Irvin Cobb Says It Cramps His Style to Get Set for a Funeral and Find Out He Is at a Silver Wedding

ANYWAY you look at it golf has it on the world series. If this champlouship afair, which spells new gas buggles, pinolse, victrolas and other noisy things to the winners and losers as well, had been a golf match it would have been over by now and all of us would be leading a sane, normal life. Golf and the weather man go hand in hand. If the weather man turns on the sunlight we play golf. There are no off-days in this royal and ancient game, But with baseball things are different. The umpires have a clause in their contract by which they are not compelled to stand aut in the rain and take abuse from the in the rain and take abuse from the

All Up to the Weatherman

So if the game is not played in New York today it will be played some time this month, and if the weather man makes up month, and if the weather man makes up his mind that he does not want the series finished before Thanksgiving that is all there will be to it. Every one would have been better satisfied if the Sox had won their third straight game, for no matter who wins the championship the beaten team will annoy us through the winter trying to tell us how superior they are to the champs and what would have happened if the breaks had not been against them. the breaks had not been against them. Still using golf terms, the White Sox are up and four to play.

The Giants' victory gives the critics, real and almost real, a fine chance. Irvin Cobb sums up the whole situation by remarking that he loves his cozy flat in Harlem and the victory of the Gianta is a fly in his eintment. For, regardless of what may happen today, he declares the New York-victory necessitates another trip to Chicago on the part of one who is determined to see the series to the end if it takes all fall.

He says it is very cramping to one's style when you are set to write a piece about a funeral only to discover the funeral turn-ing into a combination of a silver wedding, Old Home Week and Mardi Gray.

"Putouts, J. Collins.....(1)" John J. McGraw says it is possible the Sox made a mistake in putting in Cicotte, but that Rewland thought he could cinch the series by so doing. He admits that Cicotte is a great pitchen, but says the Giants got to him. He adds that the defeat does not add to the Sox morale, a favorite term with the Chants' manager. To his mind Cicotte's failure may give the series to the Giants.

Eddle Collins admits frankly that the Sox never had a chance yesterday. He braises Benton very warmly and adds that It never feels as hard to lose a ball game when you can look back and say to your-self: "We never could have won that if we had stayed out there until dark." The Sox, he says, could not make any runs and that in all there is to it

Benny Kauff, confident as ever, despite his poor show, took one ball and one strike, then lifted a fast one over Felsch's head for the circuit. This was Kauff's first hit of the series and it was the first safety off Faber. Zimmerman missed the first pitch, had the second called a strike, then went out, Collins to Gandil. Kauff will get a $50 Liberty Bend for the hit. Benny had gone hitless on thirteen trips to the plate.

Chick Gandil greeted Schupp in the first half of the fifth with a single to left on the first pitch. Weaver missed the first one, then forced Gandil at second, Herzog to Fletcher, and was doubled at first on Fletcher's fast throw to Holke, the first double play of the series at the Polo Grounds. Schalk took two balls, had two strikes called, then fouled one, saw the third one pass by and registered his second hit when Schupp grooved the sphere. Fletcher just missed the ball. Faber took one strike, then went out. Schupp to Holke. The double play that cut down on Gandil and Weaver was lightning fast.

It was the hit-and-run play and almost caught McMullin flat-footed. Holke hit the first ball pitched, a slow one in the infield, and beat it out. messed the White Sox twice, and Collins and his mates stopped the game for a few minutes to outline some new strategy. Rariden took two balls, fouled one, then Schupp received the assist and Holke the put-out. We ver was Schupp's second strike-out victim, taking a strike and ball, then missing the next two. Schupp was depending upon a fast ball and seldem resorted to curves.

He inie, the Zim, was the Glants's first up, but Heinie was running true to his up, but Heinie was running true to his out as peeder and crashed it to center, scoring Robertson, but Holke was cut down at the plate on Felsch's great throw to Schalk.

Again John Collins was the lead-off man,

BHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE, Pa., Oct. 11.
Although in point of numbers, entries in the annual fall invitation tournament of the Shawnee Country Club here today did not come up to expectations, quality was not lacking. Among the entries are C. E. Van Visck, Jr., of Montclair; Gardiner W. White, of Flushing; Ivan Behr, of Someret; R. H. Worthington, of Shawnee, and Alex Coles, of Shawnee, A notable absentee was Norman H. Maxwell, of Aronimink, who won the tournament and incidentally

George Burns led off for the Giants. He had one strike and two balls, when he hit to center for a base. Herzog sacrificed on the second pitch, Faber to Gandil. Kauff looked desperate as he walked to the home station. The crowd gave him a great hand, and he replied with a long fly to Felsch in deep center. Burns advanced to third after the catch. Zimmerman again was retired Eddie Collins to Gandil.

Cheers for Benny

Felsch started for the Sox in the seventh Happy took two balls and as many strikes. He then fanned on the fifth offering, a high fast one. Clandil let the count reach two

For the second time in his last two trips to the plate Fletcher connected with the first pitch for a safety. Davy Robertson also slammed the first pitch, but it only went to Faber and he was out to Gandii. While Robertson was at bat Faber un corked a wild pitch and Fletcher went all the way to third. On Robertson's out Fletthe way to third. On Robertson's out Fiet-cher was held at third. Holke swung at the first pitch and missed. On the next Faber registered a clean hit, right in Holke's ribs, and the Giants' first baseman walked to first. Rariden took one ball, fouled the second, then hit a slow, dribbling grounder to ddie Collins, on which Fletcher counted. Holke taking second. Schupp took two strikes and three bails before he was retired. Weaver to Gandil

Risberg in Game

Schalk went after the first offering and sent a long fly to Burns in left sent a long fly to Burns in left. Risberg made his first appearance in the series when he was sent in to bat for Faber in the eighth. He took two balls and as many strikes before he flied to Robertson. John Collins singled to left on the second pitch. McMultin had two balls called and one strike before he popped to Herzog. George Burns led off for the third time during the game, and was a victim of Dantorth's southpaw silants, and was out on outguessed Eddie, and he was nailed off second. The crowd greeted Eddie with "boos" and hisses as he walked to the bench. Feisch then fanned. The White Sox were trying the one-run game, but failed.

George Burns was a strike-out victim. The first was called, the second was wide. the next he missed and he watched the leaves the right field wall. Fistcher made a determined effort to continue the terrific assault of the Glants, but the rest is a triple to second him to the right field wall. tinue the terrific assault of the Glants, but in his frantic efforts he breezed. Schall dropped the third strike, but picked up the sphere and pegged it to first in time to re-tire the runner, healtating long enough, however to bluff a throw to third, driving Zim back to the sack. With Robertson at the plate, Zimmerman tried to steal home but was cut down with ease.

Eddie Collins was first up in the ninth.
Eddie received the first walk of the game. Jackien took two and three before expir-ing. Zimmerman to Hoike, Collins taking second. Eddie Collins stole third, no effort being made to catch him. Felsch took two and two, the fouled to Zimmerman. Gandli ended the game with a fly to Kauff.

Schupp struck out four batters in the first three innings. Faber had two strike-outs in the third. Holke was the first vicilm and Schupp the second. Ferdy missed the last strike by inches—thirty-six,

PENN LOSES BRAUN; BERRY SHOWS UP

Parental Objection Stops Promising Gridiron Career. Missing Athlete on Visit

IN SUNNY TENNESSEE

Two live pieces of information of oppos ing interest developed at Penn today. The depressing news feature consisted in the report of the loss from the feetball squad of Earl Braun, promising both as line and backfield material, and the optimistic item, intelligence of the return to the football canks of the missing Mr. Berry, of national athletic fame; The loss of Braun, who was playing his first year on the squad, is peculiarly un-fortunate on account of his unusual prom-iss as a versatile performer. Braun was forbidden to play by his father, who was formerly a member of the squad of a West-ern college team and was badly injured as a result of a gridiron accident. It is stated that his father declared that he did not know his son was playing feetball. Braun lives in Marietta, O., and is a sophomore. Howard Berry was out for practice this afternoon, having returned last night from a somewhat extended stay in the South, presumably on an important social mission. Nothing had been heard of him since the Georgia Tech game last Saturday. Well authenticated rumor has it that the great athlete has since been at Nashville visiting young lady whom he met while on th Mexican border.

The Penn varsity had an animated scrim-

UNKNOWN MAN KILLED BY AUTO

Police Looking for Relatives of Victim. Initials "E. J. H." in Hat

The police of the Frent and Westmoreand streets statum today are searching for the family or friends of an unidentified man who died from injuries received, the result of being struck by an automobile at Kensington avenue and Westmoreland streets. The man is described as about twenty-five years old, five feet five inches tall, and weighing about 150 pounds. He were a black suit, tan shoes and stockings, and a green felt hat. In the inside of the hat were the initials E. J. H. Raymond Burrell, twenty-eight years old.

Raymond Burren, twenty-eight years old, of 1439 Kenilworth street, the driver of the automobile, took the man to the Episcopal Hospital where he was pronounced dead. Burrell surrendered to the police, and at a hearing before Magistrata Wrigley this morning was held without bail to await the action of the Coroner.

Carey and Boyle Meet in Other Half of Double Wind-up Tomorrow Night

The show arranged for the Cambria A. C. tomorrow night is certainly a fistic treat for the up-town fight fans. A double wind-up is on the card. In the first half of the wind-up Tommy Carey, one of the real comebacks, will awap punches with Harry Boyle, who claims the lightweight championship of New York State. Johnny Mahoney, the K. O. sensation from Hazleton, will tackle Young Jack Toland in the other half. The other bouts will bring together Tommy Golden, of Fort Richmond, and Billy Billington, of Kensington: Jimmy Tolliny Golden, of Port Richmond, and Billy Billington, of Kensington; Jimmy Dolan, of Port Richmond, and Charley Mo-Kee, of the Seventeenth Ward; Goody Welsh, of North Penn, and Joe Wright, of Kensington.

Chicago Star Overwhelms Miss Biddle in Berthellyn Cup Play

NOBLE, Pa., Oct. 11. champion and present holder of the Florida golf championship, earned her place in semifinal round for the sixth annual Berthellyn Cup at the Huntingdon Valley Coun-try Club by overwhelming Miss H. C. Biddie, of Riverton, in the second round of match play today. It was a short contest that ended on the eleventh green by the margin of 8 up and 7 to play.

Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, of Merlon, and Miss Mildred Caverly, Cricket Club, both former city champions, and Mrs. George S.

Munson, finalist in the Philadelphia title race of 1915, completed the list of feminine golfers who qualified for the penultir round.

In contrast with the Chicago girl's easy victory, Miss Caverly found strong opposi-tion to her progress. Mrs. G. Henry Stet-son, of the home club, forced the Cricket Club representative to the home green be-fore bowing to defeat by the margin of one hole.
