PENNSYLVANIA MEN MAKE HEALTH RECORD

Both Guardsmen and National Army Recruits Keep Clear of Hospitals

MEASLES A CAMP PEST

Southern Rookies Are Easy Victims of Disease They Escaped in Childhood

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.

The health record of the Pennsylvania troops in both the National Guard and the National Army has been exceptionally good. No better showing of health has been made by the men from any other State, either in the number of men sick in quarters or those confined to the hospitals. The rate of sickness among the Pennsylvania youths has been less than that of almost every other State.

This was the statement made today by Colonel F. P. Reynolds, chief of the sanitary corps, United States army, and his assertions are borne out by the daily and weekly reports made to the surgeon general of the army by the medical officers at the various training camps.

The Pennsylvania National Guard had the best health record established by troops of any State during the week ended November 17, the last period for which figures are available at the surgeon general's office. During that week, out of 28,716 national guardsmen in camp, only 467 new cases were reported. In the same week the New York National Guardsmen made the next best record with 348 new hospital cases out of 31,894 guardsmen in camp.

At Camp Meade, Md., where the Pennsylvania National Army men are in training with selected men from New Jersey and Maryland, there are 32,687 men. Out of these only 574 new cases of sickness were reported during the week ended November 17—a very good record, the surgeon general said.

Measles has been the chief illness, about half the men in hospitals being sufferers from that disease. Especially is this true of men from the South.

"The greater portion of the men from the southern States at the training camps have lived all their lives in the country," said Colonel Reynolds in discussing the matter with the EVENING LEDGER correspondent. "There are very few large cities in the South, and the population there is not so dense as in northern cities. The children there do not come into close touch with other children to the extent they do in the thickly populated northern cities.

"Consequently they do not suffer from the so-called diseases of childhood while young. But almost all of them get sick with measles during their first weeks at camp. But after they recover from the so-called childhood diseases their health is usually very good, and having had the benefit of outdoor life all their lives they usually make strong, husky and healthy soldiers. The northern boys have lived in close quarters with their fellows, have ridden in trolley cars daily, gone to school with thousands of other children and have had the measles and all the other childhood diseases when young, so that getting into the big army camps and being thrown into close touch with thousands of other boys has no ill effect upon them."

During the week ended November 17 Camp Upton, N. Y., reported no new cases of measles, neither did Camp Dix, N. J. Camp Devens, Mass., reported six; Camp Meade, Md., where the Pennsylvania drafted men are camped, had eleven, and Camp Sherman, Ohio, five. In the same week at the southern camps of the National Army, where the southern boys are training, Camp Jackson, Columbia, S. C., reported 285 new cases of measles; Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark., 611, and Camp Travis, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, 697.

EX-GUARDSMAN IS ACCUSED OF "SEDITIOUS THREATS"

Admits Drinking, but Is Locked Up, as Air Corps Men Take His Activities Seriously

JERSEY CITY, Nov. 24.—Henry Martin whose former address was given as 334 North Bromley street, Scranton, Pa., arrested here Thursday on charges of making seditious threats, has been remanded by Judge Markley for action by United States Commissioner Carpenter.

Martin was arrested at the Court House Hotel. Aerial corps men made the complaint. There are fifteen other men of the air corps at the hotel. They say that Martin, while plainly hostile, tried to "mix" with the soldiers. Last night, they charge, he tried to get some of the soldiers to drink intoxicants and was rebuffed. The sergeants say that Martin then threatened to blow them all up, boasting that he "could get a hundred men to do it."

Martin told Captain Lee, of the Jersey City police, that he had been drinking and became "rattled." He did not recant, however. Papers were found in Martin's pockets which showed he had belonged to the Thirteenth Regiment, Pennsylvania National Guard, and was discharged for failure to attend drills.

FAILS TO GET DEBDEN HALL

Promise to Pay £20,000 Balance in Week for Strathcona Estate Refused

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The Court of Appeals has refused to extend the time of the would-be purchaser of Debden Hall, the late Lord Strathcona's estate in Essex, although he brought £100,000 in treasury bills and promised the court to pay the balance in a week. The estate, of 5300 acres, was held for £120,000.

The contract to purchase expired in September, 1916, and was extended to August, 1917. Baroness Strathcona preferred to cancel the contract, retaining £6000, the original deposit.

Handkerchief Factory for Scranton

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 24.—A handkerchief factory which will employ 200 women to begin with is to open here in the course of a few weeks, the Long Handkerchief Company, of New York, having leased a building here which is being rapidly remodeled into a factory. To induce the industry to locate in Scranton the Board of Trade guaranteed 5 per cent of the first year's payroll.

Delaware Banker Dead

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 24.—George L. Townsend, former member of the Legislature and president of the People's National Bank, of Middletown, is dead at his home in Odessa. He was interested in farming as well as banking. A widow and nine children survive. Four of the sons are in the banking business in this city, two of them being vice presidents of trust companies. Mr. Townsend was seventy-six years old.

George Dukes, Churchman, Dies

George Dukes, trustee and deacon of the First Baptist Church for many years, died at noon yesterday at his home, 1532 Christian street. He was seventy years old. He was formerly a member of the Spruce Street Baptist Church and later of the Bethesda Baptist Church. When it was consolidated with the First Church he became identified with the latter. For many years he had been in the printing business at 1020 Arch street. Two sisters, Mrs. Galley and Miss Harriet Dukes, survive. The funeral will be held early next week.

STOCK IMPOUNDED BY COURT

Certificates Held in Reading Pending Decision in Investor's Suit

READING, Pa., Nov. 24.—Five certificates each for 1000 shares of stock, at $10 par, representing $50,000 in all, have been impounded in court here by Prothonotary Alex R. Griesemer pending the final court decision in the case of E. Richard Meinig vs the International Money Machine Company, of this city, and its president, Edward C. Baker. Meinig alleged that he was induced to invest in the company's stock under misrepresentations.

Cash, a note and securities to the amount of $58,965 were given for the 5000 shares par value $50,000. The case went to court and Judge Endlich filed an opinion in Meinig's favor. Meinig has turned the stock over to the Prothonotary, but Baker and the company have taken out an appeal.

Many Grain Elevators Burned

MOBRIDGE, S. D., Nov. 24.—An average of four elevators a day are being destroyed by fire in the Dakotas and Minnesota. The fires are declared traceable to various "phosphorus" gangs.

Two fires found Thursday and extinguished without serious damage in Lemmon, were started by phosphorus plants, according to word from that town. One was found under the coal sheds of the Western Lumber Company and the other in the Hamm Brewing Company's warehouse.
