Chapin Memorial Home for the Blind Annual Donation Day—Family Eats Scrambled Eggs, and Not on a "Beefless Day" at That

THE Chapin Memorial Home for the Blind will be seven years old tomorrow and the Board of Trustees, the Board of Managers and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the home have issued invitations for their seventh birthday, which they will celebrate on a sort of donation day from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The members of the auxiliary will serve a luncheon from 12 until 2 o'clock and supper from 5 until 7 for the small sum of fifty cents so it will be worth while to trip out there to 4713 Woodland avenue, as you need not return home hungry.

The hosts and hostesses of the occasion are anxious to receive donations of money, groceries, provisions and any useful articles. Mr. Bruce Barrow is the treasurer. Now, I call that neatly put, you see, I don't say "please send some money." Oh, no, I just remark that W. Bruce Barrow is treasurer, and lest you forget and have no phone book or directory at hand, said Mr. Barrow hath an office at 180 North Twelfth street.

The Chapin Home is nonsectarian and does not receive either State or county appropriation, so it is dependent on the generosity of its friends. There are now twenty-seven residents and the work is steadily growing. During the afternoon tomorrow, and the evening also, there will be music and several of the blind from Overbrook will play and sing. The officers of the Board of Trustees include John Cadwalader, president; George A. Smith, vice president; William H. Woodward, secretary, and W. Bruce Barrow, treasurer. There he is again, don't forget those checks.

Frank Williams is chairman of the Board of Managers; Miss Edith Manning, vice chairman; Oscar N. Bligam, recording secretary; Mrs. Louis H. Frank, financial secretary, and Miss Lillie Rendell, corresponding secretary. I don't notice any treasurer in that bunch, but perhaps Mrs. Frank, being "financial" secretary, has something to do with that. However, your concern is with Mr. Barrow.

When it comes to the Auxiliary Committee of Ladies we find Mrs. William Henry Woodward, who, you know, has not her sight herself, and can so readily and well sympathize with those who have the same curse. Mrs. Edgar Fahs Smith is vice chairman; Mrs. Olin H. Burritt, a second vice chairman; Mrs. Charles L. Doolittle, secretary, and, another TREASURER, Mrs. Joseph W. Swain.

And, would you believe it, sixty-five other women on the committee. I'm going out tomorrow, are you?

DO YOU ever remember writing out in your old copy-book, "Do your duty, come what may." "Duty comes before pleasure." "Duty comes before pleasure." All the while that there would be just a little less of the former and a little more of the latter? Do you?

Well, whether you do or not is neither here nor there, but a certain sub-idea, in fact, a smart looking sub-idea at that, known to, under the name of the Sister, who's described as "Sewing Shirts for Soldiers," had evidently forgotten that particular page of the copy-book, or maybe it had not been included in her edition. Be that as it may, mother went a-visitng, and left our young friend to fill her place.

Now, it may have been lots of fun to have exactly what you liked to eat and pay the butcher's bill with a superior little air, and see that the grocer gave you the right measure, but after several days of it "Sister" grew rather weary. So she decided it wouldn't do a bit of harm just to drop into the movies for a few minutes that afternoon on her way to the store. Well, the picture was so absorbing that she soon forgot about everything else, when, good evening! she happened to glance at her watch and what time do you 'spose it was?

A quarter to six and not a thing had she bought for supper! For one long moment she sat there horrified at the prospect of facing her hungry waiting family. But there really wasn't any use in saying "What'll I do now," for there wasn't a thing to do except to walk demurely home and announce to Dad and several small sisters they would have to dine that night on "scrambled eggs."

DO YOU remember about the floral bazaar and exhibition which is to be given in aid of the Red Cross, and will be held in Greylock Garden Pavilion, at Crefeld street and West Chestnut avenue in Chestnut Hill? I told you a little bit about it a few weeks ago, but now plans have developed wonderfully and much is in readiness, in so far as flowers and produce can be in readiness two weeks in advance of a happening. For it is going to happen on Wednesday and Thursday, November 1 and 2, and all Chestnut Hill is simply crazy on the subject. Music will be provided for entertainment from early morn to dewy eve, so go and take your pet bunch of radishes or an especially handsome Japanese chrysanthemum plant you have been cherishing; enter it as you would your Irish terrier or little dachsel at a dog show, and who knows but you may win a silver cup or a bronze medal.

There will be a small entrance fee and the exhibit will be open to all, old and young, and "middle-aged bears." Boy Scouts, who have been working so hard at their little gardens all summer, will be rewarded for their efforts when a banner will be given to those who have attained the best results.

The president of the exhibition is Mrs. John White Geary; recording secretary, Miss Williamson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frederick Landstreet. The executive board consists of Miss Duhring, Mrs. Wools Martin, Dorothy Diaton, Mrs. Joe Woolsten, Mrs. An Marden, Mrs. Dave Pepper and Miss Mary Kealey. Dorothy Diaton is treasurer and Stephen Ager will act as superintendent.

About all the prominent women of Chestnut Hill are in it as patronesses, including Mrs. Andrew Blair, Mrs. Joseph

BRIDGE PARTY AT NAVY YARD Plans for Series of Informal Card Parties—First Takes Place Tomorrow

The same serious aspect on life that has prevented so many of our debutantes from having their usual round of parties and pleasure is responsible likewise for an almost total absence of formal parties in the navy yard and elsewhere among the naval set. With more than 1,000,000 men "over here" needing chest protectors and wrist gauntlets, there is far too much work for each individual to waste away the hours in endless entertaining.

Quite the largest and prettiest party so far this year was given by Lieutenant Commander M. H. Goss, U. S. N., and Mrs. Goss on Saturday afternoon in honor of their guests, Mrs. Alice Tassovaki and Captain Harry Radridge, U. S. N., and Mrs. Edwidge, of Washington. Lieutenant Commander Goss, U. S. N., is said to bear Admiral Tapanin, U. S. N., commander of the yard, and occupies the house next to the commandant's, along the river front. Refreshing autumn foliage and huge chrysanthemums were used for decorating and a bridge party of six tables was followed by a banquet for about eighty guests. Mrs. Tassovaki and Captain and Mrs. Radridge returned to Washington this morning.

Mrs. Raymond S. Keyes, wife of Commander Keyes, U. S. N., of 2101 Shinn street, has planned a series of informal card parties, the first of which will take place tomorrow afternoon at her home. Mrs. Ernest Brown, wife of Doctor Brown, U. S. N., entertained at a small card party last week in honor of Mrs. James P. Alexander, wife of Lieutenant Alexander, U. S. N., who, with her little son, is going to be here for the winter months. Mrs. Alexander did not arrive in Philadelphia until yesterday, although she was expected for the party, but her little son had become ill and she felt it was unwise to travel sooner. Mrs. Brown occupies the house formerly used by Lieutenant Homer H. Norton and Mrs. Norton at 2416 South Twenty-first street. Mrs. Norton left the Grand Farms early in the summer and is now living in Brooklyn.

Major J. A. Rossell, U. S. M. C., and Mrs. Rossell, who have quarters No. 5 in the Marine Barracks in the navy yard, entertained Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Rossell, Major Rossell's brother and sister-in-law, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilson, of Short Hills, N. J., were the guests of Medical Director Sheldon Evans, U. S. N., and Mrs. Evans at their home in the yard over the week-end.

Miss Anne Foster, of Portsmouth, Va., who has been the guest of Miss Janet Cross, of 2516 South Twenty-first street, for the last month, left this morning for New York, where she will visit for a week before returning to her home in the South. Miss Cross is a daughter of Captain William Cross, U. S. N., and Mrs. Cross.

Miss Gladys Hetherington, daughter of the late Captain J. H. Hetherington, is spending a few days with Commander Frederick Russell Payne, U. S. N., and Mrs. Payne, of the United States Naval Home on Gray's Ferry road. Miss Hetherington has been at Atlantic City most of the summer and expects to live in Washington for the winter.

Paymaster Charles O'Leary, U. S. N., and Mrs. O'Leary, of 2134 Shinn street, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

HARVEST FAIR IN RIDLEY PARK

Woman's Club to Transform Auditorium Into Country Fair Grounds Next Week

But in Ridley Park all sorts of preparations are going on for the harvest fair to be given by the Woman's Club on October 25, 26 and 27. Cornucopias and pumpkins will change the big auditorium into a bit of country, and there will be lots of fascinating booths, a cafeteria and any number of fancy original things to do. Things are even going to have ridiculous little side shows, not of course that will make it more than ever like a country affair. Then there will be fruits and vegetables for sale. And on Saturday afternoon a baby show will be held, with prizes and blue ribbon for the best babies, though they are all so cunning that it will be rather hard to decide which are the best. The place will be converted into a regular town and the children on that afternoon, and it is even whispered that there will be a really truly Teddy bear (with two legs) that will run after the new children with playful growls and make them squeal with joy.

On Saturday evening a dance will be held, which will serve as a "wind-up" to the affair. The proceeds of the whole thing will be distributed among various charities.

A subscription dance was held in the Ridley Park Auditorium last Tuesday evening and it was certainly a success. Some $1,000 was raised for the benefit of the town. There, besides the people of the town, were the beginning of one dance each person was presented with a small automobile horn, which he was told to blow as loud as he could, as Sunday afternoon a baby show will be held, with prizes and blue ribbon for the best babies, though they are all so cunning that it will be rather hard to decide which are the best. "RURAL FROLIC" FOR THURSDAY

Ladies' Benevolent Society Has Party in Building Where Churches and Schools Started in Olden Days of Falls of Schuylkill

RURAL FROLICS were instituted in the days of Peter Stuyvesant. At these rural assemblies, under the influence of the fiddle, "toll was enticed by gayety and followed up by the dance." The Ladies' Benevolent Society of the Church of St. James the Less will give a clipping party on Thursday evening in the historic Academy Building at the Falls, which is now used by the mission of the church. This old-fashioned party, with new-fashioned clippings, means a gay old time for all the participants. The affair is given to raise funds to provide Christmas presents for the enlisted and drafted men of the parish. The Benevolent Society was organized in 1896 by several members of the church, who formed a committee to visit those of the neighborhood in want, who were suffering, owing to the extraordinary business depression, from the general poverty which had been organized, with seventy-five members. The meetings are held on the second Tuesday of each month. For twenty-two years ago one in need of such a thing building notes have been helped quietly, without record, Mrs. M. A. Ferris in president, Miss Emma Newsome secretary and Mrs. William D. Johnson treasurer. The committee in charge of the clipping party includes Mrs. Thomas Reuter, chairman, Miss Lydia Parrar, Miss Nettie Turner, Mrs. Asherton Kouch and Mrs. James Snowden.

The "Old Schoolhouse," or Academy Building, in which the rural party will be given, stands on the lower end of Chestnut street a short distance from the Norris town branch of the Reading Railway. It is a two-story and attic story building, with a wide fronting toward the street. The general condition has been better for generations by the above title. Even the fact that every church in that part of the city has held services in the building is known to our hours as "the Falls of Schuylkill." In 1815, when the village was still known by the older residents as Fort St. Davids, and when the scattered population felt the need of a place of worship and a schoolhouse, Mr. Thomas Smith, provost of the University of Pennsylvania, gave a plot of ground to the village on condition that a suitable building for such a purpose should be built thereon.

To comply with the terms of the gift the property formed an organization known as the Falls of Schuylkill Association, to which any resident could become a member by the payment of $1. A building was immediately constructed and the cost paid by popular subscription, a goodly amount, doubtless, in view of the fact that the village was at that time in the hands of the Rev. Dr. Horatio Mehon Baptist Church, who used the building to preach to the few Baptists in the section, and a suitable building for such a purpose should be built thereon.

die, daughter of the late Mrs. John Dobson, and Mrs. Walter Jeffords, a granddaughter of Mr. Dobson, the store and dwelling at 4153 Ridge avenue will be used as headquarters for the Citizens' Patriotic Committee. The building is known as the "White House," as both the exterior and interior woodwork is painted white. The repainting and decorating has been supervised by Mrs. Elizabeth Dobson Altman, chairman of the women's auxiliary, whose exquisite taste in such matters is well known. The reception room has a pink and white wicker furniture with cushions, the gray and white tiled walls. There is a sewing room and apartments for the carvers. Psychologists would tell us that work done in such a room surrounded by well known, which blend harmoniously with the gray and white tiled walls. There is a parlor prepared for the soldiers. It contains three bags of tobacco, two boxes of cigars, a box of smoking tobacco and a reply postal card. These can be purchased for twenty-five cents each if you wish to send a few to the "boys" for Christmas.
