

HARRY GREB WOULD GIVE AL MCGRAW $1000 TO DECIDE WHICH IS MIDDLE EIGHT CHAMPION

ONE FIGHT AFTER ANOTHER, AND OFTEN, PROVES HARRY GREB TO BE BUSIEST BOXER OF THE SEASON

Pirate Producer of Punch Defeats Billy Kramer, and He Has Five Other Bouts Booked for This Month

By LOUIS H. JAFFE
ONE fight after another appears to be the pleasure of Harry Greb, German-Irish-American, and twenty-three-three-old professional pugilist from Pittsburgh.

In the last two months Greb has been in no other party in a series of ten bouts, in each of which he has won by a knockout or a technical decision.

After the Championship
Greb is not in the game because he likes to swap punches. He says it's fine sport and the financial end of the business is nice.

Funny and Humorous Views Given by Well-Known Authors
ALIBIS NOT MISSING
There are two angles in a world series baseball game, the serious side, as seen by the baseball players, managers and baseball writers, and the humorous side, as viewed by the professional funny men.

Fans Stand Up Twice
Irvin S. Cobb, in his description of the game, said that there were two occasions when the big crowd stood up, once when the national anthem was being played and the other time was in the seventh inning.

"I Told You So"—E. Collins
But to turn to the serious side, made up largely by alibi men, the part of the vanquished, and "I told you so" on the part of the conquerors, the first man who steps up to the plate is Eddie Collins.

Fullerton Right and Wrong
Hugh C. Fullerton, who dissects baseball as a surgeon would a frog, with had results to both in that the operation is successful, but the patient dies, said before the games started that the Sox would win both games.

Practical Approach Shots
I had played the Minkahda course in the western amateur championship of 1914 and I knew that the most important shot for the course was the approach, so in my practice for the event I bent every effort to the perfection of the "skopum."
