JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Main Line Red Cross Does Wonderful Work-Dog Show Will Be Held in Rose Gardens of Bellevue-Stratford for Benefit of Red Star Association

IRS. GEORGE W. KENDRICK, 3d. be glad to hear he has recovered from his recent illness and is convalencing at his apartment at the Weilington, Nineteenth and Walnut streets. You know, is chairman of the wool serican Red Cross. At the meeting held other day she reported that they had ned in 2000 garments in the last five seks. It seems to me that answers the tion, "Does it pay to knit?"

Mrs. Joseph F. Page is the subchairman this committee, and the girls who disbute the wool and collect articles are leanor Dougherty, Ethel Townsend, Ethel tastings, Edith Collins, Martha Oberouffer, Margaret Chrystie and Miss Ronella, of Bryn Mawr College,

Some of the members of this committee are interested in a large mass-meeting hich is to be held in the Masonic Hall, in Ardmore, on January 16, when Captain Peter Latham will speak. There will be songs by a double quartet composed of the following men: John Joyce, Howard Starers, Joseph W. Shannon, Frederick L. Bally, T. Mitchell Hastings, George Orr, Carence Gardiner and Timothy Borda, accompanied by Armitt Brown.

Mrs. T. Mitchell Hastings, of Haverford, is in charge, and under her direction all the men of base hospital unit No. have been fully equipped with woolens. and the eighty women belonging to the unit have received all their woolen garments, with the exception of helmets.

You know, the Main Line branch has just empleted its membership drive and colected 9000 new members, besides 1700 resewals. Just think of it! One of the workers told me that they averaged two members to every house from Ardmore to Villanova, Some membership that! Women certainly do know how to work!

WE HUMAN beings are funny things, aren't we? We fuss and fume, and when we hear the Metropolitan is going to give "Faust" or "Pagliacci" we say, "For goodness sake, why on earth don't they give us one of the new operas here?" And then when they give us a magnificent performance in point of real music and exaulsite scenery, such as Liszt's "St. Elizabeth" last night, because it's all beautiful and pure and high, and there's no special plot and no hectic love scenes, we don't like it. Still I do think the audience did appreciate the tableaux, but I doubt. From the general attitude of the house, which clapped and applauded through one of the most beautiful bits of orchestration, between the third and fourth tableaux, and was only stopped by the hissing of the Opera Club, if "St. Elizabeth" will be welomed here again. They can talk all they like about wanting new things, but they want the old ones they know by heart and that have regular tunes.

Some of the boxes were empty last night, but many of the regular operagoers were there. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Caner. Jr. were with the Hamilton Colkets Uytendale looking extremely well in a crimson frock. Edith Wayne Ridgway also wore an old shade of crimson velvet and tulle, which was perfectly lovely and wonderfully becoming. Mrs. George Dallas Dixon, who was in the Stotesbury box, wore a gown of bright green satin and a black paradise in her hair. Mrs. George Fales Baker wore a handsome gown of black, and Mrs. Madion Taylor, who was in the Baker's box, was in gray.

There were soldiers and naval officers marines and reserves scattered through the audience as usual, and though every single seat was not filled, it was what might be called a decidedly brilliant house.

ONE of our worthy war works is being Star. And it is a decidedly practical as well as sentimental one. The Order of the Red Star is a companion philanthropy to the Red Cross, but its helpfulness is directed to the succor of the dumb beasts which serve our armies in way. The local branch of the order is planning a dog show for Saturday afternoon and evening of this week in the Rose Garden of the Bellevue-Stratford. Proceeds will be for the benefit of a fund to purchase an ambulance for the war zone to care for battlestricken animals. Philadelphians interested in the work of the S. P. C. A. will naturally desire to aid in the good work of relieving the suffering of man's dumb servitors and friends. For we must not forget the services of the faithful horses and dogs of the war zone. The little Red Cross dog. who hunts the living among the dead and the horse who bears his rider into the midst of the smoke and shell of battle. Should we refuse to help them? I think

AND now we have more weddings on the tapis. There's Sarah Nellson, whose engagement to Lieutenant Crawford Madeira was announced a little more than a month ago. Sarah is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Neilson, of 1926 Pine street and St. Davids. Her mother was Clara Rosengarten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosengarten and a sister of Mrs. W. W. Atterbury, George, Adolph, Joe and Fritz Rosengarten. Her father is an officer in the Pennsylvania Railroad. He is the son of the late Mr. Thomas Netlson and Mrs. Neilson, who was Miss Sarah Claypoole Lewis, and for whom Sarah is named. His brothers are Dr. Tom Nellson, Billy and Fred Nellson, and his two sis ters are Miss Emma and Miss Mary Nellson. So you see Sarah is well "uncled" and "aunted."

The wedding will take place on Saturday of next week, January 19, and Jean Thomp on Thayer will be matron of honor and the only attendant. Lieutenant Edward W. Madeira will be best man, and Lieutenant Harry R. Neilson, Sarah's brother; Lieuant Frederick Drayton, Lieutenant John B. Thayer, 3d, Mr. Francis C. Grant and Mr. Louis C. Madeira, 3d, will be the ushers The wedding will take place in St. Mar; tin's Episcopal Church, at Radnor, and there will be a reception afterward at the ons' country home at Radnor. And Lieutenant Madeira and his bride will live mear the camp where he is static NANCY WYNNE.
