HOOVER TO SMASH FOOD PROFITEERS

U. S. to Take Absolute Control of Twenty Basic Products on Thursday

EXPECTS MATERIAL CUTS

How Hoover Will Cut Food Prices by Licensing System

FOOD control begins Thursday by means of a licensing system. Twenty basic food products are included.

All wholesalers and retailers doing a business of $100,000 a year are subject to the regulations.

Conspiracy to prevent enforcement of the law is punishable by $10,000 fine or imprisonment for two years or both.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The Government will take its first big smash at retail food prices when it assumes absolute control of twenty basic food products Thursday.

This control will take the form of a licensing system under the food administration. Food Administrator Hoover expects to effect material reductions in the retail prices of the foods involved by the first of the year.

His plan is to see that these foods reach the smallest retailer at reasonable prices, and the public what the dealers paid for the goods and depend on the public to prevent retailers charging more than a fair profit.

Wholesalers doing that much business will be licensed and controlled. All big meat packers, cold-storage men, millers, cannery, grain dealers will have to get a government license between now and Thursday or quit business.

The food administration will see that all producers have a free outlet and a ready market for their products; that all manipulation and speculation in these foods are stopped at once; that there is no hoarding of supplies; that there are no unfair or unreasonable profits anywhere along the line.

Licensed men or firms caught conspiring to prevent enforcement of the food-control law will be subject to $10,000 fine or imprisonment for two years, or both.

A special legal department has been organized by the food administration to make these measures effective. Those licensed must make reports to the Government on certain forms regularly, telling just what they have been doing.

The commodities affected include: Wheat, barley, oats, corn, rye, rice and all their by-products; beans, cottonseed, peanuts, soybeans and their by-products; oleomargarine and all dairy products; eggs, fish, fresh fruits, vegetables, canned and dried products of all kinds; meats, sugar and syrups.

Hoover's regulations promulgated today provide that poultry, eggs, butter and fresh or frozen fish, which have been in storage for thirty days or more, cannot be represented or advertised as fresh and must not be offered for sale without being marked clearly with a placard bearing the words "cold storage goods."

Laws providing this are in effect already in some States, but the sweeping rules made by Hoover now cover the whole country. It will not be possible for warehouses to store any food products which are diseased or otherwise unfit for human consumption.

A further rule requires that warehouses must be classified as "public" or "private" and that a warehouse which not only receives goods to be stored for others but stores goods on its own account must be licensed as a dealer in order that its transactions in foods may be regulated by the food administration.

GOVERNOR CALLS ON PEOPLE TO SAVE FOOD FOR VICTORY

A PROCLAMATION WHEREAS, The National Government is exercising its utmost endeavor to impress upon our people the great importance of the conservation of our food supplies...

Whereas, the Hon. Herbert Hoover, with commendable zeal and foresight, has given point and purpose to this patriotic movement by the slogan, "Food will win the war," and has impressed upon the people the fact that if each one reduces his weekly diet by one pound of wheat flour, two ounces of fat, seven ounces of sugar and seven ounces of meat we can not only maintain our own people in comfort, but also save enough to supply the deficiency of our allies; and

Whereas, With no sacrifice of health or comfort, and, indeed, with physical advantage, it is quite possible to do this reasonable thing, having in mind that no effort on our part should be neglected if we are to demonstrate to the world our voluntary control of our own selves and our patriotic resolve to do our full duty to country and to righteousness and justice;

Therefore, I, Martin G. Brumbaugh, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, having in mind the great and commanding service Pennsylvania should render the nation at this time, do most earnestly call upon our people—all our people in Pennsylvania—to take immediate and favorable notice of this desire of the nation and Commonwealth, and, as good people should, give practical heed to this call.

It is also imperative that all the women of Pennsylvania join in a national food conservation army by registering on the food cards, soon to be presented to them, their willingness and eagerness to do their full part in this great movement.

STOLEN SUGAR SPILT IN MAGISTRATE'S COURT

Part of Contents of Bag Rolls on Floor and Starts Scramble by Spectators

Police men with large families and eyes glazed at a bag containing 100 pounds of sugar today, when Albert Clayton, forty-nine years old, 1301 McKean street, was arraigned before Magistrate Eisenbrown, at the Fourth and Race streets station, charged with larceny.

The bag was opened and the contents were introduced in evidence by Police man John Casey, who arrested Clayton. As the bag was placed before Magistrate Eisenbrown several pounds of sugar rolled down on the floor. There was a scramble by several spectators to get their hands on the sugar, but they were held off by police men.

"I have a fine pantry at home and with plenty of shelves where I could store that stuff away," said one of the spectators.

Police man Casey testified that Clayton, who is a transfer, took the bag of sugar from the wharf of the Delaware River Transportation Company, at the foot of Arch street.

The factory of Lerner Brothers, 46 North Seventh street, was entered by burglars last night and merchandise valued at $900 was stolen. The theft was discovered by a night watchman.

A touring car belonging to Walter Jennings, 2415 North Water street, was stolen last night from in front of Fifth and Pine streets.

ALL FRATERNITIES WILL HAVE ACCESS TO CAMPS

Baker Announces Organizations Will Be Allowed to Erect Own Buildings

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Secretary of War Baker today announced that all fraternal organizations in future will be given permission to work within the various army cantonments.

His decision followed a request from representatives of various secret and fraternal orders that they be given privileges similar to those enjoyed by the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus, which up to this time have been the only organizations allowed to work within the camps.

Baker said the erection of buildings for social gatherings will be allowed when the land is available, and that representatives of each order may look after their own members in each camp, provided that they do not attempt to gather members or to initiate members within the camp.

WILSON PUTS DAMPER ON CAPITAL'S GAITIES

War Stress Ends Brilliance of Winter Season at White House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—A pall hangs over Washington's social elite and gay butterflies. President and Mrs. Wilson, together with the Cabinet wives, have put the lid on the usual winter social season.

The White House will be closed, except for strictly private functions, on account of the war. The women of the Cabinet circle have decided to abandon their customary Wednesday "at homes."

Gorgeous receptions at the White House and the famous presidential dinners all have been eliminated under the stress of war. The diplomatic dinners, dinner to members of the Supreme Court and the other dignitaries, the glittering army and navy reception, the Congressional reception, generally marked by capacity throngs in the White House—all have been placed under the ban by executive decree.

PENNYPACKER RELICS TO BE KEPT INTACT

Syndicate Will Save Collection From Dispersal at Auction

STATE MAY GET THEM

The late Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker's rich collection of Pennsylvania antiques and curios, which was to have been sold at public auction by Samuel T. Freeman's Sons, has been saved for Pennsylvania by a gossip of Harrisburg men, headed by William E. Bailey.

A bill in the late Legislature provided for the purchase of the collection by the State for $15,000, the articles to form part of the historic exhibits, but the measure failed of enactment.

The money has not yet been raised, according to Heman A. Pennypacker, a son of the Governor, but Mr. Bailey and his associates are virtually certain that it will be. The relics will then be held and a standing offer will be made to sell them to the Commonwealth at the same price at which the syndicate bought them, plus a reasonable rate of interest on the purchase price.

The collection comprises all sorts of articles—potteries, pewter and other metal vessels, lacas, objects of art, decoration and utility, made in Pennsylvania in many generations.

STEAL BRASS AND PIPE FITTINGS

Thieves Active in Unoccupied Houses in West Philadelphia

Reports of numerous thefts of brasses and pipe fittings from vacant houses in West Philadelphia have led the police to complain of what they allege is the laxness of real estate agents in that section in giving out keys indiscriminately to prospective tenants without taking precautions to see that the houses are securely locked after the trip of inspection is over.

A recent case of this sort of burglary was that in the house of Thomas David, 3541 Walnut street, which was entered at night and robbed of pipe fittings. The value of the property stolen was comparatively small, but the damage done to the woodwork of the house was considerable.

The police say that cases of this sort are usually due to the fact that some one to whom the keys have been furnished by a real estate agent has left a window or a door unlocked, making entrance an easy matter for the thief.
