Christmas Boxes to Go This Month to France for Members of Pennsylvania Hospital Unit—Nancy Wynne Chats About Many Matters

ad of this month to the Pennsylvania on has been formed by the women who ave husbands, sons, brothers or any at relative in this unit, and they have en working very hard all summer to at things ready for this box. Mrs. Barratt, wife of Judge Norris S. parrait, is at the head of the commitse. Her son, Norris, Jr, is with the pital Unit, you know. Mrs. Howof Seaver, whose husband is with the accost, of Chestnut Hill, is secretary. Then Mrs. Arthur Gerhard, whose hus and, Dr. Gerhard, is one of the staff t twenty-five doctors; Mrs. Richard Harte, Mrs. Redwood Wright, Mrs. Franklin Bache, Mrs. John Flick, Mrs. sule Drayton, Mrs. Harry Dillard, and I can't tell you how many other women re interested in the box. There is to be a Christmas stocking ber every member of the unit; even those shose relatives do not belong to this rganization will be remembered.

The gifts will consist of sweaters, mufters, stockings, helmets, fruit cake, andy, plum puddings, talking-machine secords, toilet articles and four pairs Merino stockings for each nurse. This mmen's association meets once a month and any of the members who have resived letters during that time read hem to the others at these meetings.

You know they are "somethere in France" and incidentally they are by the sea, for they go in swimming when it is not too cold. But they did not do that at first, you had better beleve. Think of it, though they reached there in late May or early June, they ad to don their winter "consonants" soon as they arrived. At first they had only 500 beds, but ow they have 1500 and are taking care f English, French and Americans, Judge Barratt and Mrs. Barratt are spending he month of September at the Colonial, in Cape May, but Mrs. Barratt is so nterested in the cause she comes up very Tuesday to her home at 315 South seventeenth street, where weekly meetngs are held.

T IS interesting to those of us who know her to hear that Edith Gracie is to be married on November 1 to Dunbar turchell Adams. And, as I heard it, do you know it was quite a relief to think that I could put into this column a New Yorker whose name was the same as his father's and mother's, for divorce is so prevalent in New York among the "400," it's seldom that an engagement is announced and the mother and daugh ter or son have the same name. It sort of augurs a truer future for the girl ho is to marry that there is no divorce a close proximity in this case. Edith, you know, spent quite a lot of time here last year with Lucile Luson Butler, who made her debut last of Mercy Church September 19, at 9 o'clock, son. And, by the way, I saw Lucile with nuptial mass. The Rev. James T. and her good-looking young husband on Chestnut street the other day and

Fund

Haven't you wondered sometimes at the apparently endless chain of charity affairs? Almost at any time you can attend a charity bazaar, card party or street car-nival and know that by so doing your lit-tle mile will find its way into some de-serving cause. Ever since people began to come back from their summer homes there have been carnivals and street partites galore, particularly in South Philadelphia, and now we hear of the unique County Fair that is to start this evening, the pro-ceeds of which are to be added to St. Ed-mond's Building Fund, Twenty-third and Miffin streets. The Bev, John J. Green-stil is sector of the church. For the last few years the big vacant plot of ground at Twenty-third and Miffin streets has been generously donated for this purpose by the Simon brothers, and, naturally, with so much ground, the affair has assumed mammoth proportions during each succes-sive years, and it is estimated that nearly 50,000 persons from all parts of the City visited the fair grounds last year.

and is extremely pretty. Her engagement to Mr. Adams was announced in he spring. Mr. Adams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dunbar Adams.

DON'T tell me women are not versatile! Don't tell me'they can't do two things at once and do them well, too, for they can. I saw the funniest sight in Cap. May of late; one of our young and very attractive matrons driving a stunning car and at a pretty good rate of speed. 00, and what do you think she had in me arm? A perfectly good baby. It wasn't just accidental, either, for she frove up and down several times, evidently bent on giving his young lordship $ good airing. She certainly caused some acitement on the beach if nothing else.

but Friend Baby did not mind at all, acting just as if he were used to it.

AUTOMOBILES seem to have been sort of simple down there lately anyhow. Just a few minutes after the baby-andmother episode another incident happened. It was the inevitable knitting beg and ball and needle, of course, that caused all the trouble.

She just had to finish that row before he reached the new pier; so amid bumps and joggings she calmly continued to knit in the back seat while Beau drove the Suddenly some one looked behind and there, following close upon the heels, or wheels, as you will, of the motor, was a long blue line on the end of which was a small ball of turquoise blue wool. They stopped the car finally after the ball had dragged itself through one mud pudde after another, and she was some preved when she saw the color of that worsted, for it was the last she could set just that shade, and she needed just hat much.

Well, I won't draw a moral, but you can think one if you want to.

Sa sirl I saw at Keith's a day or so so. She wore her bone-rimmed specs and away her fingers flew knitting row after row on a sweater for "some one" cross the water. But, alas, the act was tood. The comedian cracked a fearfully tunny joke, causing the young woman to double up with laughter. Resultthe dropped her ball of wool, which conlinued to roll on down under the feet of men and women until it reached the tombone player. Such scrambling and searching you've never seen. Such giging and sputtering it nearly broke the show before the ball was finally motored to its owner.
