He can file letters in it and always have it to rest on when he writes. A fountain pen, a waterproof tobacco pouch, a knife with one or two exceptionally strong steel blades (men are always losing knives and always need them), a waterproof money belt and books or subscriptions to favorite magazines. Hemember, too, that the boy away from home likes to get things to cat. The nicest Christmas present would probably be for him a box of goodies, cigarettes and one gift that would not be so expensive.

Then I jumped out of sed and chased him out of deors and around the house, but he was afraid that Rowdy would run between his legs, so he could not run very fast. When we went into the house again, all three of us, Rowdy and June's doctor and L were lauching. and June's doctor and I, were laughing our heads off. I changed my nightic for my clothes and we had a very good breakfast.

I will have to come out here oftener, for I am going to like June's doctor very much. I can see now that he is really handsome, just as June says, though I could not see it at first. He took me to town in his nuto after breakfast and after I had seen June's father again, I looked at his hands on the auto's wheel, and they are very big and strong-looking hands and he keeps his nalls clean, which is kind of funny, but looks kind of nice.

kind of nice.

It had rained all night and the ditches were full of water and everything looked clean. There were a let of the school-boys playing with boats in the ditches and having a lot of fun. Then Rowdy and I went ever to look at the hole the men had been digging and it was full of water and a looy said, "It was so full that the men cannot work." It certainly was full. Rowdy and I sailed boats on the water, but no school kids would play with me because I am not respectable. As my mother is in heaven, I do not have any one to look after me and I run the streets at night and the other kids mothers say they should think that would make my mother turn over in her grave. Why is buttermilk more wholesome than found wisdom.

Buttermilk is more wholesome than why?

First Because meat is not essential as an article of dist. Everybody knows this since the beef strike of a few years ago when tens of thousands of working age when tens of thousands of working men and women voluntarily became meat abstainers in order to beat the "beef strike." Nobody suffered. A lot of vegetarian restaurants got a good start and have flourished ever since.

Second. The use of meat as food is a most wastful practice. According to the experts in animal feeding, it takes thirty-six pounds of corn or other food to make one pound of beef and thirty eight pounds to gake a pound of muiton.
