The Yuletide Season in Golfland

CHRISTMAS time is a busy season with the golfers. Most of the clubs are giving or have given the caddles their namual dinner, and by this received a letter from the house and green committees asking for contribuons toward the Christmas fund for the employes. One statement that was sent out from one of the clubs opened with the naive remark that if the members had any money left after responding to the numerous appeals the committee would be glad to receive donations. Many of the clubs do not permit tipping by the members and this annual appeal gives the club nembers an opportunity to make up for tips saved during the year

There is little doubt that the gelf class will reply favorably to the request of the national fuel administrator that the coal now being used in the golf houses be conserved. The great majority of the clubs have two separate buildings, one for general cirb nursees and the other for the very open season, is purely negrigible. The cities spend a lot of money keeping the locker bouses warm for the members, but there are not worth while. There is not much sense in burning thousands of tons of coal during the winter months for no purpose at ail.

WHEN we realize that the private families fire having so much trouble getting their one and two ton lats and the big factories and plants must be kept going, it seems alm 'st eviminal for the clubs to throw away these thousands of tons of cost each winter. Not only will the clubs aid the Government, but they will belothemselves, by this economy. There is plenty of room in every class to accommodate the golfers who want to play winter golf and no one is going to be out to any great inconvenience by locking up the

Merry Christmas to Philadelphia Golfers

TERE is a merry Christmas to goifers throughout the city. There are two thankless jobs in this golf life. One is the chairmanship of the green committee and the other is the task of running the house committee. matter how hard either chairman worlds, he comes in for a lot of critcism. Much of it is medited, but most of a 's not. The green committee chairman may make all kinds of needed changes, he may keep the course in the pink of condition for months at a time; but let him have one day when the grass is not cut, when there is no sand in the boxes, when the greens are not cut and rolled, and every but of good he has done is forgotten. Of all the thankless jobs in a country club, his is the most thankless. The same is true of the chairman of the house committee. So a fellow sufferer takes this opportunity of expressing to every other chairman of the green nittee and his helpers the wish that he and they may have a joyous Christmas time, free of complaint,

With a 'ot of golf clubs in this district worzying as to whether there will be a credit or debit side of the ledger this year, the Philmont Country Club is to be congratulated on its very fine showing. The net profit as it appears in the annual report of Ellis A. Gimbel, the opendent, was the sum of $4840, the largest in the eleven years' history of the club. Four years ago the floating indebtedness was $36,000. This year it is down to $14,000, and the club hopes to wipe it out entirely by next year. Philmont is very kind to the visitors. They are welcome there as guests of the members of the club and the members paid in green fees for them last venr the sum of $2839, the number of visitors being 1341

PHILMONT did a lot for the Red Cross Society, a net sum of $1251.78 being turned over. Trophies were dispensed with and the entire entry fees went to the Red Cross. There were 10,168 caddle engagements and the youngsters carned $8660.50 this year. as compared with $8997.85 hast year. The big months were May. June, July, September and October. The banner month was June and the poorest month was February.

Philmont May Add Another Golf Course

MENTION has been made concerning the possibility of another nine or eighteen-hole course and radical changes made to the present course. A number of the club members have purchased a tract of 137 acres adcining the present links and these have given the club an option until next September. One of the plans under discussion is to have the club buy the property and then sell a number of bungalow sites. The matter will be put up to the club members in a concrete form later. The righ championship was won by Simon Cartie, with Louis F. Dannenbaum as runner-up, and the women's title went to Mrs. Haymond Slotter, Mrs. Arthur Liveright winning the qualifying round and losing in the final match. The estaurant did a business of more team $17,000, the cafe $4300, and the etal income was in excess of $65,000. The green committee spent in excess of $10,700 and the house committee $22,500. The club has a total member-

MR. GIMBEL, who has been the only president since the club was organized, hits the nail on the head when he says: "In these trying days, when every one is giving so much of himself to the extraordinary demands of the hour, one may turn with good conscience to some needed relaxation that will strengthen him for further effort. Philmont gives this opportunity to each of us. We are better citizens, with a greater capacity for service, if we are healthy c:tizens."

Here Is a Real, Worthy Golf Suggestion

FILFRED REID, the professional at the Wilmington Country Club, is the intelligent type of the golf pro. Many a professional who plays erful golf makes a poor instructor, because he cannot tell the pupil why and wherefore of things. He plays a purely intuitive game. But not only plays the game, but he is an excellent teacher. Reld has out rather recently with a brond-new idea in gelf. He would have a de up of one and two shot holes. He says there is not a good hot hole in this or any other country. .

points out with reference to the three-shot holes that even if the ils one shot, it is possible for the player to land on the green in shots. If he misses the drive the next two shots become brassey If he drives well and misses his brassey, another brassey will ne. But in the case of the well-planned two-shot holes he is not possible. In such a condition of affairs it would not be e player, whether he missed the first drive or second shot, cen in less than two more shots. There are plenty of such
