

CAMP MEADE HOLDS ON TO ITS AUSTRIANS

Large Number of Alien Enemies Still at Little Penn

PRESENCE IS FEARED

Plans Laid to Keep Men in Perfect Condition Before Going to Front

By a Staff Correspondent

CAMP MEADE, Md., Jan. 11.—Although the United States has been at war with Austria for several weeks...

In justice to the men, it must be said that they are excellent soldiers and enjoy the confidence of their officers and comrades.

Despite the fact that their retention in the National Army is contrary to the expressed wishes of the War Chiefs at Washington...

Long before war was declared on Austria, ranking officers in the National Army expressed the belief that Austrians should be regarded as alien enemies...

As a few officers at Camp Meade began the process of weeding out the Austrians and until today, it was generally believed that the division was free of this class.

How some of the commanders regarded the Austrians is emphasized in the following statement by a cook in the 315th Regiment.

"Bob" letters which have appeared in the Evening Public Ledger the writer related the story of an alien cook in the Philadelphia regiment.

Officers at the camp made an investigation, and upon learning that the story was true took immediate steps to oust the soldier.

As the drills progress and become more arduous many of the men exhibit weaknesses that cannot be detected by cursory examination.

Philadelphia women, according to Red Cross officials at Little Penn, can perform real service by knitting socks, sweaters, helmets and wristlets.

CAMP MEADE, Md., Jan. 10.—"Dear Jack—Can you imagine a bunch of chaps in Uncle Sam's army that are no classier than a regular caterer is carried on the rolls?"

The caterer is Joseph Alvein, who in private life was a regular cook and believe its members are right there in a hundred ways.

Another shake-up in the Liberty Division, but it is somewhat different from the others, because it is a result of this move, but as they are Philadelphia boys they are right at home.

The Liberty Division is being reorganized and the 315th Infantry has obtained several new men as a result of this move.

Next Wednesday night the social club will have a bigger party than usual, as Alvein will receive a bigger and better spread.

KEYSTONE-SOLDIERS HEADED FOR FRANCE

Activity at Hancock Indicates Departure Before Long for Front

CAMP HANCOCK, Augusta, Ga., Jan. 11.—After sixteen weeks of training the men of the Twenty-eighth Division are expecting movement of the division to France in the early spring.

While nothing is known of a movement at division headquarters, every day brings in some report of an anticipated departure of the division.

It is believed by some that the very best possible thing to do is to get the corps to its highest point would be a movement to France.

The placing of Major General Charles H. Muir in command of the division has led many of the officers to the conclusion that rapid preparation for the field is desired.

Officers say that the War Department would not allow a man of his ability to stay with an outfit which was not wanted in the field.

It has been stated that the War Department in picking division commanders set upon the strongest man at hand to undertake the task of bringing back life to the men and of restoring confidence in their organization.

The troops have been displaying a wonderful spirit during the last few weeks. The camp has been kept in the most orderly fashion.

A military funeral will be held here today when the body of Private John F. Walsh, of Company D, 191st Infantry, a resident of West Philadelphia, who died of spinal meningitis Wednesday, will be shipped to the boy's home.

While yesterday was a fine day, and the boys enjoyed the first sunny day for many weeks, the local weather forecaster has promised more snow for today.

The prediction will cause many soldiers to dig up all their available blankets for use during the storm.
