

LITTLE PENN' MEN HAVE WINNING 'PEP'

Spirit of the Troops at Camp Meade Praised by General Nicholson

HAVE RIGHT QUALITIES

CAMP MEADE, Oct. 10.—The war because of the "little-penn" and "up-and-at-em" spirit of its soldiers is the gist of a remarkable statement made today by Brigadier General William J. Nicholson, commander of the 147th Infantry Brigade, at this camp.

Cast aside the letters of red tape that counsel ranking army officers to withhold their personal opinions. General Nicholson discussed the human side of Uncle Sam's khaki boys of the Seventy-ninth Division and, with much emphasis asserted that they will administer a severe beating to Kaiser Wilhelm's "Unthinking Army."

How the men from farms of Maryland and Pennsylvania and the shops, offices and factories of Philadelphia are being whipped into the world's most efficient soldiers is described as one of the wonders and marvels of the military world.

He makes no secret of the fact that the chief objects of the training course at Camp Meade are discipline, pep and spirit. Without these qualities, he declares, a soldier is worthless.

IMPORTANCE OF DISCIPLINE "Discipline," he began, "is the most important of all for a soldier to be efficient in the field of battle must be into perfect discipline. The new recruits are being imbued with the principles of discipline and understand their value, for in an engagement his very life may depend upon them. The battlefield orders must be obeyed instantly, and to obey instantly a man must be well disciplined."

"But we must not imply that American soldiers are stripped of their initiative, for discipline is not a matter of rote. It is a matter of a soldier's intuitive powers. He is developed as a part of a great system of organization, and, having a definite duty to perform must be organized as a unit. It is necessary for every man to do his duty and do it at the proper time. That is where discipline pays off."

"Here, then, the American discipline compares with the German system? The German soldier is taught to obey, and to obey blindly. He is a part of a great machine, and only a few men in that machine are permitted to think. For instance, when American troops are engaged in battle, there is never any fear on the part of the men that they will lose in the event of their officers being killed. If a general is killed, a colonel fills his place immediately. If a lieutenant is killed, a quick-thinking sergeant takes his place.

"That is not the case in the German army. For when a company loses its leader, the men are demoralized. They have been taught to obey, but not to think."

"Touching upon the spirit of the American soldiers, General Nicholson asserted that it is the same today, as in the day of Valley Forge, Gettysburg and Santiago—a spirit that will win the war for America and civilization."

THE "CAN'T-LOSE" PERIL "America's soldiers," said the general, "go into the war with the feeling that they can't lose. They never entertain the idea that they will lose, and when getting a killing they don't know it. It is a slight and up-and-at-em spirit that carries them through, and that spirit will smash the German lines."

At this point General Nicholson paid the Seventy-ninth Division a compliment that ought to quicken the hearts of every Philadelphian, and in fact every community that has contributed its sons to the division. "After saying that the men were progressing rapidly in their training and that they were developing into model soldiers," General Nicholson made this statement:

"We take every man and put this question to him: 'If you were on the battlefield, and during the hottest of the battle and bullets feel that you have a chance to save your life by going backward, and that to go forward means death, what would you do?' We caution him to think well before he replies, but always comes the answer: 'I would go forward.' That typifies the spirit of the American army and the spirit of the Seventy-ninth Division. When these boys get on the firing line there will be no backward steps. They will keep moving and always to the front. And when they are getting a killing they will fight all the harder, for their spirit is expressed in the immortal words of John Paul Jones, 'I've just begun to fight.'"

INTERCHANGE OF AIRCRAFT PATENTS DECLARED LEGAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Attorney General Gregory today notified Secretary of War Baker that, in his opinion, the cross-licensing patent agreement made by the aircraft board with the Wright-Martin and Curtiss airplane companies is legal.

The agreement made by the two companies for the interchange of patents had been attacked by independent airplane manufacturers, who maintained that it was a combination in restraint of trade. Attorney General Gregory in his opinion declared that the agreement did not in effect restrain trade, and was beneficial to the Government in the execution of its war plans.

Reward of $500 for Information of Whereabouts of Adam M. Oberlin.

A reward of $500 has been offered for any information as to the whereabouts of State Senator Adam M. Oberlin, of Canton, O., who disappeared from his home on September 4. He has not been seen since.

Notice of the offer was received at the Philadelphia Detective Bureau today from Sheriff F. K. Norwood, of Canton. Officers have been sent to Canton, Ohio, to search for Oberlin, who is described as fifty-eight years old, six feet two inches in height, with white hair, white mustache and distinguished looking.

No mention was made as to whether it is feared that he met with foul play.

Philadelphians Go Soon "Over There"

Two hundred Philadelphians will see overseas duty within the next few weeks, according to Captain T. D. Mills, recruiting officer for the clerical service of the United States Army Aviation Corps. In a two-day drive enough applications had been accepted to insure the Philadelphia quota of 200 men being enlisted.

JEWISH REFUGEES FIND HAVEN IN U. S.

War Sufferers, Almost Mad From Frightful Experiences, Reach America

FLED FROM PALESTINE

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Oct. 10.—With minds and bodies almost wrecked by starvation and European war horrors, eighty-nine Jewish war refugees from Palestine arrived here on a French liner today.

No brush or word picture could reproduce the story of their escape from Palestine, subsequent attacks by Turks, rescue by representatives of the joint distribution committee of American funds for Jewish war relief, their safe arrival at Berne, Switzerland, and the hazardous trip across the Atlantic.

With trembling bodies and eyes filled with tears of gratitude they told their stories. They told of Jerusalem, a city once holding 65,000 Jews, but 25,000 are left—the others have starved to death.

They were four months going from Jerusalem to Berne. Many died from starvation and exposure while on the way. The few who made the trip successfully arrived starting emaciated and half dead.

Temporary relief awaited them at Berne, where clothing also was provided. Kn trunks they were attacked by a band of young Turkish soldiers, who stripped them of anything of value, especially clothing and food.

Many of them have returned in America by whom they will be cared for. Others will be taken care of by Jewish charities. At Berne an additional 1000 refugees are waiting to be brought over.

Their first act on arriving on American soil was to offer prayers for their safe arrival, their first request was for food. The request was granted immediately by the New York members of the committee.

JACOB BACHARACH DEAD

Father of Congressman and Atlantic City Mayor

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 10.—Jacob Bacharach, father of Congressman Isaac Bacharach and Mayor Henry Bacharach, died suddenly at his home here this morning from a heart attack brought on by ailments attending old age. He was eighty-four years old and one of the most representative of the resort's citizens.

Mr. Bacharach, while infirm by old age in recent years, had been enjoying good health. He had been in the best of spirits while at breakfast a few minutes before he was stricken.

Mr. Bacharach is well known in Philadelphia, where he lived for some years, and throughout New Jersey. For forty years he has been a resident of this city, where he founded the Bacharach Realty Company, having the foundation for the present Bacharach family fortune. He was the first and only president of the Beth Israel Synagogue in this city. In addition to Congressman and Mayor Bacharach, he is survived by Benjamin Bacharach, prominent in Masonic circles, and former president of the Chamber of Commerce of this city.

DIX MEN ORDERED TO DIXIE CAMPS

5000 to Go to 28th at Atlanta and 1000 to 29th at Anniston

SPECIAL POLICE FORCE

By a Staff Correspondent CAMP DIX, WRIGHTSTOWN, N. J., Oct. 10.—Following close upon the general order from Washington forecasting the redistribution of National Army forces, an order has been received at Camp Dix instructing the immediate transfer of 6000 men to southern mobilization camps. Five thousand men will go to the Sixty-eighth Division at Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga., the other 1000 to the Twenty-ninth Division at Anniston, Ala., the New Jersey National Guard contingent. It was also learned that 4000 negro soldiers of the National Army from Florida, New Jersey and New York will come to Camp Dix for training.

The division at Camp Dix is gradually developing into a self-sustaining military unit, growing up dependent upon trained organizations for the performance of its special duties. The latest duty which the division must perform themselves is that of guard duty. The battalion of National Guardsmen which was detailed here for that purpose is to be removed and it will be up to the Sixty-eighth Division to maintain the guard of the reservation and all the government property in the vicinity.

The outposts and under the cover about seven miles, and in addition guards are placed at crossroads and other important points within the reservation. It requires a force of about one thousand men to maintain the guard and police line necessary here.

A special force of military police is now in the process of organization. This force will be taken care of by Jewish charities. It will be to police the camp, to maintain and guard the lines of communication when the division reaches France.

It will not be considered so much with guard duty at the camp and this duty will have to be performed by details of the reserves, and it is probable that every draftee in camp will get his turn at doing

THE lonely but important work of standing guard

Before a soldier is capable of going on guard he must be schooled in "The Manual of Guard Duty." Lectures on guard duty and readings from the manual have been a regular part of the daily instruction of the men, but until they have had a tour of guard duty they will be much in the same position as a man who knows the rules of the road but who has never driven an automobile.

For when on guard duty a soldier has to deal alone with emergency situations and all his resourcefulness is brought out. He is a combination policeman and fire patrolman and may be called upon at a moment's notice to handle a deserter, a spy, a thief or spread the alarm of a fire. The responsibility of a single sentinel may discharge a regiment or bring disaster to a division.

Army officers and civilian authorities are alive to the danger of the development of illicit liquor traffic among the soldiers of the Government and have determined that the camp will be boot-proof. Saloon keepers in Miami Holly maintain that they have not violated the law nor broken the agreement among saloonkeepers of the district to sell no bottled goods.

WILL PROBE LA FOLLETTE LUSTANIA EXPLANATION

President's Denial Expected to Be Followed by Further Repudiation by Bryan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The source of Senator La Follette's inspiration for his excuse of the Lusitania sinking is to be probed to the hilt by the special "La Follette" investigating committee.

President Wilson today admitted his refusal to the Follette's explanation in St. Paul that W. J. Bryan wanted the President for the starting ammunition and hoped by selling his political position to the United States to get the Lusitania investigation out of his mind.

The committee's preliminary investigation has disclosed a remarkable parallel between La Follette's arguments of St. Paul and those the German Government used in its Lusitania tales.

These tales were officially discredited by President Wilson's rebuttal at that time. The committee indicated it would press on La Follette giving the source of his information, and his reasons for ignoring the Government's evidence.

SITTING JUDGES CLAIM SOLE RIGHTS ON TICKET

Anderson, Lamorelle, Staake and Monaghan Seek to Keep Others Off Ballot

A petition to restrain the Secretary of the Commonwealth from placing the names of the judicial candidates pulling the four highest votes at the Philadelphia primaries for Philadelphia judgeships was filed today by the candidates having the highest number of votes for each office.

The proceedings are directed against Cyrus W. Woods, Jr., secretary of the Commonwealth, who recently asserted that the names of the four highest judicial candidates would go on the ballot. The petitioners filed that under the nonpartisan judicial act they should be the sole nominees at the general election.

The petitioners are Judge William H. Staake and John Monaghan, of Court No. 2; Judges Lamorelle and Anderson, of the Orphans' court; and Judges Bechtel and Berger, of Schuylkill County.

The vote of the rival candidates at the primary election was as follows, according to the official count: Orphans' Court—Edward A. Anderson, 127,395; Robert F. Bonner, 28,951; Edmund Kline, 12,982. Court No. 2—Judge Staake, 113,225; Judge Monaghan, 117,361; Judge Bechtel, 48,218; Fred S. Drake, 19,836.

BABY LEFT IN BOYS' HANDS

Told to Take It to Address Where It is Not Claimed

Jacob Eisenstein, nine years old, of 840 North Chincua street, was standing at Third and Brown streets yesterday when a woman described by the police as about twenty-two years old handed him a one-year-old baby, neatly dressed, and told him to take it to 902 North Second street.

Jacob took the child to the address, but no one claimed it, so the lad placed it gently on the stoop. Mrs. Fanny Meyers, of 506 North Third street, seeing the waiting baby, carried it to the Front and Market streets station, where it was sent to the Philadelphia Hospital.

TO WED SISTER-IN-LAW

Munsey, Pa., Manufacturer Will Take Brother's Widow as Bride

George I. Painter, sixty-two years old, a manufacturer of Munsey, Pa., today obtained a marriage license to wed Anna S. Painter, fifty-six years old, of 4755 Germantown avenue, who was the wife of his deceased brother.

Painter has been married twice before. His first wife died about thirty-five years ago, while the ties of his second wedding were separated by the Divorce Court of Lycoming County last March.

Mrs. Painter, the bride-to-be, has been a widow since the death of her intended husband's brother about fifteen years ago in Munsey, Pa. The pair will be married in Norristown, Pa., by the Rev. Mr. Deacon.

Mexico Plans to Crush Rebel

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 10.—The Government will shortly put an army of 2000 soldiers in the field to crush the rebels who are still active in the States of Oaxaca, Tamaulipas and Vera Cruz. It was officially announced today. The campaign was launched against the Felicitas, who are operating in Oaxaca, while troops under General Manuel Dieguez, Governor of Jalisco, are expected to wipe out the scattered revolutionary bands in Tamaulipas and Vera Cruz and restore order in the Tampico oil fields.
