

FIELD OF BATTLE AND CITY STREET CONTRIBUTE TO THIS NEWS-PICTURE PAGE

Photograph by Underwood & Underwood.

PASSING THROUGH THE "CRADLE OF THE PEAKS"
A remarkable picture, showing Swiss mountain artillery being moved over the Oberalp Pass, in the midst of numerous Alpine peaks.

Photograph by Underwood & Underwood.

FUTURE AMERICAN BIRDMEN GET REAL MACHINE-GUN TRAINING
Sergeant Weston, of Cleveland, wounded at Verdun, instructing a student officer of the aviation corps, John A. Talcott, who holds the record for stripping and assembling a machine gun.

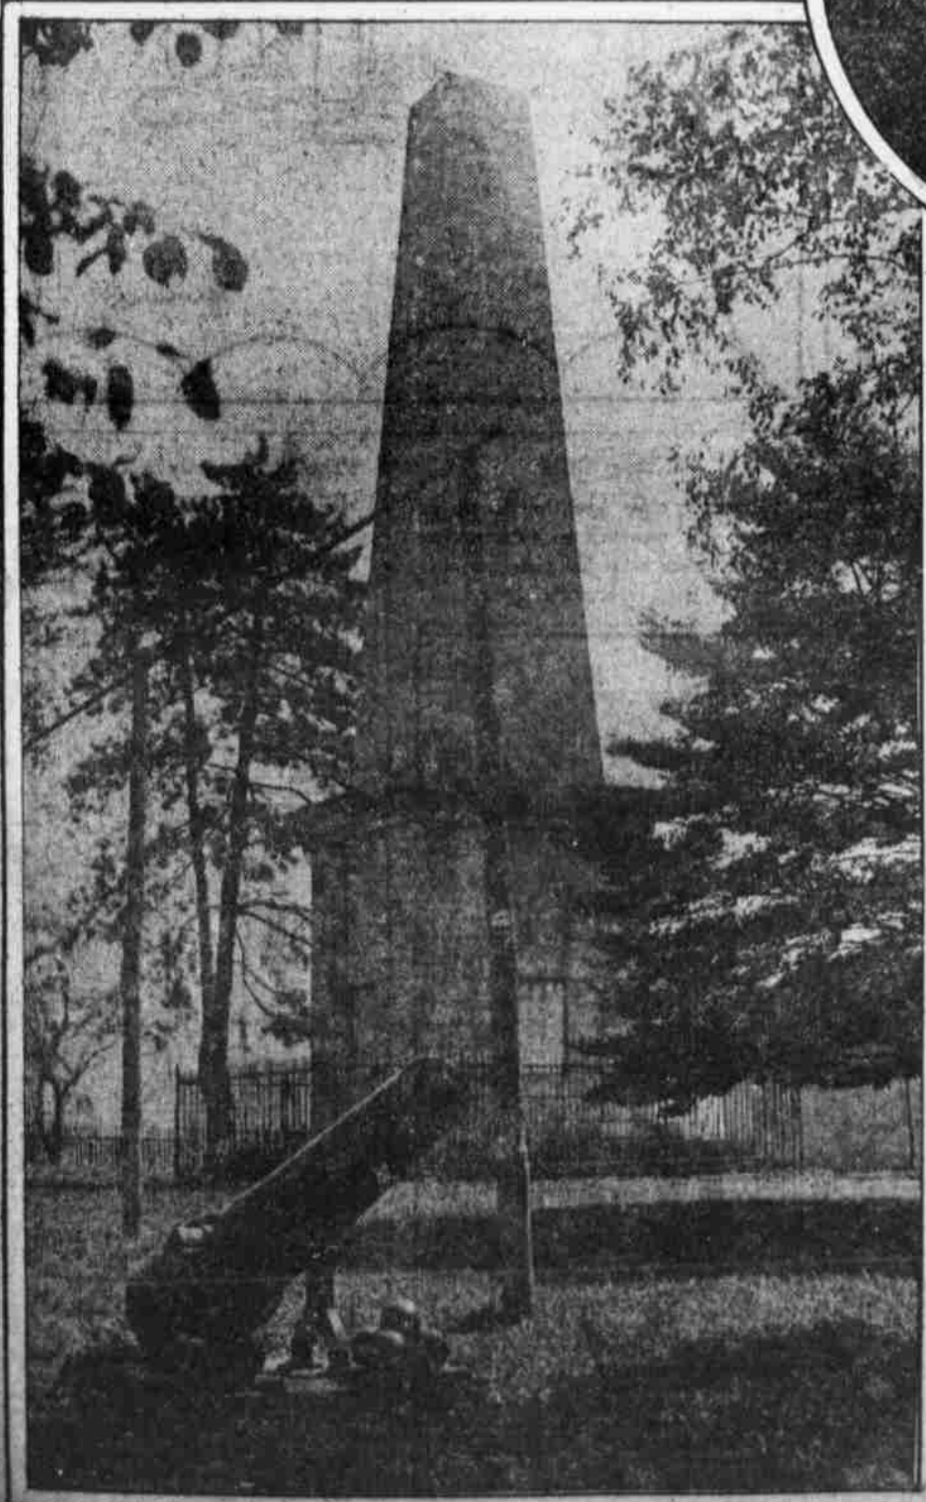

"THE LITTLEST MARINE" IS WILLIAM LONG,
2634 NORTH DARIEN STREET. HE IS TWO YEARS OLD AND A BIT OVER TWO FEET TALL

"THE BLUE GOWN"
Mrs. Robert Spencer, herself an artist and architect, painted by her husband, a Philadelphia master of the brush.

Copyright, Harris & Ewing.
ROBERT W. WOOLLEY
Washington newspaperman, named to the Interstate Commerce Commission. He was publicist for the first Liberty Loan.

A LANDMARK VIEWED BY EVERY PRESIDENT SINCE TYLER
The Wyoming Monument near Wilkes-Barre, commemorating the famous massacre of Pennsylvania's revolutionary history.

A GIRL SCOUT BAND ACTIVE IN RED CROSS WORK ON THE MAIN LINE
Members of Troop 1, of Wayne, who were especially industrious at the Bryn Mawr Horse Show. Left to right are Dorothy Leacock, Katherine Powell, Margaret Covert, Frances Stone and Amanda Greenberg.

Copyright, Harris & Ewing.
PERSISTENT IN WORK TO AID SAILORS
Secretary Daniels' order that all gifts be sent through the Red Cross has not halted the courage of Mrs. James Earl of Francis, chairman of the comforts committee of the Navy League.