DESTROYER HIT BY SUBMARINE; 5 ARE INJURED

Vessel Is First American Naval Craft to Be Damaged

WAS ON PATROL DUTY

HAVANA, Oct. 18. Reports from the British Admiralty Indicating the intention of Germany to attempt a submarine blockade of the coast of Cuba have been received with the liveliest curiosity here. The military and naval authorities of Cuba are convinced that if the attempt is made it will result in failure.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. — A German emmarine torpedoed an American destroyer on patrol duty in he war zone on Tuesday. One man was killed and five wounded. The destroyer managed to make port in spite of severe damage.

The man killed was Osmond Keily Ingram, gunner's mate. He was blown overboard by the explosion and his body was not recovered. Ingram's mother, Mrs. Betty Ingram, lives at Pratt City, Ala.

The wounded were not seriously hurt. They are Herman H. Pankratz, gunner's mate, St. Louis; William E. Merritt, scaman, New York city; Frank W. Kruse, freman, Toledo; Patrick Rutledge, oiler, New York city, and William Seimer, fireman, Dundas, Minn.

Vice Admiral Sims cabled a brief report of the incident to the Navy Department late yesterday. He gave few details, but it is assumed there was no fight and that the U-boat made good her escape after launching a torpedo without showing herself.

NAME OF VESSEL WITHHELD in accordance with the policy of secrees encerning American naval operations, the department did not divulge the name of the destroyer or the exact place of the encestroyer or the exact place of the encesipler.

This is the first time an American warship has been hit by the enemy since the war began. Destroyers convoying troops and merchantmen have engaged submarines
and are believed to have accounted for some of them, and the ships patrolling the European shipping lanes undoubtedly had made many an encounter of which nothing has been heard; but until Tuesday none
had been touched by a hostile shot.

Naval gun crews on armed American merchantmen have not been so fortunate.
Many of them have had to abandon their charges and take to the boats, usually after an unwarned torpedo attack, and one officer and thriteen men have lost their lives, while four men now are in German prison camps.
In all, the navy has lost one officer and inteen men—the only men of America's fighing force actually killed in action.

Lieutemant Clarence C. Thomas, commanding the gun crew of the tank steamship Vacuum, and four of his men were the first of the mavy's casualty list. In addition to the men lost on merchantmen and Gumer's Mate Ingram, two naval flyers
have lost their lives at the French front.

Gunner's Mate Ingram, two naval flyers have lost their lives at the French front. Naval officers do not doubt that the torpedoed destroyer was taken mawares by the submarine and had no chance to bring her guns into play. They think it probable that the U-boat, cruising in search of merchant victims, stumbled upon the patrolling destroyer and was fortunate enough to get into position to haunch a torpedo and dive to safety without ever

General Pershing advised the War Department yesterday hat First Lieuterant A. Graham, medical officer, United States Reserve corps, attached to the British forces, has been severely wounded in the thighs by sunded.

General Pershing's report was without details. Lioutement Graham's next of kin is Mrs. William J. Graham, 153 Park ave-tue, Paterson, N. J.

If Lieutenant Grainam was shot white erring at the front, as is assumed here, he was the first American of the expeditionary farces to be wounded on the firing line. One American officer was killed and several en-listed men of the medical department were wended in the recent bombing of a hos-pital behind the front. They also were attached to the British forces.

Removal of Steps, Areas, Etc. Beyond Building Line to Be Postponed

FINANCES DISCUSSED

Because of the cost of "cleaning up Walnut street, between Seventh and Sev enteenth streets, Mayor Smith this afteroon vetoed a bill calling for the removaof all steps or steeps, stands or booths fences and cellar doors, extending beyond he building line above the sidewalk level.

The Mayor in giving his reasons for the veto says: "The Department of Public Works informs me that the estimated cost of removing nulsances would be about $290,000 and the City Solicitor advises me that this would be properly chargeable against the borrowing capacity of the city. You will, I believe, agree with me that it is inadvisable to add to the city's debt except by definite loan ordinances.

CONSIDER FINANCES

Financial measures before Councils today included a report of a temporary loan bill, he amount to be filled in later by the linance Committee, a transfer bill caring for immediate needs for depleted items and a number of measures involving small mounts of money.

Pressing needs include money for the mothers' pension bill, salary items in the Department of Public Works and number of supply Items.

Financial bills introduced by Joseph P. Gaffney, chairman of Councils' Finance Committee, appropriate $49,089 for the Municipal Court, $16,000 for burial expenses of persons in the military or naval service and $7070 to pay old claims for several societies for taking care of children during 1915. luring 1915.

The Municipal Court needs the money for furniture, stationery, labor and automo-bile hire and can mandamus the city for the various amounts if they are not other ise forthcoming.

The case came before the court in the prayer of Commissioner of Banking Daniel F. The court grants the mandamus and overrules Sny-der's motion to quash the case. It was said that Mr. Snyder probably would appeal to the Supreme Court, in which case the suits

Judge Kunicel goes thoroughly into the merits of the case and quotes numerous authorities as precedents. The political effect of the opinion, if it is not appealed or is sustained by the Supreme Court, will be to uphoid the Governor's hands in all atpointments until the next sension of the Legislature convenes, although the Court is careful to point out that the remedy for any irregularities with which the Executive
might be charged lies in the impeaching

The court after quoting the State Consti-

The court after quoting the State Consti-tution on the subject, bases its ruling on the following grounds:

"The Governor is authorized to fill a vacancy temporarily, but to fill it perma-nently for a full or unexpired term he must have the advice and consent of the Senate There does not seem to be any question but that the vacancy which was here filled hapthat the vacancy was was a referred any-pened during the recess of the Senate. The first commission, granted by the Governor and held by the relator, expired at the end of the session of the Senate. When the Senate adjourned the vacancy occurred.

GOVERNOR'S POWER UNRESTRICTED "If the power of the Governor to appoint to the vacancy in question is once conceded, that, we think, puts an end to this litigation. In the Constitutions of other States there is express prohibition against the appointment to office by the Executive of one who has been rejected by the Senate, but there is no such restriction found in the Constitution of this State. The restriction applies, however, not to the power of the Governor to fill the vacancy, but to his power to select the person with whom to fill it.

It is true that by appointing during the recess the person whom the Senate has rejected the Executive might continue him in the office for a period which would virtually amount to a permanent appointment, and thereby the provision of the Constitution be circumvented, which declares that to a permanent appointment to office the advice and consent of the Senate must be had. The same object could be attained by his refusal to make a nomination during the sension of the Senate. However, there can be no presumption of any such intention on the part of the Executive, but should it exist and an attempt be made to carry it out, a complete remedy is at hand.

To this suggestion, in State vs. Kuhl, 51,

New Jersey law 121, it is said:

The possibility of abuse loses its significance the moment we distinguish between power and duty. The question of power alone can be considered by this court. For willful breach of official duty or abuse of power committed to him, the Governor is, like other civil officers, lable to impeachment and must answer to the tribunal erected under the Constitution for the tribunal erected under the Constitution for the tribunal erected under the Constitution for the Governor should be guilty of a breach of duty in refusing to send any nomination at all to the Senate during its session, it would be rone the less within his power and his duty after the adjournment to fill the vacancy. In that case the impeachable conduct would be his willful refusal to advise with the Senate and not his act in filling the vacancy in the after recess. New Jersey law 191, it is said;

defendant does not question the power of he Governor to fill a vacancy and that "the sourts have no control over his right to select nor may they question the propriety
