

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Two Big Affairs Tonight for Two Hospital Social Service Bureaus—Concert to Be Given Next Monday at League Island

TONIGHT there's to be the skit at the Bellevue-Stratford called "Over Here," which has been gotten up by the Marines with the aid of Elizabeth Latta and several other girls and the splendid opera singer, Henri Scott, for the Medico-Chil Hospital Social Service Bureau. Then at the Academy of Music the women of the Social Service Bureau of the Hahnemann Hospital are having the joint concert given by Miss Louise Homer and Mr. Reinold Werrenrath for the benefit of that hospital.

And so it goes; when it is not one charity it's another, and we dig into our pockets and purses and, instead of begrudging it or complaining, thank God that we have a little something to help with.

NEXT Monday evening a unique and interesting concert will be given at the League Island Navy Yard. Under the leadership of Miss Martha Barry a chorus of seventy women, composed of the chorus of the Women's Club of Swarthmore, the New Century Church and the chorus of Presbyterian deaconesses, will bring much pleasure to their sailor audience by their well-chosen selections.

Social Activities

Mrs. John Gribbell will entertain a box party at Miss Louise Homer's recital this evening for the benefit of the Hahnemann Hospital.

Mrs. Franklin McCrea Wigram, of 2205 Pine street, will give a small 4 o'clock tea and linen shower on Friday, in honor of Miss Sophie Bispham, of New Orleans. Miss Bispham, who has recently announced her engagement to Dr. Charles Robert Weiss, is visiting at the home of Doctor Weiss's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Weiss, of 150 Maplewood avenue, Germantown. Miss Bispham was formerly of Philadelphia.

Mrs. John S. Muckle will entertain informally at dinner this evening at her residence, 2923 Walnut street, to meet Colonel Steele and his staff of the British Recruiting Mission. There will be twenty guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace L'Alouet, formerly of 2311 North Broad street, have moved into their new apartment at the Wellington, Nineteenth and Walnut streets.

The Philadelphia Musical Club has issued invitations for a bridge party to be given at the Aldine, December 18 at 3 o'clock. The proceeds will be given to the Chocolate Fund for Soldiers.

Friends of Mrs. Samuel S. White, Jr. will be glad to know she has recovered from her recent illness and has returned to her home, 1801 De Lancey place, after convalescing at the Hotel Chelsea, Mrs. J. William White

Assisting this large chorus will be two small ones made up of the following girls, who will give a bit of frivolity to the program by singing several of the popular song hits. In one group will be Helen Dando, Eleanor McCawley, Mrs. Danenbaum, Miss Champion, Mrs. Hiram Eliason and Miss Potter. In the other group will be Dorothy Fagan, Sidney Lear, Georgiana Pittfield, Dorothy Dinmore, Helen Pittfield, and Margaretta Dixon. Mrs. Arthur La Roche, Mrs. Thaw Millington and Mr. Glen Staples will be soloists. Mrs. Millington will remember as Miss Elizabeth McCloskey; she is going to sing a number of French songs.

Mr. Staples, who is a distinguished concert singer from Chicago, enlisted last spring in the Radio School at League Island before completing the course at Harvard. His voice and singing have great charm and will add much to the evening's enjoyment.

It's a funny thing when you go to the opera all keyed up to enjoy it, as in the case of "Faust" last week, you're apt to get disappointed; and when you go to one such as the "Daughter of the Regiment," you expect a fairly pleasant evening and you are surprised to hear Hempel in perfect voice, Scotti a marvel as Sulpicio, and from Donizetti's little breath of tunefulness an almost perfect performance, for they were all at their best. There were not as many in attendance last night, and it is a funny thing to me that some Americans can't stand quiet during the playing of one stanza of the national air. All through the audience officers were standing at salute, and in the grand tier the women stood like statues in their colorful gowns, but in the orchestra there were some who had to talk the enduring time and remark the officers at salute. And there was one woman who insisted on singing, or rather thinking she was singing all through the soprano parts, thereby almost spoiling Hempel's exquisite work. What I think of her! ! ! !

Flo Rivinus was in the Van Rensselaer box looking very smart with his newly acquired stripes; the Stotesburys had an English officer with them and a real United States captain on crutches was in one of the boxes also. Mrs. Charles Cox knitted industriously all through the performance. Margot Scull Biddle looked very well in a pale pink frock and Frances Gamble had her hair arranged in the most wonderful way. She and Eleanor both looked perfectly stunning. The DeWitt Cuylers had the Dick Elliots and Sydney Keiths in their box, and Mrs. Craig Biddle, looking like a queen, was in the Drexel box.

There was one moment in the performance when the matter of factness of a certain young woman of quality came out to the full, though no one would have suspected her of such "goings on" at home. Two lackeys came on the stage to light the chandeliers during the last act, and the lights refused to light. "Good night," whispered the small person; "somebody forgot to put a quarter in the slot."

With most of the parties called off this year it was good to go to the opening dance of the three which are to be given by Mrs. Edward Troth at the Germantown Cricket Club. Really, I don't know of any dancing class that is more popular than Mrs. Troth's, and I'm glad she decided to keep up three meetings anyhow. It's such a relaxation to get away for two or three nights in the year from the sorrows and sufferings of the world. It makes one more ready to help and sympathize after a little recreation.

Such a crowd as there was on Saturday night! You never saw so many! Uniforms to front of you, uniforms to left of you, uniforms to right of you—and on danced the six hundred! It really was quite thrilling, and the variety of uniforms tended to keep them from becoming monotonous, if such could possibly be the case. Of course, the class is always great fun, but everybody seemed to be having a particularly good time the other evening, perhaps because it was the first real dance they had been to for some time.

They only announced their engagement a few months ago and, of course, she was collecting for her trousseau, and centerpieces and linen of any kind wherever displayed were irresistible, so when last week Elsie and Fiance were walking home from the movies, unfortunately for Fiance they had to pass a fancy-work shop, with windows crowded with trousseau stuff—guest towels, doilies, tea napkins and "all that sort of things," as Hector MacQuarrie says. Fiance, walking briskly along, watching the slippery pavement, discovered that he was no longer accompanied, and, turning around, saw her standing before the window, twisting her head in a vain endeavor to follow the course of a line of embroidery on a centerpiece. Not being interested in that, Fiance looked over the rest of the display, and realized and remarked, "Elsie, this is no window for you to stand in front of with me." Tearing herself away reluctantly, Elsie listened to his explanation of why they couldn't stand there. "That was

WOMAN'S CLUB HAS MANY INTERESTS

Address Given on Swiss Military System at Meeting Yesterday Afternoon at Clubhouse Out in Swarthmore

The Swarthmore Woman's Club has a variety of side-awake interests, but it does not allow its registration committee, its current events talks and its discussions on what to serve the family on meekless days to put aside entirely its love for music. The club has for two years had a splendid chorus, under the direction of Miss Martha C. Barry, of Philadelphia. Once a month these women sing for the other club members, and these afternoons are surely enjoyed by every one.

At the club meeting yesterday afternoon Dr. Robert C. Brooks made an address on the Swiss military system. The chorus then sang some charming French Noël songs. Mr. Marian Uptegraf is chairman of this music section, and the women belonging to the chorus are Mrs. Werner Trumbower, Mrs. Clara Lewis, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Herbert P. Onyx, Miss Elmer, Mrs. George Casey, Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Hadley, Miss Logan, Miss Lucy Logan, Mrs. T. T. Cresson, Mrs. Lovett Fresson, Mrs. Leif, Mrs. J. H. Mowbray, Mrs. George J. Jones, Miss Margaret Puttle, Mrs. Leonard C. Ashton, Mrs. Wilbur S. Fricko, Mrs. Robert L. Coates, Mrs. Emily Pollard, Mrs. Carl H. Chaffee, Mrs. Harold Barnes, Mrs. Horn, Mrs. R. M. Little, Mrs. Arthur J. Jones, Miss Pauline Durnall, Mrs. Harvey Schumacher, Mrs. MacAdams, Mrs. Louis Cole Emmens, Mrs. Bailey, and Mrs. R. F. Hocking.

Next Monday evening the chorus is giving a concert down at the navy yard under Miss Barry's direction. Mr. and Mrs. Reid Warren, who moved from Lansdowne to Swarthmore not so long ago, entertained some of their Lansdowne friends last Wednesday evening. Mrs. Frank F. J. Supple, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maris, Mr. and Mrs. Louis N. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll C. Lippincott, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Fog, Mr. and Mrs. George Abbe, Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Shoemaker, Mrs. Barclay White, Miss Anna D. White, Miss Ethel M. Powell, Miss Jennie Thomas, Mrs. J. E. Stewart, Mrs. R. M. Hannum, Mrs. John Jackson, Mrs. Alice Hadley, Mr. George S. Powell and Mr. Charles Paxton were the guests.

On Monday evening at the Woman's Club house Mr. Owen Loveloy, the secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, made an address, his topic being the safeguarding of childhood in peace or war. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Woman's Club and the Home and School Association. There is to be a Christmas housewarming in the new building of the Mary Lyon School on Friday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Haidy Miller Crist are at the head of the school.

Miss Elizabeth McConnell left yesterday for Matland, Fla. Several other Swarthmore people are wintering in the South. Mrs. J. Russell Hays is at Orlando, Fla. The Misses Gathrop are also spending some time there.

At the meeting of the Ridley Park Woman's Club last Monday afternoon Mr. H. Hunt Vautier gave a lecture on the events of the day. At the business meeting which followed the women decided to present a flag to the new public high school in the town. The Melody Chapter met at Mrs. Edward W. Penn's home on Friday afternoon. This organization, of which Mrs. Penn is the chairman, is under the auspices of the Woman's Club, and has for its purpose the helping of all the young people out there who are studying music. These persons meet every two weeks to play and sing and exchange ideas upon their work. Some of the older women are always there to help them.

THE WILLOWBY'S WARD

BOYS WILL BE TAUGHT TO KNIT FOR SOLDIERS

Riverton Branch of New Jersey Enlists Children for Membership

RIVERTON—This is a busy week for the Red Cross workers. On Monday morning at 9 o'clock a committee of eight women under the leadership of Mrs. J. Douglas Clark, who is chairman of the Riverton branch of the Red Cross, started the canvass for the Red Cross drive for Christmas membership. Every house in Riverton will be visited during the week.

The Riverton quota has been set at one thousand. The present membership is just about five hundred.

The chapter is anxious that every member of the household will be enrolled. Every man, woman and child has been asked to join. That will mean just that much more aid for the soldiers who are fighting in the trenches.

The children will be of real service in the Riverton branch of the Red Cross, which at the present time has a remarkably large membership. The boys have been asked to join in order to make splinters and boxes, and they will be taught knitting.

Mrs. N. Myers Piller, Mrs. H. W. Shreve, Mrs. C. C. Collins, Miss Anna James and Miss Helen Lippincott were hostesses over the weekend at the Soldiers' Club at Camp Dix. Mr. Percy A. Ransome, who enlisted in the Signal Corps, Aviation Section, has just received his commission as first lieutenant and is stationed at the Morrison Camp, in Virginia. Mrs. Ransome will leave on Wednesday to be with her husband until he goes to France.

TEXAS MARINES ENTERTAIN AT DA

Galveston Girls' National Guard Guests at Entertainment Given at Fort Crockett

Philadelphia is not the only city where marines show their appreciation of music by giving an entertainment. "Over Here" is to be a success, but the dance given at Galveston, Tex., seems to have been enjoyable.

Company 101 of the marine service entertained the Galveston Girls' National Guard last evening with a dance given in Fort Crockett gymnasium.

Major Vernon Douglas was presented with a mass of pink roses, a token of appreciation from the marines for the presence of Honor-guard, Little Miss Esther Wilson, is quite a favorite among the boys at Fort, sang several songs and was presented with a bouquet of red carnations.

The singing of the marine hymn by Major Foster, the entire company joining in the chorus, was especially impressive.

Punch and wafers were served throughout the evening. The music was furnished by the marine band. Serving on the committee were the Evans brothers, Mr. Chew and Mr. Shade.
