

JOB HUNTERS OUT AGAINST SAULSBURY

Disappointed Ones Oppose Delaware Senator—Places Were Too Scarce

LOYALTY STAND URGED

Row Over Postmastership Also Caused Trouble—Absenteeism Charge Incorrect

This is the second of a series of four articles dealing with Delaware's Senatorial situation.

By a Staff Correspondent

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 4.

The reason Senator Willard Saulsbury, of Delaware, is going to leave such a sweaty time holding his place in the Senate is several fold.

Being a Senator is very pleasant and often glorious, so it is only natural that a number of ambitious men should want Saulsbury's seat.

This will mean that the man who leaves there should have a goodly number of friends who have put the man up there.

The newly-elected Senator, if he is a wise politician, sees to it as quickly as he can that all the lieutenants who fought for him get jobs of some sort.

There are many political jobs in Delaware. But, generally speaking, if a man rewards all his political friends they will be his political friends still when he goes into the next fight.

NOT ENOUGH JOBS

Now the unfortunate part of it for Senator Saulsbury is that he is a Senator from Delaware and not from New York or Texas or some other State.

Senator Saulsbury seems to be suffering principally because he has been unable to "take care" of everybody who thought he ought to be "taken care" of.

The fact is, Saulsbury has been a much better Senator, a much better statesman, than politician. Everybody admits that in distributing patronage what there was of it to distribute—he had to disappoint some men, but some say he has disappointed the wrong men.

STANDS WITH ADMINISTRATION

The Senator has stood with the Administration and the Administration has stood with him. But the Administration is not the voting Democrats of Delaware.

Delaware Democrat has been found by the writer—though there may be such—who criticizes Senator Saulsbury's positions and actions so far as they concern the National Government.

actions as they concern people in Delaware.

A friend of Senator Saulsbury, a man who stands "very close" to the Senator, said today:

"Senator Saulsbury would rather be a good Senator for a little while and have the reputation as a statesman that he has than be a bad Senator for a dozen terms and have the reputation of a smart politician—but I think he can be a good statesman and a good politician at the same time."

This man took the view that the dissatisfaction with the Senator among men who are supposed to feel that he has treated them shabbily is much exaggerated by friends of ambitious men who would like to succeed the Senator.

The Senator's renomination is also being urged on the broad ground that loyalty to the nation demands it—demands standing by the President.

LOYALTY STAND URGED

The Senator's renomination is also being urged on the broad ground that loyalty to the nation demands it—demands standing by the President.

Low visibility in the Capitol has long been regarded as one of the unpardonable sins of a Senator.

When there was a chance for somebody to be postmaster in Wilmington three candidates loomed up and all three had been good political friends of Senator Saulsbury.

Peter J. Ford seemed to think he'd get the place, but he didn't. When it became apparent that Ford was going to get it, Thomas S. Stayton thought the plum would surely fall to him.

The Senator will have to convince some of the Ford and Stayton men that his foolish and wrong for them to hold the English appointment against him.

Delaware Democrat has been found by the writer—though there may be such—who criticizes Senator Saulsbury's positions and actions so far as they concern the National Government.

happy enough to be against the Senator in the next fight.

U. S. IS SYMPATHETICAL

Their sympathies spread to all classes of the Russian nation. Their representatives here are now informed that no influential part of the Russian population desires an immediate separate peace or armistice.

There are no reasons, therefore, why the relations of the Allies to Russia on to any influential part of the population of Russia should not rest on the most friendly basis.

Russian Army Now in Grip of Krylenko

Continued from Page One

Long live the authority of the Council of Workmen and Soldiers and Peasants."

The Official Agency announced today that Ensign Krylenko, Bolshevik commander-in-chief, had reported the surrender of the army general staff to him.

Major Kerth's action is still more questionable since the head of the American war mission, Lieutenant Colonel Judson, made quite another declaration.

U. S. NOT TAKING SIDES IN RUSSIA

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 4.

Rumania has somewhat Berlin and Vienna regarding conditions for an armistice and on other news in connection, according to the Berlin Telegraph and reported today by the Dusseldorf General Gazette.

HOLLAND RUSK

Liberty at Last!

Liberty from the tiresome problem of what to secure to tempt the family appetite—to please the varying tastes of the household.

A table dainty that wins you with the first taste!

Crisp, crunchy, delicious,—entirely different from toast as generally understood, yet of similar nature.

Holland Rusk is entirely unlike anything you ever tasted before. You never tire of it—no matter how much you eat or how often you eat it.

GOOD FOR EVERY MEAL

For breakfast with poached, scrambled or boiled eggs—chipped beef in cream—or any other dish where toast is used, it will be easier and quicker to prepare.

All Community Grocers in Philadelphia Sell Holland Rusk

—phone yours now and give an order for a package

Made only by the HOLLAND RUSK CO., Holland, Mich. New York Office: 46 Hudson Street

nation is at present and does not wish to interfere with anything but to help in the settlement of any Russian problems whatsoever.

U. S. IS SYMPATHETICAL

Their sympathies spread to all classes of the Russian nation. Their representatives here are now informed that no influential part of the Russian population desires an immediate separate peace or armistice.

There are no reasons, therefore, why the relations of the Allies to Russia on to any influential part of the population of Russia should not rest on the most friendly basis.

TARTAR AND COSSACK FORM NEW STATES

PETROGRAD, Dec. 4.

Announcement of the establishment of the Tartar Republic of Crimea was made here today.

It was also reported the Cossacks had elected V. V. Judson, American military attaché, as a member of the State.

All Bolshevik armistice negotiations with Germany are to be published and will be subject to debate by the various Soviet bodies throughout Russia.

Man Smothered in Coal Bin

READING, Pa., Dec. 4.—Caught under a car of coal he was smothered in the Reading Coal and Iron Co. mine.

Editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, wrote the following letter to the publishers of the Book of Knowledge:

"You are at perfect liberty to say that after personally looking over the book for half an hour I immediately ordered a set."

Editorial note: Mr. Bok was so impressed with the Book of Knowledge after you have read the 75-page booklet which the Grollier Society, 317 Locust Building, Philadelphia, will send you free.

any capacity with the Bolshevik forces.

M. Trotsky, in a speech Thursday, declared the diplomatists of the world were destined to see the greatness of the power of the Bolsheviks, which had been recognized by all peoples.

PIAVE SECOND VERDUN FOR FOES OF ALLIES

Continued from Page One

It was the Italians who wiped out an entire Teutonic army which crossed the Piave.

Immediately General Konrad's and Krobuth's army attacked on the left Italian wing. They burst out over the Asiago plateau. There they were ill-used.

Then came the third trial between the Piave and the Brenta rivers. The enemy concentrated for this supreme effort not only Konrad's and Krobuth's armies but divisions from the armies of both Krauss and Belov.

In the center of this battleground lay Grappa—a mountainous crest, the southern slopes of which descend abruptly to the Venetian plains.

The mountain was the last barrier between the enemy and turning of the Italian left wing.

A victory for the foe here would have meant retreat to the Adige—opening to German spoliation the entire Venetian plains with its rich cities of Venice, Padua, Verona and Treviso.

Grappa's importance thus equaled that of Verdun. Carrying out the parallel, Mounts Fertona, Solarola, Spincola, Pallon, Monferrea and Tomba constituted the advanced defenses of the mountain.

Just as Forts Bouamont, Vaux, Thlaumont, Froid de Terre and others of Verdun's advanced defenses constituted the outer chain of the French citadel.

Against Grappa's outer ring the Germans launched the cream of the mountain fighting troops—just as the Crown Prince threw his Prussians against Douaumont and others at Verdun.

At Grappa the famous German Alpen Korps, the Austrian Imperial Sharpshooters, German chasseurs and the Austrian Edelweiss divisions were hurled to the assault.

The Italians fought like fiends. Prisoners today declare the resistance often wiped out half of the attackers' effectiveness. That was almost the ratio at Verdun.

Like Verdun, also, the defenders' heroic resistance permitted time for Allied re-enforcements to complete their organization.

Swager Sherley, of Kentucky, the ranking Democratic member of the Appropriations Committee, is expected to succeed Fitzgerald.

Then came the third trial between the Piave and the Brenta rivers. The enemy concentrated for this supreme effort not only Konrad's and Krobuth's armies but divisions from the armies of both Krauss and Belov.

In the center of this battleground lay Grappa—a mountainous crest, the southern slopes of which descend abruptly to the Venetian plains.

The mountain was the last barrier between the enemy and turning of the Italian left wing.

A victory for the foe here would have meant retreat to the Adige—opening to German spoliation the entire Venetian plains with its rich cities of Venice, Padua, Verona and Treviso.

Grappa's importance thus equaled that of Verdun. Carrying out the parallel, Mounts Fertona, Solarola, Spincola, Pallon, Monferrea and Tomba constituted the advanced defenses of the mountain.

Just as Forts Bouamont, Vaux, Thlaumont, Froid de Terre and others of Verdun's advanced defenses constituted the outer chain of the French citadel.

Against Grappa's outer ring the Germans launched the cream of the mountain fighting troops—just as the Crown Prince threw his Prussians against Douaumont and others at Verdun.

At Grappa the famous German Alpen Korps, the Austrian Imperial Sharpshooters, German chasseurs and the Austrian Edelweiss divisions were hurled to the assault.

The Italians fought like fiends. Prisoners today declare the resistance often wiped out half of the attackers' effectiveness. That was almost the ratio at Verdun.

Like Verdun, also, the defenders' heroic resistance permitted time for Allied re-enforcements to complete their organization.

Swager Sherley, of Kentucky, the ranking Democratic member of the Appropriations Committee, is expected to succeed Fitzgerald.

Then came the third trial between the Piave and the Brenta rivers. The enemy concentrated for this supreme effort not only Konrad's and Krobuth's armies but divisions from the armies of both Krauss and Belov.

ADAMS Pure Chewing Gum

a Stick a day keeps Trench Sickness away

BLACK JACK

Mawson & DeMany 1115 Chestnut Street (Opposite Keith's Theatre) Fur Coats especially chosen as Gifts for Christmas

The fur coat is the garment par excellence of luxury and service. An ideal Christmas gift—rich, beautiful, useful!

The five coats pictured are the merest hint of the many, many beautiful coats here, at most remarkable values.

Purchases will be reserved in our storage vaults until desired on payment of a small deposit.

Stylish Muskrat Coat, $74.50

Moleskin Coat, $295.00

Hudson Seal Coat $150.00

Hudson Seal Coat, $145.00

At Grappa the stoppage of the move allowed French and British to get into line in perfect organization without hurry.

They are now there. The Piave now seems impassable. "All is now on no pass" is the slogan.

Japanese Rescue Thor Survivors

TOKYO, Dec. 4.—Fifteen survivors of the steamship Thor, sunk November 15, were reported aboard a Japanese bound for Miroran today.

Then came the third trial between the Piave and the Brenta rivers. The enemy concentrated for this supreme effort not only Konrad's and Krobuth's armies but divisions from the armies of both Krauss and Belov.

In the center of this battleground lay Grappa—a mountainous crest, the southern slopes of which descend abruptly to the Venetian plains.

The mountain was the last barrier between the enemy and turning of the Italian left wing.

A victory for the foe here would have meant retreat to the Adige—opening to German spoliation the entire Venetian plains with its rich cities of Venice, Padua, Verona and Treviso.

Grappa's importance thus equaled that of Verdun. Carrying out the parallel, Mounts Fertona, Solarola, Spincola, Pallon, Monferrea and Tomba constituted the advanced defenses of the mountain.

Just as Forts Bouamont, Vaux, Thlaumont, Froid de Terre and others of Verdun's advanced defenses constituted the outer chain of the French citadel.

Against Grappa's outer ring the Germans launched the cream of the mountain fighting troops—just as the Crown Prince threw his Prussians against Douaumont and others at Verdun.

At Grappa the famous German Alpen Korps, the Austrian Imperial Sharpshooters, German chasseurs and the Austrian Edelweiss divisions were hurled to the assault.

The Italians fought like fiends. Prisoners today declare the resistance often wiped out half of the attackers' effectiveness. That was almost the ratio at Verdun.

Like Verdun, also, the defenders' heroic resistance permitted time for Allied re-enforcements to complete their organization.

Swager Sherley, of Kentucky, the ranking Democratic member of the Appropriations Committee, is expected to succeed Fitzgerald.

Then came the third trial between the Piave and the Brenta rivers. The enemy concentrated for this supreme effort not only Konrad's and Krobuth's armies but divisions from the armies of both Krauss and Belov.

THE ART ALLIANCE Invites You to a Special Exhibition of

The Best Books of the Year

Now Being Held at Their Galleries

1823 Walnut Street

Horace Mather Lippincott Will Speak on "Early Philadelphia" on Wednesday, December 5, 3 P. M.

There is also displayed an interesting and unique collection of autograph manuscripts and original illustrations.

Advertisement for Jacob Reed's Sons clothing, featuring a man in a suit and the text 'The kind of Clothes that Clean Cut men approve'.

Advertisement for Holland Rusk, featuring a woman's face and the text 'Liberty at Last! Liberty from the tiresome problem of what to secure to tempt the family appetite...'.

Advertisement for The Art Alliance, featuring a woman in a fur coat and the text 'The Art Alliance Invites You to a Special Exhibition of The Best Books of the Year'.