

THOSE COMMUTERS WOULD HAVE FROZEN STIFF IF THE POWERFUL KATRINKA HADN'T PUSHED UP THAT EMPTY BOX CAR FOR EVERYBODY TO WAIT IN

By FONTAINE FOX

(Copyright)

AND STILL THEY CAN'T VOTE

"How do you know he's married to her?"
"Well, he's been reading the evening paper ever since he sat down, and she seems quite busy studying other women's hats."

—London Opinion.

And Frighten the Bullets

They say that the Scotchmen at Ypres
Just laughed at the poor German snipers!
Having musical souls
They run for their holes
When the Scotch loudly shout for their papers.
—Harvard Lampoon.

Nice Place, Too

They were discussing literature and the conversation turned to English authors. "Have you read Carlyle?" inquired the literary connoisseur. "No," answered the literary parvenu, "but I've visited his Indian school." — Penn State Froth.

Is That So?

There was a swift kid at Bryn Mawr,
Who owned a big Stutz touring car;
Paid her fine with a grin
When the cop pulled her in,
And handed the Judge a cigar.
—Punch Bowl.

Old Familiar Places

Prisoner (to Jailer)—Put me in cell 38.
Jailer—What for?
Prisoner—It's the one father used to have. —Awgwan.

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

The sun shines on in spite of clouds
And never seems to mind them—
When clouds of troubles bury me
I'll smile right on behind them.

CAMOUFLAGE

—The Fables Show.

A Diagnosis

When the donkey saw the zebra
He began to switch his tail;
"Good night!" he said with frightful mien,
"There's a horse that's been in jail." —Awgwan.

Fresh?

Guest—When was this chicken killed?
Waiter—We don't furnish dates with chicken, sir; just bread and butter. —Awgwan.

The Young Lady Across the Way

The young lady across the way says the American people have never learned to like mutton and it certainly seems like a great waste to kill the sheep just for their wool.

She May Have Had an Edge On

Jack—Do you know that Kitty is an awfully sharp girl?
Percy—Yes, she cut me on the street the other day. —Widow.

Two of a Pair

"This pianist has wonderful power; he can make you feel hot or cold, happy or morose, at will."
"That's nothing new. So can our janitor." —Awgwan.

SCHOOL DAYS

The way of a man with a maid

PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAYAL OF THE LATEST NEWS HAPPENINGS

Speaking of the diversion of coal from Philadelphia, here is a mighty coal train on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad which is rapidly leaving the City of Brotherly Love (an unwilling sacrifice) in the rear. Four huge locomotives are needed to furnish motive power for the train, which would have been a welcome visitor had it halted in Philadelphia.

Miss Helen M. Rowland, president of the Philadelphia Branch of the American Red Star Relief, and Mrs. A. Delmont, holding Joyce's Chum, a prize-winning Boston terrier, at the seventh annual specialty show at the Hotel Bingham.

A refreshing cup of coffee for one of the brave firemen who battled with yesterday's half-million-dollar fire in Camden.

Major General Spuler and Colonel Fessenden, U. S. A., holding the battle flag of the Zepherus 1-19, brought down by the French. Harris & Ewing.

To John B. Densmore, of Montana, solicitor for the Department of Labor, has been detailed the task of mobilizing 3,000,000 workers for shipbuilding and other war industries. Harris & Ewing.

Mrs. John Barrett displaying Bantam King, Jr., and Cupid's Colleen at the seventh annual specialty show for the benefit of the American Red Star Relief at the Hotel Bingham.