Doll Wedding Will Be Delightful Feature of Bazaar and Entertainment to Be Given on Saturday for Mountaineers' Families

Bellevue-Stratford next Saturday for the benefit of the families of the Mountaineers who have gone to war.

The Philadelphia Auxiliary of the Southern Industrial Educational Association, with Mrs. William Headley as chairman, is making every effort that the lecture and bazaar be a great success, and the dolls' wedding will be no small part of the unique and unusual features. Mrs. Luther D. Chase is chairman of the doll committee. The bride, which was dressed by a Philadelphia modiste, has been given to the association by Mrs. Guernsey, president general of the D. A. R., while the bridegroom for this auspicious occasion is the outcome of the work of such tailors as W. S. Jones, of Walnut street, and Mann & Dilks.

Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, of Pittsburgh, State regent of the D. A. R., has Sidney Drew, the well-known film actress, has sent a lady doll of marvelous beauty. The president general of U. D. C. has given a lady of the "60's"; another lady has been sent by Mrs. Brumbaugh, and Billie Burke has given a beauty. Fifty dolls in all will take a part in the bridal procession and reception. The floral decorations will be provided by J. J. Haber mehl. Now you know it's going to be cute! At noon there will be an illustrated lecture by Miss Cora Neal, secretary, showing the homes, life, scenery and school of the Mountaineers and other features of interest in the Appalachian Mountains.

THEN there will be a large bazaar with the usual array of attractively decorated booths for needlework, useful articles, bric-a-brac, lingerie and all sorts and kinds of dainty boudoir accessories; and in the afternoon there will be moving pictures for children.

In the evening a dance will be given to meet the officers of the navy and marine corps, when the receiving party will include Mrs. Louis Lewis, Mrs. Spencer K. Mulford, Mrs. Thomas Potter, Jr., Mrs. John H. Hubbs, Mrs. Robert Alexander, Mrs. John B. Gribbel, Mrs. Waring Wilson and Mrs. Luther Chase.

WE ALL know the very active part that Chestnut Hill took in the second Liberty Bond campaign, but perhaps you did not all hear of the stirring meeting held on Thursday evening of last week at the Service House. Mrs. Walter Clark presided as chairman, and before she had finished speaking her usual sense of humor had won the day and her audience was in gales of laughter. Mr. John Mason made a spirited speech, his last words, to the effect that we wouldn't be satisfied until the "American flag waves over Berlin and 'Yankee Doodle' is played," brought down the house.

John A. Harris and Walter Clark also spoke, Mr. Clark urging that cash and not credit be given for the bonds, as he feared "they might spend the money on the way home." Mrs. George Woodward's car was at the door to take any subscriptions to the bank :; once. In fact, nothing was left undone which could further the cause, and the committee was

It is the glory of the world that nothing It is the glory of the world that nothing in it is stationary or rests contented with itself. All our young men in the various camps are striving to form a strong army to uphoid the nation, and all the young women at home are studying the craft of making things. HAVEN'T you often heard tales of people putting away their Christmas presents and hauling them out next year to give them away again? Nine times out of ten a cute little yellow bowl that wouldn't go well in a pink room, or a pair of gilded shoe-trees, will go straight back to the original owner, done up in much tissue paper and accompanied by a card bearing "love and Christmas greetings." The sender then wonders by a somewhat cool little note of thanks arrives from the recipient, followed by a downright ky nod when next they meet, and decides that "people are queer creatures." Well, you may think of such horrors as merely fairy tales, but they're not-they really happen.

For instance, I know of a very charming debutante[®] who found that an old school friend of h-rs was in town and was coming to see her that afternoon, so in haste she called up a couple of girls to make up a bridge hand. They had a delightful afternoon, and the girl who won the prize very sweetly insisted that the "visiting lady" should take it. So after the usual protests she accepted and smilingly opened up the dainty box. There reposing in pink tissue paper she saw the same identical linen handkerchief case that she had embroidered with her own fingers last year, while her hostess, blissfully unconscious of her social blunder, apologized profusely for the smallness of the gift, laying it to lack of time to get anything better. Oh, boy!
