Easily Explained

I say, water, I want to read the news, and that man over there has had the paper for over an hour. Yes, sir, I know; ever since that paper went up to twopenny, he always makes a point of reading it through twice.

Pseudonym "What is the name of that handsome prisoner?" asked the impressionable young woman. "No. 2206, miss," replied the guard. "How funny! But, of course, that is not his real name." "Oh, no, miss, that's just his pen name."—Boston Transcript.

"The Young Lady Asks the Way"

We asked the young lady across the way if she thought we were entering a period of inflation and she said skirts were certainly fuller than they were at one time.

Premature Question Tommy had been playing truant from school and had spent a long, beautiful day fishing. On his way back he met one of his young cronies, who accosted him with the usual question, "Catch anything?" At this, Tommy, in all the consciousness of guilt, quickly responded, "Ain't been home yet."—The Bells.
