Great Demand for Tickets for Miss Burke's Talk at Academy of Music Tomorrow Night. Nancy Wynne Has a Tale to Tell

admission fee, you know, and the kets have gone like wildfire. The lecwas planned by the Independence uare Auxiliary of the American Red Cross; and the Overseas Committee of endemy of Music was procured for the ut and given out for the boxes and seats. pleene Burke, you know, is the greatdniece of the great Edmund Burke ed she is the honorary organizing secretary of the Scottish Women's Hospitals for Foreign Work. I said there were to be no admission charges, did I not? But there will be a collection, when 125 aides, under the direction of Mrs. Dave Lewis, will go through the audience with baskets for any voluntary contributions for the two organizations which planned the enterment, and the moneys collected will used for Christmas bags, tobacco, jam and Christmas kits,

THE aides include a number of captains who have volunteered their services for each team, among them Maizle Rush Dorothy Willing, Marion Button, Gertrude Pancoast, Martha McAllister, Lenore Mc-Call, Mrs. Hal Patton, Mrs. Robert Henterson, Mrs. Edwin Bonsack and Mrs. Bob

The committee of the Overseas Club is ended by Mrs. Bean Thomson, assisted by Mrs. Ned Browning, Mrs. Billie Warden, Mrs. Russell Jones, Mrs. Sam Bell, Ir., Mrs. Barclay Warburton, Mrs. Jack Mason and Mrs. Dobson Altemus.

The Independence Square Auxiliary is headed by Mrs. George Horace Lorimer, with Mrs. George Fales Baker as vice chairman. Others on the committee include Mrs. Otis Skinner, Mrs. Fred Eng-Esh, Mrs. Theron Crang, Mrs. Frank Dercum. Mrs. 1. H. O'Harra, Mrs. Charles McLean, Mrs. Hampton Carson and Miss R. P. Dickey

BRIGADIER GENERAL LYTTLETON WALLER TAZEWELL WALLER will also make an address and Miss Burke will be introduced by Mr. Stevens Heckscher. She will be the Lorimers' guest while in Philadelphia and they will entertain for her at dinner before the lecture. Although only her second visit to this dty, she having spoke last spring at the residence of Mr. Stotesbury, Miss Burke b well known here in recognition of her devoted work for humanity. Abroad she has been termed the Knight of Tenderness and Pity, while in America she has won for berself the name of "The Thouand Dollars a Day Nurse," owing to the large sums she has been able to raise for various chapters.

Her book, "The White Road to Verdan," written from her own personal experiences, is another tribute to her capa-Mity. Her subject tomorrow night will be "They Shall Not Pass." When she is to full-dress parade Miss Burke wears the uniform of the staff of the Scottish Women's Hospitals, adorned with the Serbian Clavonic Red Cross medal, the French order of the Golden Palm, the Serbian Slavenic Red Cross medal, the military medal.

The United States Marine Corps Band has offered its services for the evening.

IN THESE days of hurry-up weddings. you really cannot expect your friends to remember your married name, especially if you announce your engagement one week to a perfect stranger in a khaki unform and the next week walk down the aisle hanging on his manly arm while he holds his cap over his heart and his sword clanks at his side. His NAME on not impress your friends, who are much more interested in what his comdission is and whether your wedding fing is gold or platinum.

That, of course, applies to your friends. With your family it is different. How build your mother, who has cried herself to sleep over the invitations and peeped into every branch of his family bee, forget the name of the man who takes her little girl from her?

How could father, with visions of many bills dancing before his eyes and a little mp of jealousy knocking at his heart. full to remember the name of him who is the cause of all this commotion? How bould they? And yet-

She is a pretty little war bride, and, lke many another of her kind, spends the hours during which "hubby" is busy being a lieutenant back home with father and mother. It is especially hard for father to realize that in the eyes of the law at least daughter's name is no longer his own. Not long ago the girl and her parents were invited to a reception, and father, always proud of his good-looking family, brought up a distinguished army man to be introduced with much cere-

"Captain Jones, I want you to meet Mrs. Smith and my daughter, Miss-I mean Mrs .- er - Oh, Mary, for good-hess take, what is your name?" No, you can't expect your friends to remember your married name, but of course it's different with your family!

T WAS a wonderful sight, wasn't it' Franklin Field, I mean, on Saturday, Perhaps I should say "sights," for I never Brained my eyes harder at a three-ring circus than I did out there, trying to see everything that was going on. The motor mengers, with General Waller of the Marines in their midst, were one thing not to be overlooked, and they made a one showing when they had their picture taken, even if they were almost in the middle of a freshman scrimmage. When he two parades went around the track. nds playing, colors waving and mascots straining ahead, I forgot all about the game, standing up and being thrilled with the rest of the grand stand.

Then, that Ambulance cheering section did you see that solid square of khaki as and fall with the cadence of their iren cheer? And did you hear the harby that came from the megaphones of men who sang with the band?

HEAR the demand for tickets for was there with Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Stotes-Kathleene Burke's lecture tomorrow bury, Mrs. George Barnett, and several ight is so great it's likely quite a few others. In fact, everybody in town was as will be disappointed. There is there, and I hope they all found it as nteresting as I did.

It was really the Army and Navy playing, and Philadelphia seemed to realize the fact, for the crowd was representative of the interest that is always shown Emergency Aid was asked to join in for that game. The would-have-been were all there, and I saw Pauline Arey's cute little red hat. realing of the thirteenth and tickets sent turning from side to side at a great rate. as she tried like all the rest of us to se three or four exciting things at once.

Mrs. C. E. The formal retreat after the game was most impressive. There was no hesitation there about men taking off their hats to the flag, and while the "Star Spangled Banner" was played, and here and there all over the field you could see solitary figures of straight trim marines standing at salute till the last note was played and the flag had slid from the mast. Best of all were the players, however, for they, thoroughly done out, though many of them were stopped as they were leaving the field, and stood at salute till the very NANCY WYNNA.

PLANS MADE FOR CHARITY BALL

Allied Countries Represented by Groups of Dancers, America Prominent in Each Picture

Breathing forth a spirit of patriotism and democracy the opening pageant of the thirty-eighth annual Charity Ball promises to be one of the most spectacular and beau-tiful ever presented by this well-known organization. In spite of present war condi-tions, the bail this year, which takes pince on the evening of December 27, at the Academy of Music, will be unusually large and brilliant, as it will be virtually the only large ball of the season.

The opening feature, beginning at 3 o'clock promptly, will be a pageant dance, "Columbia's Crucible," in which representa-tives of the four beneficiaries will take part. The allied countries will be represented by a large number of dancers dressed in cos-tumes of the national colors, while America will be represented in each individual group. To the national Russian music, dances of this country will be portrayed by prominent young girls under the direction of Mrs. Randal Morgan and Mrs. William Bullitt. While the group representing England, un-der the direction of Mrs. Robert Emott Hare will enter to the music of "Rule Bri tannia." Costumed in the English national colors, they will, be led by the characters of John Bull and Britannia.

Italia follows to the music of the Garri baidi hymn; two couples in the regulation Italian costume will then give a feature dance to Moskowski's "Tarantella." This group of dances is under the direction of Mrs. T. De Witt Cuyler. With the strains of the "Marseillaise," the French dancers, who are under the direction of Mrs. J. Stricker Cole and Mrs. Alfred Reginald, will enter and two couples will dance to the music of 'Orpheus and Eurydice."

A unique idea, devised and arranged by Mr. Charles S. Morgan, concentrates the four groups of dancers into a clever finale, which is termed, Columbia's Crucible," or "The Melting Pot," featuring Columbia, who afterward leads the grand march and opens the ball for general dancing.

The demand for boxes has already begun, among those having secured them being Mr. Alexander Van Rensselger, Mr. John Frederick Lewis, Mr. Charles Harrison, Jr., Mr. T. De Witt Cuyler, Mr. John F. Coons, Mr. Ellis A. Gimbel, Mr. John D. Johnson, Mr. Ellis A. Gimbel, Mr. John D. Johnson, Mr. Bright H. Taylor, Mr. Arthur H. Lee, Mrs. Roland L. Taylor, Mr. Arthur H. Lea Mr. Henry E. #### PHILADELPHIA IN NATIONAL SHOW

Various Men and Women to Exhibit Hunters, Ponies, Saddle and Harness Horses

Philadelphians will be more conhan ever in their loyal support of the New York Horse Show which opens this morning in Madison Square Garden, principally be-cause of their eigerness to forward whatever work will aid American men in trench, amp and cantenment.

The gross receipts of this year's National Horse Show will go in their entirety for the benefit of the Red Cross. All of the expenses of the show have been underwritten by the directors and every penny of evenue from whatever source will be urned over to the society. This naturally means that horse lovers

Il over the country are rallying to the aid of this splendid work, and Philadelphia's quota required a special train which left Bryn Mawr a few days ago for the transportation of the blooded animals to New York.

Bryn Mawr Station looked like a county sorse fair at the time the cars were being loaded. The famous Glen Riddle hunters belonging to Samuel D. Riddle, Charles E. Coxe's string of ponies, Dr. Thomas G. Ashton's ponies, William A. Leiber's har-ness horses and backneys, Miss Constance Vauclain's celebrated show horses. Miss Isabelle Wanamaker's noted winners and ones Jean L. Austin's saddle horses and ponies with all the necessary trappings made up an array of fine theroughbred horsefiesh that aroused the pride of own-ers and spectators alike when they were being led into their special cars.

The management of the National Horse Show declares that the forces of society have gathered with enthusiasm to the standard of the Red Cross through this greatest event of the year in horse show circles. This is particularly true of Phila-delphians interested in the show, and a well-known Main Line exhibitor declares that the horses that go from the Philadel-phia district will more than hold their own with the best animals of the world.
