Jomen's Committees of the Philadelphia Orchestra to Hold Large Reception on December 28 for Mlle. Novaes

THE women's committees of the Philadelphia Orchestra sent out invitations last week for a reception to be given in honor of Mile, Guiomar Novaes, the re-markable young Brazilian planiste. The ception will be held after the concert ou Friday afternoon, December 28, at the Art Alliance Building, 1823 Walnut street. The four committees that have joined together to give this affair include the women's committee, under the president-ship of Miss Frances A. Wister; the Germantown and Chestnut Hill committee. with its president, the Countess Santa Eulalia; the West Philadelphia committee, with Mrs. L. Howard Weatherly as president, and the Media, Chester and West Chester committee and its president, Mrs. Matthew H. Cryer, of Lansdowne. The invitations have been limited, am sorry to say, to the 1800 women who, ompose the auxiliary of the women's mmittees. Mademoiselle Novaes, who is to be the soloist for the orchestra concerts on December 28 and 29, made a great senation last year in New York, and is conidered one of the finest latest additions

o the ranks of women planistes. The reception committee for the twentysighth will, include Miss Frances Wister. Mrs. Alexander J. Cassatt, Mrs. Henry W. Raymond, Mrs. L. Howard Weatherly, Mrs. William W. Arnett, Mrs. J. Sellers Bancroft, Mrs. Herbert L. Clark, Mrs. loseph Leidy and Mrs. Charles Wolcott lenry, who is chairman.

PHOSE of us who went up to Broad and Poplar streets last night to hear Amato nd Caruso were agreeably surprised to ear also a magnificent rendition of 'Cavalria Rusticana." The opear house was ammed, as it always is on a Caruso night, nd never have I seen the grand tier more eautiful than when the "Star Spangled anner" was played. The brilliant gowns nd the beautiful women who stand like atues before the background of dress des and uniforms-it's really a magnifient sight, even though one woman in a ale blue gown, whose face was hidden om me, spoiled it by half turning her back nd insisting on talking and giggling rough the anthem.

I heard Brigadier General Waller speak bry strongly on this subject only this eck at the Independence Square headparters of the American Red Cross, He id it was an astonishing thing to him to men and women talking through the aving or singing of the national anthem. nd the sooner they are called to account e better, say 1.

To return to the opera, seldom have I ard Caruso in better voice, and as for nato, his voice, his acting, well, he is perb, and the prologue fulfilled my utst anticipations.

In the boxes, I noticed Edwina Wetherill, nose lovely hair and brilliant coloring ad-tted her wearing a most striking shade green, and she looked perfectly stunning. ile Howeit Rowland also chose an unual shade of green which was extremely ming. She is very beautiful, don't yo-

ERE is such a thing as doing more han one's bit these days; but just the e it's fine to think SHE did it! It was it 10 o'clock and SHE was reading indously when the phone rang and SHE told that New York was calling. As meant nothing in her young life SHE ered "all right" and waited, wondering on earth could be calling her from And then a manly voice said, "I've you up to say good-by. I am going soon." SHE recognized the voice exclaimed, "When? What! you don't Oh, can't you tell? Won't I see you! you come on?" "Why, maybe I could." it would you do?" SHE asked two of friends who had just come in. "Do?" they, "why I'd do it at once." And so said SHE would try to catch the 12 k train or maybe the 1; yes, it had r be the 1. And then SHE hesitated SHE had hung up and said to the friends, "I wonder if I ought to?" upon they demanded to know what

as all about. was this: A young man she had met away from home in the summer time going to sail in a day or two for . In fact, he could not leave New k even for a few hours, and must re-that night in Hoboken and be ready all whenever the orders came. He byterian Church, Lancaster.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, knowing that he had neither nor mother, said she would. And left him and came home on an early And he looked so forlorn all alone him a sudden soft little kiss and left him looking not quite so lonely. Then she got into her seat and began to calculate just how much that "doing her bit" had cost. and it cost $9.66; and as she had several other expenses that week besides the rent for her little apartment, she had to live very low, for she, with some other girls, had decided some months ago to live within her allowance during the war at any rate, and she was not going to be the one to break through and ask her father for more, and so she had very frugal meals for a while. However, that bit of gladness that she gave to that lonely man helped him through the last hours of his last day in these dear United States for many a long

It was just a nice thing to do, and she did it, and I do not believe she'll regret it, do you? Now, don't take from this that Nancy thinks that always and on all occasions you should just run off to another city any time a lone man asks you to say good-by to him. Far from it, but under the circumstances it was all right. SHE knew he was not in love with her, but was lonely and sad, and SHE went over to that other city and cheered him up considerably. Why did it cost $9.66? Well, you see, she got a new waist to wear (which she did not actually need) besides her other NANCY WYNNE. expenses.
