FIVE SIXTEENS QUALIFY

By PETER PUTTER

NORTHFIELD GOLF LINKS, N. J., Oct.

Maurice Risley, of the home club, was the winner of the qualifying round of the fail tournament of Atlantic City, which began here today, made the eighteen holes

There were 106 players who left the first tee, and most of these turned in their scores. tee, and most of these turned in their mores.

It was a cold, raw day, and a biting wind from the sea made things uncomfortable for the players. The wind is a big hazard here and while the local players are able to gauge it to a nicety, it bothers the visitors, as it blows from all quarters and has a wide sweep over the course with nothing teachers.

As usual there is a big field of Philaphians in it, but none of them shows

There will be five sixteens qualify and as the Philadelphia qualifiers outnumber the other out of town men there is a likeli hood that the Quaker City players will bring home lots of bacon.

Bring name lots of bacon.

Risley, who is the local champion and who has won one of the Atlantic City tournaments, had a fine first nine with the exception of seventh.

He stymied himself with a 3 on the secend shot and took 3 putts on the green.
On the short sixteenth his tee shot landed along the road, and it was necessary to make a dozen of them before he could play his second shot. Three putts on one short hole gave him a fi.e, otherwise he had a good card and should easily have had a total of 74.

THREE SHIFTS IN LINE-UP A first-class team across the Schuylktii A first-class feath across the samples, has been suggested many times, but some chatacle has always blocked the enterprise. The new club is being backed by Dr. Charles amney, former part owner of the Camden franchise.

Despite of the Camden franchise. Doctor Wharton was on Franklin Field this afternoon. For the first time this season the former head line coach of the Penn football team made his appearance President Scheffer also received an offer from another promoter yesterday who is anxious to place a team here, so it is a on the historic Quaker gridiron. While he did not get into action, he did not fail to detect many flaws in the playing of the certainty the franchise will remain in this attempt to change the style of play until after the Pitt game.

One of the most apparent defects in the Cage and Seats Needed When interviewed on the subject Doctor Empey said, "I hope to be able to attend the meeting tomorrow night and accept the franchise."

"It has been said that you will place your Penn line play was that the men did not face the center. A natural lineman, accord-ing to Coach Wharton, will face the center.

quarters. They inspected several sites in Chester yesterday, but all proved inade-quate. The armory is the only available place, but the stands and cage must be removed from the premises after each game, and this would be too expensive. They are looking over a place in the city and if they land the same will also attend

THE prospects for big league basketball in West Philadelphia are exceedingly bright and if everything runs smoothly between now and the meeting of the Eastern offered to play with some of the eight clubs in the least of the leastern of th offered to play with some of the eight clubs in the league and a dozen or more have already enlisted for the season. Among those who have accepted are Frank Bruggy, Frankle Boyle, Bifl McKin-ley, Lew Malone, Alec Harvey, Artic Fow-ers, Garry Schnielk, Charley Biggane, "Skeets" Wright, Johnnie Beckman and "Skeets" Wri Elmer Ripley

Bruggy is captain and manager of Providence, a suburb of Scranton, while other Jerseymen with him are Boyle, Harvey and Powers. Malone is jumping center for Scranton, of which Lou Sugarman is a member. McKinley and Ripley are playing at Carbondale along with Barney Sedran, of Jasper. Johnnie Beckman has joined Plymouth and is also said to be signed by Manager Myers to play with De Neri. (Beckman will sign with anybody.) Big-gane and Wright have hooked up with Wilkes-Barre and Garry Schmelk has cast his lot with Pittston. From what can be learned Jack Lawrence, of the Greys, is also at Hazleton and not at Wilkes-Barre as first reported.

Jersey City Poor Proposition

Had Jersey City been admitted to the Eastern League it would have been a dis-astrous move on the part of the local magnates. Not that the club would have magnates. Not that the cirb would have placed an inferior combination in the field, but it would have caused a break in a compact circuit and this has been the success of the Eastern League.

An out-of-town entry meant a decided loss to Jasper, De Neri and Camden, for Jersey City would carry no following with them, while all the above, except De Neri them, while all the above, except De Nerl, bring several hundred to their games away Jersey City was last season managed by Frank Morgenweck, but he is out of the game this season, after being actively identified with the sport for over twenty straight years. According to his brother, Billy, manager of the old Camden Electrics, his health is none too good. He has charge of the freight yards at Flushing. L. I., and can hardly spare any time owing to the big increase in shipping.

This is a busy evening for the mine basketball leagues and the American Broth-erhood and Industriat all have meetings scheduled. The first two expect to adopt the schedule for the season, while the Intomorrow's meeting.

State League basketball managers have made heavy drafts on players in the Industrials hope to name their circuit.

PENN-PITT BATTLE ON SATURDAY SHOULD BE BEST FOOTBALL GAME STAGED IN THE EAST THIS YEAR

POOTBALL will step into public favor P next Saturday afternoon and regain the prestige it apparently had lost in the earlier games. For the last four weeks the griditon sport has been limping along like a trolley car on a flat wheel, just getting by on its pigt reputation. Some believed that the game was in for a terrible squelching and until the war is called off, its popularity will be on the wane. It surely looked like that, but appearances often are deceifful. The season opened while the world series was at 1, beight and when the fans were preparate for a busy season, Penn traveled to Atlanta where the team was dragged through the mud by Georgia Tech. This put a crimp in the enthusiasm and the Red and Blue supporters are just beginning to next Saturday afternoon and regain the and Blue supporters are just beginning to recover-

On Saturday one of the most important On Saturday one of the most important games of the season will be played at Franklin Field. Penn will meet the University of Pittsburgh eleven and the battle will be decidedly strenuous and quite interesting. The Red and Blue team still feels the sting of defeat and is anxious to wipe out the reverse of last year. The players and coaches realize that they have a hard job on their hands and are reparing for it. They will not be surprise anything and this should help them a little. There will be no overconfider at the part of the players. players.

Coach Folwell has , few new ideas to spring against the westerners and is trying them out daily behind closed gates. It is believed that the forward pass will be used extensively in the hope that Pitt will be swept off its feet, the same as Yale in 1918. In that year Folwell took Washington sind Jefferson to New Haven and showed Old Ell some serial football which left than in a daze. More than fo per cent of the passwers successful and the game resulted in a crushing defeat for the Blue. Penn hopes to repeat this year and she has a fairly good chance. good chance.

Pitt is not so strong as last year. The stars in the backfield, Pat Heron at end and Bob Peck at center, are missed and the team shows that they could be used this fail. Warner still has a good eleven, how ever, but in no way does it compare with the champions of 1916.

Penn, on the other hand, has uncertain material. One day it looks good and the next very bad. There are many good players on the squad, however, and it is up to Folwell to bring their work out. In the last week old coaches and former Penn stars have flocked to Franklin Field to assist Bob. Dutch Sommer, one of the best gridino tutors in the country, is on the job every day and Sl. Pauxtis, Scarlet, Dr. Bob Torrey, Lavigne and many others are leading a hand.

A huge crowd is expected to attend the game, for high-class football will be played and Pitt always gives the spectators a run for their money. Special trains will run for their money. Special trains will be run from Pittsburgh, and Philadelphians will be out in large numbers
