out against Ray Caldwell, who was usually very effective against them.

KORNILOFF'S REBEL FORCES HALTED NEAR CAPITAL; CLASH WITH LOYAL TROOPS IS NEAR

Great Struggle Expected at Tsarkoe Selo, Czar's Former Palace, Twenty Miles From City—Rebels Reach Gatschina

RUSSIA'S GREATEST CRISIS MOVES RAPIDLY TOWARD DECISIVE EVENTS

HIGHLIGHTS IN RUSSIA'S GREATEST CRISIS TODAY

FIRST victory against the counter-revolutionists has been won by the forces of the provisional Government. Premier Kerensky's troops met the vanguard of the rebels twenty-six miles from the capital and brought them to a halt by determined resistance.

At another point, however, Korniloff's columns have reached Gatschina, nineteen miles from Petrograd.

The Don Cossacks, led by General Kaledin, have joined the rebellion. Klembovsky, named to succeed Korniloff as commander-in-chief, has gone over to his former leader, along with Generals Denikine and Valuyeff, commanders of the western and southwestern fronts.

Despite the multiplication of his enemies, Premier Kerensky maintains a firm grip on the situation and is confident the revolt will be crushed by the loyal troops, acting in concert with his followers among the people.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 12.—The provisional Government has proclaimed a general state of martial law. Announcement was also made that provisional Government forces are now in possession of Pskoff, originally General Korniloff's headquarters and from which city he started on his rebellious march toward Petrograd.

By WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD PETROGRAD, Sept. 12.—Tsarkoe Selo, where the Czar formerly spent most of his time in his summer palace, may be the scene of the first big clash between General Korniloff's rebels and the provisional Government troops.

Word received here today said the revolting forces were advancing rapidly toward Tsarkoe Selo—twenty miles from the city—and that a clash was momentarily expected there.

Progress of Korniloff's advanced forces was stopped at one point twenty-six miles from the city by a force of a thousand Government sharpshooters, according to word here.

In another direction the encircling attempt of the Korniloff rebels has reached Gatschina, nineteen miles from the city.

KLEMBOVSKY JOINS REBELS Press reports received here today asserted that General Klembovsky had joined Korniloff in his revolt.

The Don Cossacks apparently are aligned with General Korniloff. General Kaledin, head of this force, reported today to Premier Kerensky that the provisional Government would do well to accept Korniloff's ultimatum requiring surrender of government powers, otherwise Petrograd would find itself isolated from Moscow by the cutting of all rail communications.

Prompt action by the Government indicating drastic measures to put down the revolt, coupled with news of the initial success of the provisional Government, created new optimism in Petrograd. Great bodies of loyal Government troops are departing from the city almost hourly.

The British War Office announces also the opening of another terrific bombardment along the whole British front which may indicate that Field Marshal Haig is about to resume his big drive.

The French War Office reports that the third German line of defense in the sector of Saint Supplee, in Champagne, has been penetrated, and that violent attacks by the Germans were repulsed in Champagne and on the right bank of the Meuse.

Italian Front On the Italian front, besides artillery engagements, there was virtually no great event. Rome announces that attacks by the Austrians on the Trentino front and on the extreme right wing of General Cadorna's forces were easily repulsed by the heavy barrage fire from the Italian guns.

HEAVY GERMAN ATTACK REPULSED BY BRITISH LONDON, Sept. 12.—Reply to a formidable German attack early this morning east of Harcourt was announced by the British War Office today.

'DON'T BUY COAL NOW,' IS ADVICE OF DR. GARFIELD

Price Will Come Down, Fuel Administrator Tells Philadelphia

NEW FIGURE THIS MONTH, IS PROMISE

Will Take Matter Up With President at First Opportunity, He Says

DEALERS HERE DEFEY U. S.

Declare They Will Not Lower Their Charges Until Compelled by Government

Fuel Administrator's Advice to Philadelphia

"PHILADELPHIA dealers are working off their coal at the very highest prices they can get in anticipation of the price being put on it by the Government. I can assure the consumers that the price will be put on it as quickly as possible, certainly before the end of this month, and I would advise them to hold off buying coal at exorbitant prices until then.

An ultimatum has been served on the Philadelphia retail coal dealers who have raised their prices by Dr. Harry A. Garfield, fuel administrator in Washington.

Announced by the action of Philadelphia dealers, Doctor Garfield announced that the Government would fix the price of coal before the end of the month.

"Don't buy coal from Philadelphia dealers," is the motto which Doctor Garfield said all Philadelphians should adopt, for the present at least, or as long as the exorbitant prices exist.

Coal prices now are higher in Philadelphia than they ever have been before, it was said. They were boosted again by dealers only two days ago.

Doctor Garfield went so far as to say that he would confer with President Wilson about the Philadelphia situation if the dealers still refuse to retrench. Open warfare will be declared, he said.

"Above all, say for me," Doctor Garfield added, "that Philadelphians will get their coal this winter and get it at reasonable prices."

DEALERS STAND PAT Dealers virtually are standing pat. Announcement was made by the George B. Newton Coal Company that the present prices would not be lowered until the company was forced to do so.

"I won't reduce prices on coal unless I am forced to do so by the Government," Doctor Garfield said.

"If the public is being gouged, I assure you it will be stopped, I promise you that I will get in touch with the President as soon as I can, and tell him of the increased prices. Something will be done and done very soon, I think, to have coal sold cheaper to the householder and the manufacturer making necessary goods who are suffering in the same manner as the public."

"When I see the President I will tell him of conditions in other cities which are similar to Philadelphia. The President is as much interested in the coal situation as I am. We are working for a satisfactory solution to the coal problem. When all plans have been announced, the nation will realize that the Government intends to see that every person handling coal, be it hard and soft, gets a square deal and fair play. There is no question but that coal will be sold cheaper in Philadelphia. It must come down in price, without any hard ship being imposed upon the retail dealer or those who mine it."

"Coal is now selling in Philadelphia from $5 to $8 a ton, and the retailer says the prices are subject to change without notice," Doctor Garfield was told. "That you think $5 is entirely too high for pea coal."

"That depends upon local conditions," he replied.

PROMISES CHEAPER COAL Doctor Garfield was reminded that Philadelphia is only a few hours' ride from the anthracite fields, and that coal should be sold cheaper here under normal conditions than in many other States.

"We have gone into all such problems, and will deal with them in a fair and equitable manner," said Doctor Garfield. "After I have spoken with the President I think I will be able to make an announcement concerning our plans for prevailing prices are high. With the appointment of State Fuel Administrator and local committees to act in an advisory capacity we will be ready to act."
