JUST GOSSIP, ABOUT PEOPLE

Y. W. C. A. to Be Subject of Meeting at Merion Cricket Club Tonight—Plays and Players Will Hold 34th Club Night

MAYBE you thought last week when the Y. M. C. A. had finished with collecting you would be finished, but you're not; "not by no means whatsoever!" Because the Y. W. C. A. is going to have its innings now. You see, it wants to run hostess houses and places where the families of the boys may stop outside of camp if they go down to visit them. That certainly is a great idea, isn't it? Then there are numbers of women who work with, near and for the armies, and they have to be looked after as well as the boys, and so since June of this year the national board of the Y. W. C. A. through its War Work Council has set under way a program of work which is in very close co-operation with the Federal Commission, the Y. M. C. A., the general war council of the churche, and individual commanding officers of the army and navy.

The Y. W. C. A. has a Junior War Council and Patriotic League, too, in which the girls, numbering more than 100,000, have made solemn pledges in regard to their work for God and country.

"Every army center employs numbers of girls and women in telephone offices, in shops, in restaurants and as launderesses. In very few instances has any provision for adequate housing of these employes been considered." All this the little booklet issued by the Y. W. C. A. tells us, and those women among us who are interested in this matter have called a meeting to be held this evening at the Merion Cricket Club. Mrs. Robert E. Speer, who is president of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A., and Mrs. John Meigs, vice chairman of the executive committee of the War Work Council of the Y. W. C. A., will be the speakers of the evening and Mr. Horatio Gates Lloyd will preside. On the honorary committee of women are Mrs. Thomas Ashton, Mrs. William Austin, Mrs. Samuel Bodine, Mrs. Edward Bok, Mrs. William Boyd, Mrs. Samuel Brown, Mrs. Alexander Brown, Mrs. Howard Butcher, Jr., Mrs. Walter Chrystie, Mrs. Herbert Clark, Mrs. Louis Clarke, Mrs. William Clothier, Jr., Mrs. Henry Hill Collins, Jr., Mrs. William Comfort, Miss Mary Converse, Mrs. Herbert Darlington, Mrs. Leslie Davis, Mrs. William Dreer, Mrs. Van Horn Ely, Mrs. Clarence Geist, Mrs. William Gest, Miss Mary Gibson, Mrs. Rodman Griscom, Mrs. Henry Hopper, Mrs. Alba Johnson, Mrs. Eldridge Johnson, Mrs. Atwater Kent, Mrs. Horatio Gates Lloyd, Mrs. William Long, Mrs. Henry Loos, Mrs. William McCreary, Mrs. William Logan MacCoy, Mrs. James Oakford, Mrs. Harold Peirce, Mrs. Joseph Pew, Mrs. A. P. Reifler, Mrs. Stanley Reeve, Mrs. Wistmrop Sargent, Mrs. Henry Scattergood, Mrs. Charles Scott, Jr., Mrs. Percy Simpson, Mrs. Walter Stephenson, Mrs. Fletcher Stites, Mrs. Robert Strawbridge, Mrs. John Thayer, Mrs. Sydney Thayer, Mrs. Paul Thompson, Mrs. Charles Vaughan, Mrs. George Vaux, Jr., Mrs. Benjamin Wells and Mrs. Robert Wright.

THE Plays and Players are to hold their thirty-fourth club night tomorrow and Wednesday evenings at the club rooms, 43 South Eighteenth street. Two plays are to be given—one, "Deirdre," by William Butler Yeates, in which those who will take part will be Lorraine Graham, Mrs. Sam Woodward, Lillian Biddle, Carl Altmaier, George Pequignot, Mrs. Joseph Scholes, Jr., Howard Reber and Dougherty Reese. Besides these, there is "An Executioner" and there are "Dark-faced men." Oh, horrors! I fear it's going to be gruesome. However, Something tells me the second play, "His Widow's Husband," will be rather unique and perhaps a "farce." As I know nothing of either play, perhaps I'm guessing wrong all the way through. Be that as it may, I know whatever either is they both will be good. And that's a fact, Irish bull though it may sound.

Those who will appear in this second playlet are Dorothy Shelmerdine, Helena Balbirnie, Nathalie Browne, Henry B. Schaffer, Jr., Phillip Castner, Ralph Melville and Raymond Ferris.

LORD INNES-KERR came over from New York last Friday and stopped with the Joe Wideners at Elkins Park. The Wideners gave a dinner in his honor on Friday evening.

THE uniform has not quite ceased to be a novelty to us peace-loving Americans. Whenever we see a soldier in his grim khaki we instinctively feel that we must have missed a parade, and as for the navy man with his braid and brass buttons—well, there is always that horrible possibility that we may be gazing in rapt admiration at a train conductor.

Broad Street Station is the "happy hunting ground" of uniforms. There mingling with our own picturesque Jackies and determined Sammees we will find the Highlander with his funny kilts and bared knees and the Englishman in his much-bepocketed coat and Sam Brown belt, and it was there that I saw our hero. HE was a callow youth—oh, very callow!—and his uniform was suspiciously new. And as he nonchalantly ambled along the platform holding his cigarette daintily between his fingers you could tell by the back of his neck that he suspected every girlish glance was being cast in his direction.

"I am a representative of Uncle Sam's power on the sea," said he to himself. "In fact—but whisper it softly—I am THE representative."

There is an old saying about pride, you know, and the "fall" that will inevitably come. A real old-time darkie, much laden with bundles, appeared on the scene. His bewildered old eyes doubtfully surveyed the throng, but at last he spied our Naval Man. With a look of deep respect—for brass buttons always mean authority to our dark brethren—he approached.

"Please, suh kin yo-all tell me what time is de nex' train for de South?" asked the old man in a loud voice.

A look of amazement spread over our hero's face and then the horrible truth struck home. "I am not on the railroad," was all he said, but his moment of triumph was over. The stiffness went out of his backbone and he turned and fairly ran off the platform, blushing like a schoolboy and followed by several unkind snickers.

The bride, whose maiden name was Miss Ellen Nelson, was to have been married to Mr. Duffy on Wednesday, November 7. Preparations for a church wedding had been made. They eloped to Elkton, Md., the day before. Friends who had assembled at the church to witness the wedding ceremony on Wednesday morning were startled by the announcement that the bridal couple had outwitted them by marrying a day previous. After the reception on Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Duffy left for Niagara Falls, where they will spend their honeymoon. On their return they will live at Glen Hill, Pa.

MARRIED AT HOME OF BRIDE

Wedding of Miss Ida Isdaner and Mr. Benjamin Isenberg Solemnized Yesterday

An attractive November wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Isdaner, 3202 Diamond street, when their daughter, Miss Ida Isdaner, was married to Mr. Benjamin J. Isenberg, of New York. The ceremony was performed at 2 o'clock by the Rev. Marvin Nathan, of the Beth Israel Temple, and was followed by a reception from 3 to 6 o'clock.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. Her gown was a combination of cloth of silver and tulle with a court train of the silver cloth. Her veil of tulle was arranged with a bandeau of pearls. A white-bound Bible with a marker of lilies of the valley was carried.

Mr. Isenberg and his bride left on an extended southern trip and will be at home after January 1, at 2049 North Sixty-fifth street, Mapleton Park, Brooklyn, N. Y.

EGAN—HINCKLE

Among the interesting weddings of the month was that of Miss Marian E. Hinckle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marian E. Hinckle, of 3317 North Sixteenth street, and Mr. William P. Egan, Jr., of Wilkinsburg, Pa., which took place on Thursday at the home of the bride's parents. The bride was given in marriage by her father and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Harry Barrymore Angus, of the McDowell Memorial Church, Twenty-first street and Columbia avenue.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with trimming of pearls and shadow filet lace and a veil of tulle caught with lilies of the valley. Similar flowers combined with roses in a shower bouquet were carried. Attending the bride was Miss Emily Ashman, who wore a frock of pink satin trimmed with silver lace and carried Ward roses.

Mr. Frank Bettger was the best man. The service was followed by a reception. Mr. Egan and his bride upon their return from their honeymoon trip will be at home at Wilkinsburg, Pa.

MILITARY BALL IN AMERICA HALL

Decorators Busy With Preparations for Huge Entertainment at Falls of Schuylkill

Not since the Falls of Schuylkill was the scene of noted functions at the homes of the first Provost of the University of Pennsylvania, the first Governor of Pennsylvania, the Constitution, Dr. William Peppers, whose estate was known as "Fairy Hill," Mr. Joseph Sims's "Laurel Hill" and Mr. William Rawle's "Harleigh," has there been such an affair as the military ball which will be held on Wednesday evening in America Hall by the citizens' patronage committee. Noted decorators are at work on the interior decorations of the hall which will be military in effect. That the attendance will be extraordinary is forecast by the great demand for tickets. The entertainment is given for the benefit of the fund being used for the welfare of the soldiers and sailors from the Falls who are serving Uncle Sam. Incidentally, it will give the citizens an opportunity to show their patriotism and at the same time to enjoy a gorgeous spectacle.

The Falls of Schuylkill Male Chorus, which has rapidly advanced to the front ranks of musical organizations, has been selected by Mr Wassili Leps for the priest's chorus in the production of "Aida" at the Academy of Music on Thanksgiving Eve. Mr. Jaroth South is conductor; Mr. Theodore L. MacKenzie, president; Mr. Harry Brown, vice president; Mr. William Greenstein, secretary, and Mr. James C. Lawler, treasurer. Other members include Mr. Walter Smith, Mr. James Howarth, Mr. Herbert Greenwood, Mr. Herbert Spencer, Mr. William Graffin, Mr. Harold Spencer, Mr. Walter Macindoe, Mr. Thomas Davies, Mr. James Buckley, Mr. John Tidswell, Mr. George Gotwals, Mr. Thomas McKeenan, Mr. H. Davis and Mr. John Smith. Six of the chorus are in the army, at the various camps. They are Mr. Donald MacKenzie, Mr. Stanley Smith, Mr. George Bates, Mr. Harold Entwistle, Mr. John Rabbit and Mr. James Black.

At the last meeting at the White House it was decided to have a large community Christmas tree at the corner of Ridge and Midvale avenues, in honor of the soldiers and sailors who will return home for the holidays. Mrs. Elizabeth Dobson Altemus and Mrs. Richard Norris will have charge of the tree and the decorations. The latter will include red, white and blue electric bulbs. As the Falls Male Chorus has made a practice for years of following the old English custom of singing carols to herald the dawn of Christmas, it has been suggested that they lead a great dawn community singing fest at the section containing the decorated tree.

The Falls Baptist Church, on Queen lane, the Rev. Charles L. Seasholes, D. D., pastor, honors its men in the army and navy by placing their names each month with a row of stars above them, on the front page of the church paper. In this way the members keep in touch with the "boys." Two of the number have been killed, Mr. John Hill, who was in service in the English army, and on November 17 Sergeant George E. Merkle, who was in the aero squadron. Mr. Charles Musson is in a Canadian regiment and the remainder are in the United States. They are Mr. Howard Medd, Mr. Benjamin Walker, Mr. Charles Singer, Mr. Lynnford Neely, Mr. Hamilton Moorehead, Mr. Charles Harmon, Mr. Edwin Lutz, Mr. Alexander Peters, Mr. Raymond Woolley, Mr. Frank West, Mr. Edward Auer, Mr. Charles Kennedy, Mr. Thomas Jones, Mr. Albert Homewood, Mr. Raymond Hoffman and Mr. Joseph Rawnsley. They are all members of the James S. Swartz Bible class taught by the pastor.

The twenty-fifth annual reception of the Young Men's Literary Institute, of the Falls, was held on Friday evening in the Immaculate Conception Hall, Chelten avenue and Chew street, Germantown, which was artistically decorated with tropical plants and flowers. The grand march was conducted by Miss Mary Cummings and Mr. Michael J. Rowley, with Miss Agnes McCarthy and Mr. William T. Hardwick second, Miss Mae L. Murray and Mr. John J. Bergin third, and Miss Margaret Gillice and Mr. George Markly fourth. Those having the very successful affair in charge included Mr. John Lally, Mr. Joseph Montgomery, Mr. John May, Mr. Thomas J. Grady, Mr. Frank's Mahoney, Mr. P. J. Kelly, Mr. James V. Kelly, Mr. Thomas Flanagan, Mr. Bernard Kelly, Mr. James Cavanaugh, Mr. John J. Bergin, Mr. John Grady, Mr. Harry Andrews, Mr. Harry D. Hayes, Mr. Hugh Boyd, Mr. Joseph V. Furlong, Mr. Joseph Reardon, Mr. John A. Walsh, Mr. Leo McManus, Mr. Francis Flanagan, Mr William Boyd, Mr. Hugh McGlynn, Mr. Timothy Meara, Mr. John Bilboa, Mr. M. J. Rowley, Mr. W. T. Hardwick, Mr Harry Andrews, Mr. Hugh Boyd, Mr John Carroll, Mr. William Boyd, Mr. Lawrence Kelly, Mr Francis Mahoney, Mr. George Marky and Mr. Thomas Grady.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dobson Altemus presented a service flag to the Falls Presbyterian Church yesterday morning, which was received by Mr. Walter Macindoe for the church. There are twelve soldiers and sailors on the roll of honor.

Dr. William B. Rubin, of Queen Lane, who is with a hospital base at Camp Meade, spent Sunday with his family.
