

PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAYAL OF THE LATEST NEWS HAPPENINGS

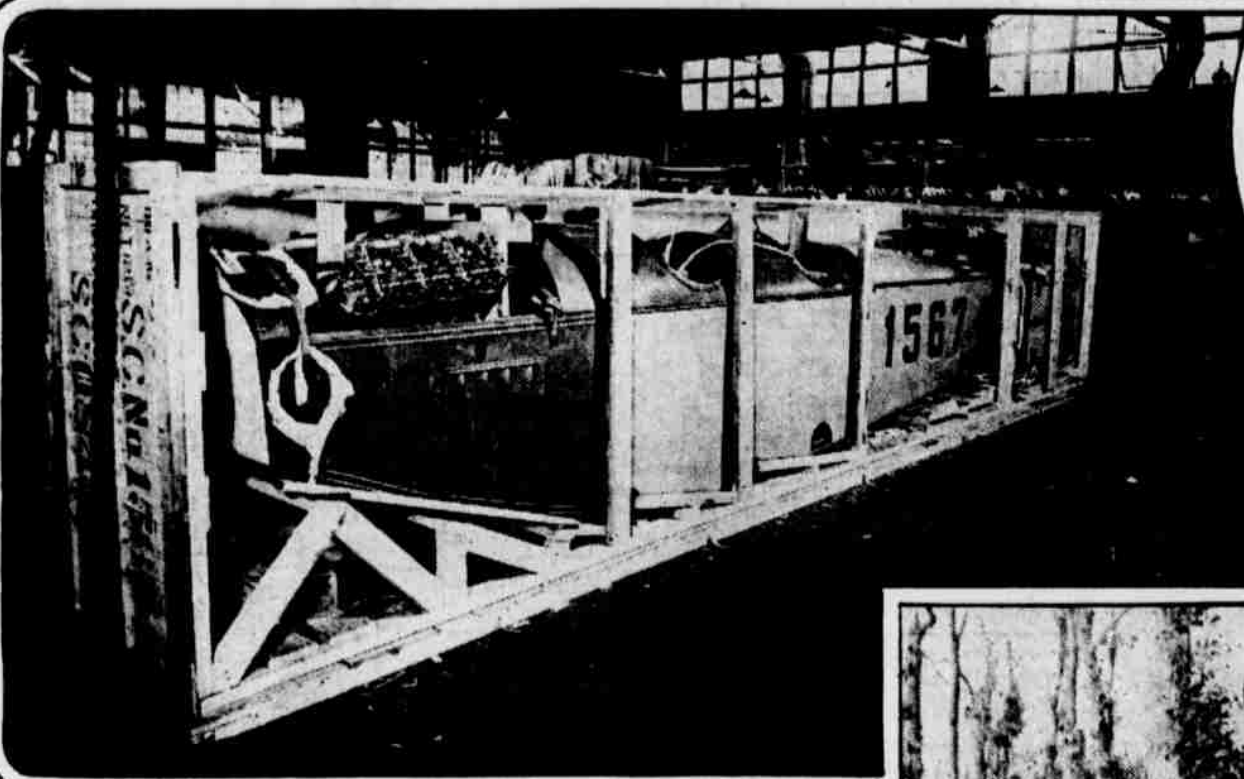

American Army Officers Learning the Ropes of the War Game at One of the British Corps Schools in France. After Completing Their Training in Bayonet Work, Hand Grenade and Bomb Throwing, the Graduate Officers in Turn Impart Their Knowledge to the Rank and File of Sammees

Official British War Photo

For Two Months Dr. J. Ignatius, Commissioner From the New Republic of Finland, Has Been Working in Washington With the Double Purpose of Obtaining Foodstuffs From America for the Relief of His Countrymen and to Achieve the Recognition of the New Republic by the United States.

Harris & Ewne

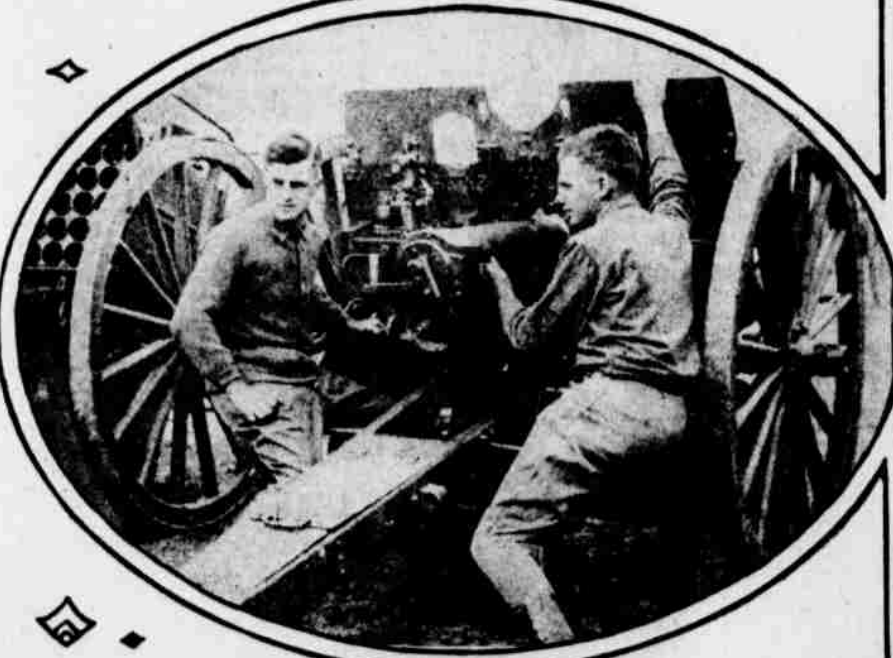

One of Uncle Sam's New Airplanes Ready for Its Journey Overseas to Take Part in America's Forthcoming Aerial Offensive Against the Germans.

Committee on Public Information

This Concrete Pillbox Represents Another German Trick When Failed to Refuel the British Artillerymen in France. It Was Erected in the Park Surrounding a Chateau, but Despite Its Clever Situation, Was Discovered and Shattered by British Gunners. In the Foreground Is the Entrance to the Pillbox.

French Pictorial Press

Stewart Young Sammees Manning a Field Gun "Somewhere in France." The Artilleryman on the Left is Corporal Frank W. Doughty, of Collingswood, N. J., Who Enlisted in Philadelphia

A MODEST REQUEST

Do you mind gettin' a bit further forrard, mum, so's I can git a good "whack at 'im?"

—Lassell's Saturday Journal.

Nothing to Give Her

Gracie, aged five, had just recovered from measles, when her small brother took the same complaint.

Upon becoming convalescent he was sitting up munching a sponge cake, while his sister sat looking on.

By various means she tried to induce him to part with a bit of the dainty, but the invalid took no notice. He ate steadily on, but just as the last bites were disappearing, Gracie could stand it no longer, and she exclaimed indignantly:

"Just look at him! He won't give me a crumb, and it was me that gave him the measles!"

—Pearson's Weekly.

A BIRD IN HAND

He (desperately)—Tell me the truth: Is it my poverty that stands between us?

She (sadly)—Yes.

He (with a ray of hope)—I admit that I am poor, so, unfortunately, is my father; but I have an aged uncle who is very rich and a bachelor. He is an invalid and cannot long survive.

She (delightedly)—How kind and thoughtful you are! Will you introduce me to him?—Pearson's Weekly.

A TARDY RECRUIT

Company Commander—(the Stand-to having been sounded)—Late again, Mr. Brown. Are you with us in this war?

—London Opinion.

If—and Why Don't You?

If you don't feel just right,
If you don't sleep at night,
If you moan and sigh,
If your throat is dry,
If you can't smoke or chew,
If your grub tastes like glue,
If your heart doesn't beat,
If you've got cold feet,
If your head's in a whirl,
Why don't you marry the girl?

—Orange Peel.

The Young Lady Across the Way

The young lady across the way says she knows her father is very careful not to do anything which would disturb present market prices, as she overheard him say he was dealing only in futures.

To Be Sure!

Pete—I bought some spring lamb last night.

Repete—Was it good?

Pete—It was so doggone hard that a knife wouldn't penetrate the gravy. But then I suppose it must be tough to die so young.

—Penther.

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

I feel I could do clever things. I never try my best I know. Perhaps it's just as well I don't. I might be disillusioned.

SCHOOL DAYS

—lives. Harry, your hired girl is makin' doughnuts, come 'long-oon her. You go in an' slip some out o' the window or when you come out, why will you give 'em some o' 'em. You kin do it, Harry, come 'long.

—You're 'bout as thick as a brick, ain't you?—

—Oh, uh—ah—well let you see how thick you're gettin' up—

WHITE ELEPHANT RUMMAGE SALE

at PENFIELD BUILDING
Juniper & Chestnut St.

Benefit of the PRESBYTERIAN ORPHANAGE.

Please SEND ARTICLES TO PENFIELD BUILDING JAN 9th or call WALNUT 4108 for information

PHILA. SCHOOL FOR CHRISTIAN WORKERS.

JAN. 10-11-12

Novel Poster Advertising the "White Elephant Sale," Which Will Be Held January 10, 11 and 12 in the Penfield Building in Aid of the Presbyterian Orphanage.

The Newest Rear Admiral in the United States Navy is Christian J. Peoples, Who Entered the Service in 1895 as a Repairman, Receiving $2 a Day.

Harris & Ewne