FINANCIAL NEWS AND COMMENT—ITEMS OF INTEREST TO THE BUSINESS MA

LARGE SHORT INTERESTS SCOTCH TO MANY OF SKIDDING STOCKS

Depreciations, Heavier Than Any Time Since 1907 Panic, Partly Blocked-Government Loans Largely Cause of Slump in Values

IN REVIEWING the list of prices at the present time for all of the principal securities it is seen that at no time since the panic days of 1907 has depreciation in values been so severe as since our entry into the world war. Seven metal stocks have dropped an average of 191, points from the high levels of the year; four motors, 42 points; ten steel and equipments, 34 points; five gas stocks, 33 points; four sugar issues, 44 points; two can stocks, 13% points; two rubber shares, about 15 points; two electric issues, more than 26 points, and seventeen miscellaneous industrials, approximately 20% points.

There is no denying the fact that but for the stabilizing influence of a large short interest, believed to be the biggest in several years, there is little doubt but that the average decline would be worse than it is. Several times when seiling of rails was heavy the list was on the verge of complete demoralization more timid shorts evened their commitments and checked for the time being a general overthrow.

Steel stocks, while not faring so badly as railroad issues, may have undergone a hard mauling were it not for the short account in them being less

If peace had been the all-important factor in the decline of the last week, the statement by the German Chancellor could hardly have precipitated the hysterical selling of the forenoon yesterday. Symptoms of unrest and dissatisfaction in "ontral Europe may be construed by some as a significant sign of the times, but elsewhere this was not considered of sufficient breadth to change the attitude of the Junker element.

Government Needs Hit Stocks

What hurs the market in its most recent decline was the impression if financial circles that the monetacy requirements of the Government would he beyond anything previously thought of. To raise $1,500,000,000 monthly will require painstaking efforts and great sacrifice. There is no doubt but that this loan will teach the American people economy to a degree never before believed

The situation in motor stocks has developed into an interesting one in that some companies are benefiting as fast as others are depreciating. For instance, the Chandler motor shipments for nine months are suggestive of anything but depression in the industry. The total of 14,000 cars is not only about 1000 greater than in the full year 1916, but 33 1-3 per cent in excess of shipments for the same nine months a year ago. Estimated earnings for the year of $35 will be sliced approximately one-third on account of the war tax.

A canvass of bond houses brought to light that orders to sell bonds in large lots were on the books but will not be pressed on the market for the reason that there was no capacity to absorb them. It is learned that an interior institution wired an order for the sale of $1,000,000 high-grade bonds, but that the only bld obtainable was so low that the offering was withdrawn. It is known that there has been much selling by savings banks of bonds whose legality would be affected by dividend reductions now under discussion.

Attitude of Bankers Toward Market

The Morgan statement that "what the security market does within the next mouth or two will not be of much importance one year from now," and that "whether the war is won or lost is a matter of supreme importance," contains a suggestion of the attitude of the banking element toward the stock market now as well as in the future. The stock market is occupying little of the attention of the bankers and is not likely to, in spite of the frequently expressed belief that without encouragement subscriptions will be unsatisfactory. The position they take is that the loan must be made a success irrespective of the stock

Passing of the dividend on People's Gas of Chicago has started a good deal of discussion in bivestment circles relative to the positions of other important gas companies and the prospects of their conserving cash. The feeling is that t is not altogether improbable that other so-called gas organizations will be compelled to take steps similar to those of the Chicago concern.

The importance of this theory was indicated in the announcement by the Ohio Cities Gas Company that no reduction is the dividend rate was con-

Those who have followed conditions surrounding the affairs of the various companies knew they had been subjected to unfavorable operating conditions, such as higher prices which have obtained for fuel from which their products have come. In the case of the natural gas companies it is different. However, the mentioned element has acted as a retarding factor in the promotion of developments favorable to such organizations.

It is a foregone conclusion that the outcome of the present situation must necessarily be a general advance in rates in order to protect the credit of these concerns. However, if steps are taken in this direction there will undoubtedly arise a storm of protest on the part of consumers as has been the case quently in the past.

it has been extremely difficult for companies to get higher rates for their product, as most of the companies are within direct jurisdiction of commissions and there has been so much politics injected into this phase of the situation that it is difficult to obtain the needed benefit,

Depreciation in Gas Company Values

That those close to the managements of the various concerns knew the real situation which is becoming apparent today is gauged by the gradual depreciation in values for the issues in the various stock exchanges.

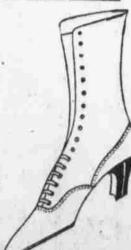

A comparison of present prices with the highest quotations reported last year shows that People's tias is down about 74 points. Consolidated Gas. 51 points; Ohio Citles Gas, 93 points, and Columbia Gas and Electric, 22 points. It cannot be said, however, that these drastic cuts in prices were totally the result of inside liquidation, as the entire list of securities on the New York Stock Exchange has suffered severe declines the last few months, and it would not be fair to single out this particular group as presenting a striking contrast to some other group.

it appears that the preferred stock of the International Agricultural Corporation is further away from a dividend than seemed likely last year, when it moved up to the vicinity of 74. The report for the year shows earnings available for the senior stock equal to $3.57 a share, as against $9.80 a share earned in the 1916 fiscal year.

Going back to the outbreak of the war, or o August 1, 1914, it is seen that prices ave risen more than 80 per cent during the interval, and from the bottom on record, $72,455 on July 1, 1897, the gain exceeds 200 per cent. SPECULATION RIFE OVER CAUSES OF LIQUIDATION

Numerous Reasons Advanced to Explain Flor of Sales of Securities-Gossip of the Street

EVERYWHERE there is speculation as to the causes for the flood of liquids, which overwhelmed the stock market, for it is pointed out by the qualified to pass an opinion on the matter that it was liquidation rather abort selling. As proof of their assertions they call attention to the fact pa bulk of the buying came from the professional shorts. It is claimed by some that a great many old investors have become and unsettled as to the real value of their holdings from the standpoint of in partly on account of the many reports in circulation regarding the effect when war tax will have on the earnings of the railroads and other corporations w securities they hold, and partly through the effect of seeing at every lors connecements staring them in the face proclaiming the Liberty Bonds as the investment in the world. So they have apparently concluded that the on to do is to sell their holdings and invest in Government bonds. As proof of this assertion, it is said that many of the securities now a sacrificed have been in possession of their owners for years, some of them us as Ion and twenty years. Unsatisfactory railroad reports, too, it is claim much to do with this liquidation. The universal cutting down of net car spite of increasing gross earnings will unquestionably affect the dividend reason. If a remedy is not found through rate increases by the Interstate of merce Commission or through financial assistance by the Government, industrials, it is claimed, are suffering from the process of price fixing emands and cost of labor and the scarcity and high cost of materials. The closing out of accounts on margin as a cause of heavy liquidation dismissed by a majority of the brokers and commission houses as a New York ascribed this last wave of liquidation primarily to the passing of dividend by the People's Gas Company of Chicage, but the explanation go the directors should have been sufficient to allay any fears, namely, that is, of anticipated necessary construction and expansion, they were conserving rash resources to meet the cost, as the prospect of borrowing under present

ions is problematical, and in any event would be very expensive. From another source it was said that the munitions companies were un the securities which they had taken in exchange from France and Great as in payment for material, but the securities-offered were not in that class. There has followed, however, a more optimistic feeling, and by many a believed that if the end has not been reached it is in sight,
