

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Miss Rush and Mr. Drayton Wed Tomorrow at St. James' Church—Nancy Wynne Tells of Young Hero's Struggle to Go to Dance

WELL, Charlotte Rush certainly does not belle her name in the point of rushing a wedding, does she? But, indeed, I think she's right; it isn't as if she and John Drayton had just become engaged, as so many of the girls who have married rather hurriedly have been, but these two young people were betrothed before the war was declared, and so there is no likelihood of marriage in haste and repentance at leisure. They've been engaged long enough to be sure.

you see, she never received an explanation as to why he was so late, and you would have been rather cool, too, if you had been the girl. NANCY WYNNE.

DANCING CLASS WILL CONTINUE

First Meeting to Be Held in Tioga Drawing Room on Friday Evening

There are a number of informal entertainments on Tioga's social calendar for November. Nearly every home has one of its members either in one of the various camps or fighting abroad, and mothers and sisters are giving their time to the Emergency Aid or Red Cross work, so no elaborate affairs are being planned for the late autumn or winter. A pleasant afternoon's cards with congenial friends, a few informal dances or an occasional musical lightens the war cares. Surely we need a little play to keep up our spirits.

JEAN THOMPSON and Edmund Thayer are going to be married next Saturday, you know, and certainly Molly will have a busy time being bridesmaid at two brothers' weddings, for Russell and Shelby Johnson will marry the following week in Baltimore. And so it goes. Yesterday we heard that Drexel Paul, Frazier Harrison and Harry Leonard were all on the Alcedo, but that they were saved. Poor wives and mothers and fathers of those who did go down! No word we little human beings can say will help them. Thank God that He is; otherwise, how could we stand the sorrows that pile upon us if we did not know that some day there would be a reward?

PLANS are fast taking shape for the patient which is to precede the Charity Ball this season, and for which preliminary rehearsals are soon to be held.

The ball this year, as I told you, is to take place at the Academy of Music on the evening of December 27, and will be the only large ball of the season. The majority of last year's debutantes, with most of the "shroud" debutantes of this year, will be divided into four groups, representing four allied nationalities, Russia, France, England and Italy, and each group is representing one of the four beneficiaries for which the ball is given.

AMERICA is suggested in each group by ten dancers in symbolic costumes, while each nationality will also have two special or feature dancers.

Mrs. Robert Emott Hare has charge of the English group, which represents the Jefferson Hospital, and among those who will dance in this division are Agnes Smyth, Corinne Freeman, Marion Button, Isabel Page, Mrs. Vall Marsh, Mrs. Robert Liggett, Mrs. Robert Winton and Mrs. Lloyd Smith.

Mrs. Randall Moran and Mrs. William Bullitt are arranging for the Russian dancers, which division represents the children's medical ward of the University Hospital, while Mrs. J. Stricker Coles and Mrs. Alfred Reginald Allen, for the Lyng-In Charity Hospital, will direct the Italian group. Among the young girls who will dance in this set are Mary Boyd, Emily Hopkinson, Katharine Hunter, Barbara Benson, Alva Sargeant and Betty Brock.

The fourth group, which is being managed by Mrs. T. De Witt Cuyler in the name of the Children's Aid Society, will represent France.

HE WAS going to a party that evening, a "quite informal affair," but oh, so exclusive, my dear! Naturally he wanted to look his very best, and hence his visit to the tailor on his way to the city (he lived in a college town not far from here, you know) and, too, he went to sold college, and was quite proud of the fact. Well, friend Tailor promised to give the dress suit a most marvelous pressing, and our jaunty young hero was to stop for it when he came out from town. Oh, yes, it would be all ready then, and would really look "br-span new." Well, into the city our young friend went, but so many things did he have to attend to that he didn't fare forth from that city till a rather later hour than he had expected. In fact, it was actually 6:30 o'clock when he arrived at friend Tailor's modest establishment. Well, it was so modest that it had closed a half hour before, and friend Tailor had returned to his home about two miles away. He was probably eating his dinner at this very minute, thought our friend ferociously, with never a care nor worry as to whether other people got theirs or not. For, you know, one couldn't very well go to this select little affair in everyday attire, and the question was how to get that suit. Well, he bumped and kicked at the door for a few minutes and was just about to smash a beautiful plate glass window into small bits when around the corner came a blue-coated figure with swinging club, and saddy and desperately poor F— strode away. But just then he had a clever idea, and forthwith he dashed up to college, firmly resolved to beg, borrow or steal somebody else's dress suit. Now, a number of somebody Elses were quite willing to lend him theirs, but good night! They were either too large or too small, and, as you have already been told, that party was to be decidedly a fail. Finally, after numerous precious moments had sped by, oh, joy! oh, bliss! he found one that fitted him perfectly.

But would you ever believe it? He had completely forgotten the girl he was to take to the affair till the sudden realization came upon him that she was probably clanked and silver-slipped at this very minute, and naturally awaiting his arrival most impatiently. Some kind friend, however, phoned her that F— would be around right away, though I must say she was decidedly vexed and not at all his usual sweet self when her betrothed meant really got there. For

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8.—Apprehension concerning the safety of Lieutenant Commander William T. Conn, Jr., Baltimore, who was commanding officer on the patrol ship Alcedo, which fell prey to a German torpedo in the war zone early Monday morning, has been allayed by the receipt from France by his wife, Mrs. Jane Rider Conn, 2968 St. Paul street, this city, of a cablegram from her husband, which told that he was "safe and well and feeling pretty good."

No details were embodied in the message, but the personal word set at rest the fears of his wife and father here that he had been taken prisoner of war.

HOSTS AT HOME PROVIDED FOR VISITING SERVICE MEN

Soldiers and Sailors on Furlough to be Cared for Overnight by Public

Philadelphia's citizens are to show their homes for the accommodation of the enlisted men who visit the city, organizing as "Hosts-at-Home" to provide overnight hospitality for soldiers and sailors who come to town from the various training camps and cantonments. Hotels, boarding houses, civic and fraternal organizations here are joining in the movement, which is unique as a form of community war-time service.

Alden E. Moore, of the War Emergency Unit, has developed the plan from a suggestion made by Robert D. Dripps, chairman of the Philadelphia district committee of the State Committee of Public Safety. As chairman of the Philadelphia Hosts-at-Home, he is completing arrangements for the accommodation of the city's visitors in uniform, many of whom come in each week-end from Allentown, Gettysburg and Camp Dix.
