

"All present and correct, sar," reported the company sergeant major of Company A, Fourth Canadian Mounted Riffes, an the officers came on parade for what was to be the last time. We were quite proud of our company because we had just received a re-enforcing draft of forty men which brought our numbers up to about 120—alightly more than one-half the number we should have had. But the number we should have had. But in those days men were not as plentiful as they are now. We had to get along somehow.

Every man was carefully inspected to see that he had his steal belinet, two gas masks and his iron rations. The latter consisted chiefly of a tin built beef and some hard biscuits. These were most necessary, as we never knew when the Germans might attempt a flank movement at the base of the Ypres salient, and if this were successful those

The ordinary trench is narrow enough for a man wearing full equipment, but when a relief is going on the trench is filled with men leaded down like pack mules waiting to go out as soon as the relief is completed. We bumped and squeezed our way along to the accom-caningent of many ciaculations never they had most to do. A noncommissioned officer from each company, the machine gun section, etc., had also gone in alsead to take ever trench stores. (A supply of such articles as shovels, rubber boots, writing gloves, aminuminable boots, and the servence of the serv on, hand granades, etc.) Thus every thing was in readiness for a quick relief operators. Anton Engelman, 4: Hyman Lapides, Mith the present force of officers and the additional men to come in today, the camp will have an abundance of instructors for its men. In fact, the officers will not be required to work on unusually hard schedules, with the personnel of the camp depleted by the recent transfer of 2000 of the selectives to a southern cantonment.

"Plenty of fresh air" is the health slogan of Camp Dix. An order has been issued from divisional headquarters decreeing that windows shall be allowed to remain open during the morning.

When cold weather hits a cantonment, there is always a tendency on the part of the men to "coop themselves up" in warm buildings. The sashes "to the leeward" are thrown open no matter how blustery the weather now.
